Gutierrez, 2002 Since the end of communism in Central Europe the former Soviet satellite states have sought closer relations with the West An immediate goal was membership in NATO To meet the conditions of membership the former Warsaw Pact members had to make significant reforms within their defense establishments that would meet NATO s interoperability requirements Despite the incentive of potential NATO membership the development and implementation of such reforms has been slow The objective of this study is to answer the research question Why has defense reform proven so elusive in an environment where key actors agree on the desirability necessity and the benefits of its formulation and implementation

Business Practice in Socialist Hungary, Volume 2 Philip Scranton, 2023-05-09 This book aims to reconstruct the activities of enterprises and individuals over two decades in one developing country Hungary within and across four politico economic domains agriculture infrastructure construction commerce and manufacturing from the initial Stalinist obsession with heavy industry through later reforms paying greater attention to profitable farming and the provision of abundant consumer goods It provides hundreds of grounded granular stories for reflection as reported by actors and direct observers ranging from innovation and improvisation to obstruction failure and fraud Further it offers an otherwise unobtainable close encounter with another world familiar in some respects while amazingly peculiar in others The social history of enterprise and work in postwar Central European nations building socialism has long been underdeveloped Through extensive macro level research on planning and policy in Hungary Poland Czechoslovakia and other Bloc countries a grand narrative has been framed reconstruction and breakneck industrialization under Soviet tutelage then eventual mismanagement stagnation and crisis leading to collapse This book seeks to explore what socialism actually looked like to those sustaining or enduring it as they faced forward into an unknowable future to assess how and where it did or didn't work and to recount how ordinary people responded to its opportunities and constraints This study will appeal to readers interested in a understanding how businesses worked day to day in a planned economy how enterprise practices and technological strategies shifted during the first postwar generation how novice managers and technicians emerged during rapid industrialization how peasants learned to farm cooperatively how organizations improvised and adapted how political purity and practical expertise contended for control and how the controversies and convulsions of the postwar decades shaped a deeply flawed project to build socialism

In Pursuit of Liberalism Rachel A. Epstein, 2008-09-29 Though the fall of the Soviet Union opened the way for states in central and eastern Europe to join the world of market oriented Western democracies the expected transitions have not been as easy common or smooth as sometimes perceived Rachel A Epstein investigates how liberal ideas and practices are embedded in transitioning societies and finds that success or failure depends largely on creating a social context in which incentives held out by international institutions are viewed as symbols of an emerging Western identity in the affected country Epstein first explains how a liberal worldview and institutions like the European Union World Bank the International Monetary Fund and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization go hand in hand and why Western nations assume that a broad and incremental program of incentives to join will encourage formerly authoritarian states to reform their political and economic systems Using Hungary Poland Romania and the Ukraine as case studies she demonstrates the limits of conditionality in the face of national social perceptions and elucidates the three key points around which a consensus within the state must emerge before international institutions can expect liberalization domestic officials must be uncertain about how changing policies will affect their interests the status of international and domestic institutions must not be in jeopardy and the proposed policies must seem credible In making her case Epstein cleverly bridges the gap between the rationalist and constructivist schools of thought Offering new data on and fresh interpretations of reforming central bank policies privatizing banks with foreign capital democratizing civil military relations and denationalizing defense policy In Pursuit of Liberalism
