Textiles in Ancient Mediterranean Iconography Susanna Harris, Cecilie Brøns, Marta Zuchowska, 2022-02-03 This volume provides an ambitious synopsis of the complex colourful world of textiles in ancient Mediterranean iconography A wealth of information on ancient textiles is available from depictions such as sculpture vase painting figurines reliefs and mosaics Commonly represented in clothing textiles are also present in furnishings and through the processes of textile production The challenge for anyone analysing ancient iconography is determining how we interpret what we see As preserved textiles rarely survive in comparable forms we must consider the extent to which representations of textiles reflect reality and critically evaluate the sources Images are not simple replicas or photographs of reality Instead iconography draws on select elements from the surrounding world that were recognisable to the ancient audience and reveal the perceptions ideologies and ideas of the society in which they were produced Through examining the durable evidence this anthology reveals the ephemeral world of textiles and their integral role in the daily life cult and economy of the ancient Mediterranean

The Archaeology of Jordan and Beyond Lawrence E. Stager, Joseph A. Greene, Michael D. Coogan, 2018-07-17 James A Sauer was for many years the Director of the American Center of Oriental Research in Amman Jordan leading it to the preeminent place it now occupies as a research institution dedicated to the archaeology and history of Transjordan This volume honors him with more than 50 contributions from colleagues and friends With this volume the Harvard Semitic Museum inaugurates a new series entitled Studies in the Archaeology and History of the Levant Commemorating the Dead Laurie Brink, Deborah Green, 2008-12-10 The distinctions and similarities among Roman Jewish and Christian burials can provide evidence of social networks family life and perhaps religious sensibilities Is the Roman development from columbaria to catacombs the result of evolving religious identities or simply a matter of a change in burial fashions Do the material remains from Jewish burials evidence an adherence to ancient customs or the adaptation of rituals from surrounding cultures What Greco Roman funerary images were taken over and baptized as Christian ones The answers to these and other questions require that the material culture be viewed whenever possible in situ through multiple disciplinary lenses and in light of ancient texts Roman historians John Bodel Richard Saller Andrew Wallace Hadrill archaeologists Susan Stevens Amy Hirschfeld scholars of rabbinic period Judaism Deborah Green Christian history Robin M Jensen and the New Testament David Balch Laurie Brink O P Margaret M Mitchell Carolyn Osiek R S C J engaged in a research trip to Rome and Tunisia to investigate imperial period burials first hand Commemorating the Dead is the result of a three year scholarly conversation on their findings Sols de l'Afrique romaine Michèle Blanchard-Lemée, Mongi Ennaifer, Hédi Slim, L. Slim, 1995 Villa of the Birds Wojciech Kolataj, Grzegorz Majcherek, Ewa Parandowska, 2007-11-01 This fascinating book describes the excavation and preservation of three early Roman villas in Egypt s ancient port city of Alexandria Chronicling the work of the Polish Archaeological Mission in Alexandria Villa of the Birds is an engaging and informative account of how these ancient dwellings were unearthed and how the famous mosaic floors were brought to light two thousand years after they were laid. With the expert guidance of the archaeologists responsible for the excavation, the reader is led through layers of clues reaching ten meters below today's street level and to an in-depth appreciation of this extraordinary site's rich history. Drawing directly on their work with the Polish Archeological Mission, the authors describe in detail the excavation of the housing areas as well as the baths, the gymnasia, and the theater that comprise the villa complex. Villa of the Birds reconstructs not only the villas themselves with their magnificent mosaics but also the history of how they were built and used and ultimately how they were destroyed by fire. The book is richly illustrated with detailed floor plans as well as spectacular color photographs of the mosaics themselves. American Research Center in Egypt Conservation Series 3

Roman Domestic Art and Early House Churches David L. Balch, 2008 Pompeii, Herculaneum, and Rome have yielded hundreds of wall paintings from domestic buildings. Greek myths and tragedies, especially by Euripides, were visually represented. Balch presents an interdisciplinary study inquiring what earliest Jews and Christians in such houses might have been seeing as they read and interpreted scripture and performed core rituals, especially the Eucharist. This recent study of Roman domestic architecture suggests new perspectives on the social history of early Christianity. Publisher

Decolonising the Mediterranean Gabriele Proglia, 2017-03-07 Decolonising the Mediterranean means first and foremost investigating how the legacy of colonial rule over bodies and land has been used by other entities and powers to impose new forms of hegemony after the fall of empires and European powers. It means denouncing and dissecting the tools employed in the production of new geometries of power in the global Mediterranean as well as in the farthest, most recondite corners of the Mediterranean World. Decolonising the Mediterranean is an epistemological practice of border dismantling and scrutiny of the ways in which powers overlap and intertwine. The multiplication of the border is investigated in this volume from an in-between position, namely a specific positionality of subjectivities in order to connect the global and local and address Mediterranean issues with a transnational approach. Decolonising the Mediterranean means thinking of the Mediterranean as a space of investigation beyond its geographical boundaries. Finally, it requires deconstructing the power relations at play, viewing the Mediterranean as an excess space of signification in order to reconsider the past and present stories and subjectivities erased by Eurocentric nationalist historical discourse. In this sense, the Mediterranean may then be more than a method, a matter of politics, or a space without borders where the future can be reinvented from the bottom up. This volume is structured into six chapters, each written by a different author focusing on a single North African, Maghreb, and Mashrek country's colonial legacy to investigate borders in a transnational perspective. While the research directions and topics of investigation adopted here are different, they can all be situated on the boundary line described above, and each chapter suggests a specific path for decolonising knowledge.

The Ancient Mediterranean Sea in Modern Visual and Performing Arts Rosario Rovira Guardiola, 2017-12-14 When thinking about the Mediterranean, Fernand Braudel's haunting words resound like an echo of the sea and its millenary history From Prehistory until today the Mediterranean has been setting witness and protagonist of mythical adventures of encounters with the Other of battles and the rise and fall of cultures and empires of the destinies of humans Braudel's appeal for a long durée history of the Mediterranean challenged traditional views that often present it as a sea fragmented and divided through periods This volume proposes a journey into the bright and dark sides of the ancient Mediterranean through the kaleidoscopic gaze of artists who from the Renaissance to the 21st century have been inspired by its myths and history The view of those who imagined and recreated the past of the sea has largely contributed to the shaping of modern cultures which are inexorably rooted and embedded in Mediterranean traditions The contributions look at modern visual reinterpretations of ancient myths fiction and history and pay particular attention to the theme of sea travel and travellers which since Homer's Odyssey has become the epitome of the discovery of new worlds of cultural exchanges and a metaphor of personal developments and metamorphoses Gardens of the Roman Empire Wilhelmina F.
