Social Stylistics Syntactic Variations In British Newspapers:

Social Stylistics Andreas H. Jucker, 2012-01-02 The future of English linguistics as envisaged by the editors of Topics in English Linguistics lies in empirical studies which integrate work in English linguistics into general and theoretical linguistics on the one hand and comparative linguistics on the other The TiEL series features volumes that present interesting new data and analyses and above all fresh approaches that contribute to the overall aim of the series which is to further outstanding research in English linguistics

Syntactic Variation and Genre Heidrun Dorgeloh, Anja Wanner, 2010-12-20 This volume explores the interplay of syntactic variation and genre How do genres emerge and what is the role of syntax in constituting them Why do certain constructions appear in certain types of text The book takes the concept of genre as a reference point for the description and analysis of morpho syntactic variation and change It includes both overviews of theoretical approaches to the concept of genre and text type in linguistics and studies of specific syntactic phenomena in English German and selected Romance languages Contributions to the volume make use of insights from attempts for text classification and rhetorical views on genre and reach from quantitative corpus based methodology to qualitative text based analyses The types of texts investigated cover spoken highly interactive and written forms of communication including selected genres of computer mediated communication Corpus data come from both synchronic and diachronic linguistic corpora such as LOB Brown FLOB Frown ARCHER and ICE Jamaica This spectrum both in approaches and data is meant to provide a theoretical foundation as well as a realistic view of the inherent complexity of form function relationships in syntax At the same time genre is treated as a category relevant beyond discourse studies consisting of forms and conventions at all levels of linguistic analysis including syntax The book is therefore of interest to linguists and graduate students in the area of syntax discourse analysis and pragmatics as well as to sociolinguists and corpus linguists working on register variation

English Media Texts □ Past and Present Friedrich Ungerer, 2000-12-04 This book is among the first to combine a historical view of media texts with a critical look at their textual diversity today The thirteen chapters cover corpora of early news papers and pamphlets present day news stories and commentaries TV talk shows and commercials as well as internet presentations The studies focus on the wide range of text types in 18th century newspapers and the interpersonal strategies of pamphlets they pursue the development of the persuasive potential of headlines and advertisements right down to the sophisticated postmodernist and multilingual examples of today Other topics are the definition and structure of news stories and commentaries the interpersonal and multi modal aspects of talkshows and more radically the questioning of the journalist s role in the age of the internet Generally the stress is on the attention getting side of media texts rather than on the manipulative qualities investigated by critical discourse analysis

A Comparison of the Syntax of Football Match Reports in British Newspapers Florian Schweitzer, 2013-11-12 Diploma Thesis from the year 2012 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics grade 2 Justus Liebig University Giessen course

English Language and Literature Studies language English abstract Obviously everything that happens to be printed in a newspaper or a magazine or written by a journalist is not going to be linguistically homogeneous nor is there any reason for expecting it to be so Crystal Davy 1969 173 This statement by the famous British linguist David Crystal opens a very interesting discussion on the language of print media If we assume that language as a whole is a vivid and fluid construct that always changes and will never be fixed it is obvious that nothing which has been printed is linguistically homogeneous However there are rules and guidelines for the use of language such as grammar and syntax for example As language and its use can be investigated the present study's aim is to investigate the syntax of newspaper articles that deal with football match reports and to establish similarities and differences between different kinds of newspapers namely broadsheets and tabloids Nowadays print media can no longer be imagined without sport reporting and particularly the reportage of football matches Football has become a mainstream pastime and enjoys great popularity It takes up a considerable part of British newspapers depending on the targeted readership of the newspaper in question Even though the sport sections vary in size they can be found in every single issue and in some newspapers take up more space than topics with supposedly more impact on people's lives such as politics or economics Although the newspapers report on the same events there are notable differences in the manner in which they report on them If we consider sport reporting it becomes obvious that the language is always tailored to the audience the newspaper wants to reach Considering the great variety of newspapers and their differences with regard to focuses and targeted readerships it can be assumed that there are differences between up market broadsheet and down market tabloid newspapers concerning the style of writing the research quality or the credibility Above all in the sport section the differences between broadsheet and tabloid reporting become particularly apparent Even at first glance it is obvious that differences are to be found not only do the front page designs of the sport sections vary greatly but it may also be assumed that there are differences concerning the degree of complexity of expression within the articles themselves

A New Bibliography of Writings on Varieties of English, 1984–1992/93 Beat Glauser, Edgar W. Schneider, Manfred Görlach, 1993-12-02 The continuing expansion of research in dialectology sociolinguistics and English as a world language has made the field increasingly difficult to survey This bibliography is intended to provide a comprehensive overview of the relevant publications of the past few years Like its predecessor it will prove an indispensable reference book The collection is in four parts dealing respectively with general studies Britain and Ireland the United States and Canada and the rest of the world There is a joint index in which the 2800 entries are classified according to specific areas ethnic groups and major linguistic categories thus making the bibliography easy to use with the greatest profit The present bibliography complements the one compiled by W Viereck E W Schneider and M Görlach which covered the period from 1965 to 1983 and was published in the same series in 1984

Photojournalism: A Social Semiotic Approach H. Caple, 2013-10-25 This book explores the role of photographs in newspapers and online news analyzing how meanings are made in images and exploring text image relations illustrated with authentic news stories from both print and online news outlets

Contemporary Indian English Andreas Sedlatschek, 2009-04-15 Contemporary Indian English Variation and Change offers the first comprehensive description of Indian English and its emerging regional standard in a corpus linguistic framework Drawing on a wealth of authentic spoken and written data from India including the Kolhapur Corpus and the International Corpus of English this book explores the dynamics of variation and change in the vocabulary and grammar of contemporary Indian English The aims are to document the extent of lexical and grammatical nativization at the beginning of the twenty first century and compare contemporary Indian English to other varieties around the world for example British and American English The results are relevant to sociolinguists variationists and lexicologists seeking to investigate ongoing language change in emerging standard varieties of English With its strong empirical foundation and its comparative outlook the book is also of interest to anyone looking for an introduction to the corpus based description of varieties of English

Images of the Lisbon Treaty Debate in the British Press Chiara Nasti, 2012-11-30 In this book Chiara Nasti analyses the distribution of metaphor scenarios and patterns in the public discourse on the European Lisbon Treaty Her study on a specialized corpus reveals differences and or similarities in the argumentation and attitudes of the main UK broadsheet and tabloid newspapers She summarizes the main theories and identification procedures for metaphor investigation commenting on some developments in the field of metaphor studies Following Charteris Black's Critical Metaphor Analysis she starts from the premise that metaphors need to be explored in the context where they occur Her analysis in fact reveals that context investigation is useful to better understand the complexity of metaphors their pragmatic and cognitive function and their role in the political debate Moreover the analysis reveals as well that metaphors are useful tools for identifying stereotyped roles of the participants in the ratification process and they are also functional used to explore both political and journalistic attitudes towards the debate on the Lisbon Treaty Her book addresses readers from various academic backgrounds who are interested in linguistics cognitive linguistics and in particular the application of corpus linguistics to metaphor investigation It will also be of interest to academic students dealing with the debate over the Lisbon Treaty

The Shaping of the News Flavia Cavaliere, 2012 Agency in the British Press Maria Cristina Nisco, 2016-01-14 This book examines the ways in which the 2011 UK riots were reported by the British press by analysing the linguistic construal of the main participants involved in the protests and their agency Starting from the assumption that newspapers do not just mirror reality but rather construct it in discourse through a series of linguistic stylistic and editorial choices great attention is paid to how the events were portrayed according to different political social and cultural stances Since the linguistic labels employed by the newspapers to identify and connote the protagonists of the riots are indicative of their ideological positions such critical attention to the specialised language of the press proves to be extremely noteworthy Indeed the urban unrest that periodically occurs in the UK as much as within the wider European context signals governments failure to deal with persisting social and economic problems In this regard investigating the extent to which the media manage or fail to account for the issues that are at the heart of such violent protests while shaping public opinions represents an interesting and rewarding endeavour A corpus of about 1 700 articles collected from the six British newspapers with the highest circulation rates in August 2011 Daily Mail Daily Mirror The Sun The Guardian The Telegraph and The Times is therefore analysed with a corpus based discourse analysis approach combining qualitative and quantitative techniques The linguistic depictions of the main social actors Mark Duggan the rioters and the police reveal the ideological burden affecting power relations between lite or minority groups within society

Corpus Based Studies in English Magnus Ljung, 2023-11-27 Corpus based Studies in English contains selected papers from the seventeenth International Conference on English Language Research on Computerized Corpora ICAME 17 The topics include parsing and annotation of corpora discourse studies lexicography translation studies parallel corpora language variation and change national varieties methodology and English language teaching The papers on parsing and annotation include discussions of the treatment of irregular forms semantic pragmatic labels in air traffic control a comparison of tagging systems and a presentation of T tag lexicon construction The papers on discourse and lexicography include a study of like as a discourse marker thesaural relations and the lexicalisation of NPs In translation studies one paper discusses explicitness as a universal feature of translation and the paper on parallel corpora contrasts English and Norwegian Many papers deal with variation and change here we find a discussions of dialogue vs non dialogue in modern English fiction and an account of verbal disputes in adolescent English the historical studies deal with e g text type evolution multi verb words normalization in Middle English prose and modalities in Early Modern English The methodology papers discuss the use in corpus analysis of inferential statistics probabilistic approaches to anaphora resolution and multi method approaches to data The ELT paper compares the use of the progressive in native and non native compositions

Change in Contemporary English Geoffrey N. Leech, 2009-10-22 Based on the systematic analysis of large amounts of computer readable text this book shows how the English language has been changing in the recent past and discusses the linguistic and social factors that are contributing to this process Constructing Crime C. Gregoriou, 2012-02-29 Crime and criminals are a pervasive theme in all areas of our culture including media journalism film and literature This book explores how crime is constructed and culturally represented through a range of areas including Spanish English Language and Literature Music Criminology Gender Law Cultural and Criminal Justice Studies Framing China Ariane Knüsel, 2016-04-15 Framing China sheds new light on Western relations with and perceptions of China in the first half of the twentieth century In this ground breaking book Ariane Knüsel examines how China was portrayed in political debates and the media in Britain the USA and Switzerland between 1900 and 1950 By focusing on the political economic cultural and social context that led to the construction of the particular images of China in each country the author demonstrates that national interests anxieties and issues influenced the way China was framed and resulted in different portrayals of China in each country The author's meticulous analysis of a vast amount of newspaper and magazine articles commentaries editorials cartoons and newsreels that have previously not been studied before also focuses on the transnational circulation of images of China While previous publications have dealt with the occurrence of the Yellow Peril and Red Menace in particular countries Framing China reveals that these images were interpreted differently in every nation because they both reflected and contributed to the discursive construction of nationhood in each country and were influenced by domestic issues cultural values pre-existing stereotypes pressure groups and geopolitical aspirations The Routledge Handbook of Corpus Linguistics Anne O'Keeffe, Michael McCarthy, 2010-04-05 Provides an overview of a dynamic and rapidly growing area with a widely applied methodology This handbook covers the historical development of the field and its growing influence and application in other areas It is suitable for advanced undergraduates and postgraduates Pragmatics of Tense and Time in News Jan Chovanec, 2014-11-15 This book provides the first comprehensive account of temporal deixis in English printed and online news texts Linking the characteristic usage of tenses with the projection of deictic centres it notes how conventional tenses particularly in headlines are affected by heteroglossia arising from various accessed voices The resulting tense shifts are interpreted pragmatically as a conventional reader oriented strategy that creates the impression of temporal co-presence It is argued that since different tense choices systematically correlate with the three main textual segments of news texts the function of tense needs to be viewed in a close connection with its local context Traditional news texts are also contrasted with online news particularly as far as the effect of hypertextuality on the coding of time is concerned A two-level structural framework for the analysis of online news is proposed in order to account for their increased textual complexity The book will be of interest to a wide range of scholars and students working in the fields of media pragmatics discourse analysis and stylistics One Language, Two Grammars? Günter Rohdenburg, Julia Schlüter, 2009-01-22 This volume focuses on British American differences in the structure of words and sentences The first full length treatment of the topic it will be of interest to scholars working within the fields of English historical linguistics language variation and change and dialectology Syntactic Change in Late Modern English Erik Smitterberg, 2021-11-25 This book provides a fresh perspective on language change in Late Modern English and is illustrated with corpus linguistic case studies Spontaneous Spoken Language Jim Miller, Regina Weinert, 1998-03-26 Jim Miller and Regina Weinert investigate syntactic structure and the organization of discourse in spontaneous spoken language Using data from English German and Russian they develop a systematic analysis of spoken English and highlight properties that hold across languages The authors argue that the differences in syntax and the construction of discourse between spontaneous speech and written language bear on various areas of linguistic theory apart from having obvious implications for syntactic analysis In particular they bear on typology Chomskyan theories of first language acquisition and the perennial problem of language in education In current typological practice written and spontaneous spoken texts are often compared the authors show convincingly that typological research should compare like with like The consequences for Chomskyan and indeed all theories of first language acquisition flow from the central fact that children acquire spoken language but learn written language
