Social Relations In A Philippine Market Self Interest And Subjectivity:

Social Relations in a Philippine Market William G. Davis, 1973-01-01 Globalization from Below Gordon Mathews, Gustavo Lins Ribeiro, Carlos Alba Vega, 2012-08-21 This book explores globalization as actually experienced by most of the world's people buying goods from street vendors brought by traders moving past borders and across continents under the radar of the law. The dimensions and practices of globalization from below are depicted and analyzed in detail by a team of international scholars. Topics covered include the New Silk Road, African traders in China, street hawking in Calcutta and pirate CDs in Mexico. The chapters provide intimate portrayals of routes, markets and people in locations across the globe and explore theories that can help make sense of these complex and fascinating case studies. Students of globalization, economic anthropology and developing world economics will find the book invaluable.

Economies and the Transformation of Landscape Lisa Cliggett, Christopher A. Pool, 2008 Economies and the Transformation of Landscape explores both the general and specific ways in which local economic ventures around the world such as mining, ranching and farming affect the environment.

Critical Craft Clare M. Wilkinson-Weber, Alicia Ory DeNicola, 2020-05-26 From Oaxacan wood carvings to dessert kitchens in provincial France, Critical Craft presents thirteen ethnographies which examine what defines and makes craft in a wide variety of practices from around the world. Challenging the conventional understanding of craft as a survival, a revival or something that resists capitalism, the book turns instead to the designers, DIY enthusiasts, traditional artisans and technical programmers who consider their labor to be craft in order to comprehend how they make sense of it. The authors' ethnographic studies focus on the individuals and communities who claim a practice as their own, bypassing the question of craft survival to ask how and why activities termed craft are mobilized and reproduced. Moving beyond regional studies of heritage artisanship, the authors suggest that ideas of craft are by definition part of a larger cosmopolitan dialogue of power and identity. By paying careful attention to these sometimes conflicting voices, this collection shows that there is great flexibility in terms of which activities are labelled craft. In fact, there are many related ideas of craft and these shape distinct engagements with materials, people and the economy. Case studies from countries including Mexico, Nigeria, India, Taiwan, the Philippines and France draw together evidence based on linguistics, microsociology and participant observation to explore the shifting terrain on which those engaged in craft are operating. What emerges is a fascinating picture which shows how claims about craft are an integral part of contemporary global change.

American Imperial Pastoral Rebecca Tinio McKenna, 2017-01-20 In 1904, renowned architect Daniel Burnham, the Progressive Era urban planner who famously made the Little Plans set off for the Philippines, the new US colonial acquisition. Charged with designing environments for the occupation government, Burnham set out to convey the ambitions and the dominance of the regime, drawing on neo-classical formalism for the Pacific colony. The spaces he created, most notably in the summer capital of Baguio, gave physical form to American rule and its contradictions. In American Imperial Pastoral, Rebecca Tinio McKenna examines the design construction and use of Baguio making visible the physical shape labor and sustaining practices of the US s new empire especially the dispossessions that underwrote market expansion In the process she demonstrates how colonialists conducted market making through state building and vice versa Where much has been made of the racial dynamics of US colonialism in the region McKenna emphasizes capitalist practices and design ideals giving us a fresh and nuanced understanding of the American occupation of the Philippines Market Frictions Kirsten W. Endres,2019-06-06 Based on ethnographic research conducted over several years Market Frictions examines the tensions and frictions that emerge from the interaction of global market forces urban planning policies and small scale trading activities in the Vietnamese border city of L o Cai Here it is revealed how small scale traders and market vendors experience the marketplace reflect upon their trading activities and negotiate current state policies and regulations It shows how traditional Vietnamese marketplaces have continually been reshaped and adapted to meet the changing political economic circumstances and civilizational ideals of the time anthropological and historical studies Gendered Commodity Chains Wilma A. Dunaway, 2013-12-18 Gendered Commodity Chains is the first book to consider the fundamental role of gender in global commodity chains. It challenges long held assumptions of global economic systems by identifying the crucial role social reproduction plays in production and by declaring the household as an important site of production. In affirming the importance of women's work in global production, this cutting edge volume fills an important gender gap in the field of global commodity and value chain analysis. With thirteen chapters by an international group of scholars from sociology, anthropology, economics, women's studies, and geography, this volume begins with an eye opening feminist critique of existing commodity chain literature. Throughout its remaining five parts, Gendered Commodity Chains addresses ways women's work can be integrated into commodity chain research, the forms women's labor takes, threats to social reproduction, the impact of indigenous and peasant households on commodity chains, the rapidly expanding arenas of global carework and sex trafficking, and finally opportunities for worker resistance. This broadly interdisciplinary volume provides conceptual and methodological guides for academics, graduate students, researchers, and activists interested in the gendered nature of commodity chains.

East Asian Visions Indermit Singh Gill, Yukon Huang, Homi J. Kharas, 2007 Despite the diversity in income levels, languages, culture, resource endowments, and political systems, the countries of East Asia are more integrated now than they have ever been. Goods, money, and ideas are being traded across the region. East Asia is redefining itself from a collection of disparate nations that looked mainly to markets in the west to a more self-reliant, innovative, and networked region. Countries in this region are strengthening ties with each other and seeking more strategic partnerships with the rest of the world. East Asian Visions is a collection of essays that convey firsthand how some of the most influential thinkers in East Asia view these challenges. The writers are eminent policy makers, statesmen, and scholars. They write about how competition with the west has bred success, how crises in the region have provoked introspection, and how the rise of China is catalyzing change.

Petty Capitalists and Globalization Alan Smart, Josephine Smart, 2005-03-10 Examines how small firms like large ones are mobilizing to compete in a global economy.

Women Traders in Cross-Cultural Perspective Linda J. Seligmann, 2002-03-01 This innovative volume studies women as economic, political, and cultural mediators of space, gender, value, and language in informal markets. Drawing on diverse methodologies, multisited fieldwork, linguistic analysis, and archival research, the contributors demonstrate how women move between and knit together household and marketplace activities. This knitting together pivots on how household practices and economies are translated and transferred to the market, as well as how market practices and economic principles become integral to the nature and construction of the household. Exploring the cultural identities and economic practices of women traders in ten diverse locales: Bolivia, Ghana, Hungary, India, Indonesia, Mexico, Morocco, Nicaragua, Peru, and the Philippines, the authors pay special attention to the effects of global forces, national economic policies, and nongovernmental organizations on women's participation in the market and the domestic sector. The authors also consider the impact that women's economic and political activities in social movements public protests and more hidden kinds of subversive behavior have on state policy on the attitudes of different sectors of society toward female traders and on the dynamics of the market itself A final theme focuses on the cultural dimension of mediation Many women traders straddle cultural spheres and move back and forth between them Does this affect their participation in the market and their identities How do ties of ethnicity or acts of reciprocity affect the nature of commodity exchanges Do they create exchanges that are neither purely commodified nor wholly without calculation Or is it more often the case that ethnic commonalities and reciprocity merely mask the commodification of social and economic exchanges Does this straddling lead to the emergence of new kinds of hybrid identities and practices In considering these questions the authors specify the ways in which consumers contribute to identity formation among market women

Traders and Tinkers Maitrayee Deka, 2023-08-08 The term tinker calls to mind nomadic medieval vendors who operate on the fringe of formal society Excluded from elite circles and characterized by an ability to leverage minimal resources these tradesmen live and die by their ability to adapt their stores to the popular tastes of the day In Delhi in the 21st century an extensive network of informal marketplaces or bazaars has evolved over the course of the city's history across colonial and postcolonial regimes Their resilience as an economic system is the subject of this book Today instead of mending and selling fabrics and pots these street vendors are primarily associated with electronic products computers cell phones motherboards and video games This book offers a deep ethnography of three Delhi bazaars and a cast of tinkers traders magicians street performers and hackers who work there It is an exploration and recognition of the role of bazaars and tinkers in the modern global economy driving globalization from below In Delhi and across the world these street markets work to create a new information society as the global popular classes aspire to elite consumer goods they cannot afford except in counterfeit
