Computer-aided Ear-training Susanna Király, 2016-07-14 My doctoral thesis has involved two related tasks The first was to analyse Zoltán Kodály's philosophy of music education and on this basis to develop a computer assisted instruction method CAI for teaching music theory and self guided ear training The second task was to experiment with the effectiveness of this method and compare it with traditional approaches to teaching Many students find music theory and ear training difficult During the 1990s in connection with my licentiate thesis Self guided in the Computer Classroom 2000 I initiated this research project and developed a CAI method for teaching music theory and self guided I wanted to see just how useful Kodály's approach could be in computer aided teaching and learning The results show that the Kodály approach can be successfully applied to the development of a computer aided self guided programme and the Kodály system is applicable to new learning environments and teaching practices In music education CAI is an area with great potential for development It offers multiple learning options and can enhance students motivation to study music theory and ear training some of the learning outcomes were even better than with the traditional ways of learning The results also show however that the teacher pupil interaction is essential in a computer aided learning programme
