Attitudes Marjorie Powell, Joseph W. Beard, 2018-06-12 Teachers attitudes have been a subject of study and interest for many years Originally published in 1986 this bibliography attempts to review the large field of research between the years 1965 and 1984 To identify all the sources of information and to list documents that discuss research on teachers attitudes It does not include an assessment of the quality of the research reported in the listed documents however the value is in its comprehensiveness Users of the bibliography can locate the listed studies and then evaluate the studies using criteria relevant to their individual purposes

Color in the Classroom Zoe Burkholder, 2011-10-05 Between the turn of the twentieth century and the Brown v Board of Education decision in 1954 the way that American schools taught about race changed dramatically This transformation was engineered by the nation s most prominent anthropologists including Franz Boas Ruth Benedict and Margaret Mead during World War II Inspired by scientific racism in Nazi Germany these activist scholars decided that the best way to fight racial prejudice was to teach what they saw as the truth about race in the institution that had the power to do the most good American schools Anthropologists created lesson plans lectures courses and pamphlets designed to revise what they called the race concept in American education They believed that if teachers presented race in scientific and egalitarian terms conveying human diversity as learned habits of culture rather than innate characteristics American citizens would become less racist Although nearly forgotten today this educational reform movement represents an important component of early civil rights activism that emerged alongside the domestic and global tensions of wartime Drawing on hundreds of first hand accounts written by teachers nationwide Zo Burkholder traces the influence of this anthropological activism on the way that teachers understood spoke and taught about race She explains how and why teachers readily understood certain theoretical concepts such as the division of race into three main categories while they struggled to make sense of more complex models of cultural diversity and structural inequality As they translated theories into practice teachers crafted an educational discourse on race that differed significantly from the definition of race produced by scientists at mid century Schoolteachers and their approach to race were put into the spotlight with the Brown v Board of Education case but the belief that racially integrated schools would eradicate racism in the next generation and eliminate the need for discussion of racial inequality long predated this Discussions of race in the classroom were silenced during the early Cold War until a new generation of antiracist multicultural educators emerged in the 1970s

Entrepreneurship and Gandhian Thoughts in the Post-COVID World Babita Bhatt,Israr Qureshi,Dhirendra Mani Shukla,Vinay Pillai,2023-08-21 In this edited book we provide foundational tenets of Gandhian perspective and present examples of social organizations that are aiming to insulate themselves by adopting community and village centered approaches to restructuring socially embedded economic activities that align with Gandhian principles These cases highlight the relevance of Gandhi s thoughts in the field of social entrepreneurship We examine key principles such as Sarvodaya the welfare of all Antodaya the upliftment of the weakest self sufficiency self reliance Nai Talim holistic education and Trusteeship We explore how social organizations implement these principles to promote resilience and well being at the community level The COVID 19 pandemic revealed unsustainable practices in the world including disrupted supply chains contagious effects of integrated global economy that ignore the local self reliance and unsustainable internal displacement that make cities dependent on rural labor and rural population dependent on urban areas for jobs These issues show that there are systemic problems with how our society and market are structured The traditional way of development that focuses on profit maximization and unlimited wants has caused problems like inequality resource depletion and disproportionate wealth accumulation Unlimited growth in a limited world has led us to social economic and ecological crises However degrowth as an approach has been criticized for wanting to go back to pre industrial times In this context Gandhi s ideas offer alternatives Gandhi promotes moderation in how market activities are structured and how individual consumption practices are followed This can help reduce the negative impact of economic activities on people and the planet and move towards a more structured and inclusive economy Pedagogy in a New Tonality Peter Gouzouasis,2012-01-01 This is a book for teachers by teachers from elementary school to university level classrooms It is about the use of creative instructional strategies in K 12 classroom settings and the transformations the teachers made in their journeys from being traditional practitioners to becoming pedagogical in their approaches to teaching and learning across the curriculum Over twenty teachers conducted research in their classrooms on the implementation of creative strategies tactics graphics organizers and visual journals in teaching and learning They have written their inquiries in a narrative style informed by various forms of arts based educational research

Their research is approachable and usable by other teachers who are interested in becoming reflective reflexive practitioners. Many of the strategies, tactics, and graphics organizers are described by Barrie Bennett in his widely used textbook Beyond Monet: The Artful Science of Instructional Intelligence. However, through their journeys of becoming teacher learner researchers, many discovered numerous creative variations of Bennett's work as it was implemented in their classrooms. While there are many professional books that provide ideas on collaborative learning and creative teaching approaches, there is very little published research on the efficacy of these concepts in the K-12 classroom. These inquiries provide practical insights into how inspired teachers can conduct research on improving their own practice as well as on greatly improving their students' learning. Thus, this book has widespread interest for teachers and administrators who seek to implement systemic changes in the ways that teachers teach and children learn in the 21st century.

Embracing the Tune of Appearance: An Mental Symphony within Social Studies Journal Topics

In some sort of eaten by screens and the ceaseless chatter of fast interaction, the melodic splendor and psychological symphony created by the published term often fade in to the backdrop, eclipsed by the constant sound and interruptions that permeate our lives. Nevertheless, situated within the pages of Social Studies Journal Topics an enchanting fictional prize brimming with natural feelings, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Crafted by a masterful composer of language, that interesting masterpiece conducts viewers on a mental trip, skillfully unraveling the hidden songs and profound affect resonating within each carefully crafted phrase. Within the depths of the poignant review, we can examine the book is main harmonies, analyze their enthralling publishing type, and submit ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.
