Different Types of History Bharati Ray, 2009

Religious Transformation in South Asia Christopher Harding, 2008-09-18 In the last decades of the nineteenth century urgent and unprecedented demands among oppressed peoples in colonial India drove what came to be called mass conversion movements towards a range of Christian denominations launching a revolution in South Asia's two thousand year Christian history For all the scale drama and lasting controversy of a movement that approached half a million members in Punjab alone by the end of the 1930s much actually depended upon a varied range of tempestuous local relationships between converts and mission personnel based upon uncertain and constantly evolving terms Making extensive use of Protestant Evangelical and newly uncovered Catholic mission sources Religious Transformation in South Asia explores those relationships to reveal what lay behind the great diversity of social and religious aspirations of converts and mission personnel In this highly accessible study Christopher Harding overturns the one dimensional Christian missions of popular imagination by analysing the way that social class theological training culture motivation and personality produced an extraordinary range of presentations of Christianity in late colonial Punjab Punjabi converts themselves were animated by a similarly broad spectrum of expectations and pressures communicated through informal social networks and representing a brand of subaltern consciousness and resistance rarely considered by mainstream Indian historiography These internal dynamics produced a first generation of rural Punjabi Christianity that was locally variable highly fluid and conflict ridden testament to the ways in which the meanings of conversion were contested by all sides in an encounter with far reaching implications for the future of Christianity and religious identity in India and Pakistan Indigenous Peoples and Ethnic Minorities of Pakistan Shaheen Sardar Ali, Javaid Rehman, 2013-02-01 Examines the issues facing indigenous peoples and ethnic minorities including their role in the nation's constitutional and legal developments and makes a number of recommendations which would satisfy their demands without compromising the sovereignty of the state

The Making of Medieval Panjab Surinder Singh, 2019-09-30 This book seeks to reconstruct the past of undivided Panjab during five medieval centuries. It opens with a narrative of the efforts of Turkish warlords to achieve control in the face of tribal resistance, internal dissensions, and external invasions. It examines the linkages of the ruling class with Zamindars and Sufis, paving the way for canal irrigation and agrarian expansion, thus strengthening the roots of the state in the region. While focusing on the post-Timur phase, it tries to make sense of the new ways of acquiring political power. This work uncovers the perpetual attempts of Zamindars to achieve local dominance, particularly in the context of declining presence of the state in the countryside. In this ambitious enterprise, they resorted to the support of their clans, adherence to hallowed customs, and recurrent use of violence, all applied through a system of collective and participatory decision making. The volume traces the growth of Sufi lineages, built on training disciples, writing books, composing poetry, and claiming miraculous powers. Besides delving into the relations of the Sufis with the state and different sections of the society, it offers an account of the rituals at a prominent shrine. Paying equal attention to the southeastern region, it deals with engagement of the Sabiris among other exemplars with the Islamic spirituality. Inclusive in approach and lucid in expression, the work relies on a wide range of evidence from Persian chronicles, Sufi literature, and folklore, some of which have been used for the first time. Please note: Taylor & Francis does not sell or distribute the Hardback in India, Pakistan, Nepal, Bhutan, Bangladesh, and Sri Lanka.

Beyond Punjab Himadri Banerjee, 2023-01-30 This book focuses on Sikh communities in east and northeast India. It studies settlements in Bihar, Odisha, West Bengal, Assam, Meghalaya, and Manipur to understand the Indian Sikhs through the lens of their dispersal to the plains and hills far from Punjab. Drawing on robust historical and ethnographic sources such as official documents, media accounts, memoirs, and reports produced by local Sikh institutions, the author studies the social composition of the immigrants and surveys the extent of their success in retaining their community identity and recreating their memories of home at their new locations. He uses a nuanced notion of the internal diaspora to look at the complex relationships between home, host, and community. As an important addition to the study of Sikhism, this book fills a significant gap and widens the frontiers of Sikh studies. It will be indispensable for students and researchers of sociology and social anthropology, history, migration, and diaspora studies, religion, especially Sikh studies, cultural studies, as well as the Sikh diaspora worldwide.

The Panjab Past and Present, 1992 Early Nineteenth-Century Panjab J. S. Grewal, Indu Banga, 2015-12-22 The Chiragh-i Panjab, written by Ganesh Das Wadera immediately after the annexation of the Lahore kingdom by the British in 1849, is a classic Persian text.
