Berkman,2006-02-09 The Handbook of Social Work in Health and Aging is the first reference to combine the fields of health care aging and social work in a single authoritative volume These areas are too often treated as discrete entities while the reality is that all social workers deal with issues in health and aging on a daily basis regardless of practice specialization As the baby boomers age the impact on practice in health and aging will be dramatic and social workers need more specialized knowledge about aging health care and the resources available to best serve older adults and their families The volume s 102 original chapters and 13 overviews written by the most experienced and prominent gerontological health care scholars in the United States and across the world provide social work practitioners and educators with up to date knowledge of evidence based practice guidelines for effectively assessing and treating older adults and their families new models for intervention in both community based practice and institutional care and knowledge of significant policy and research issues in health and aging A truly monumental resource this handbook represents the best research on health and aging available to social workers today Older People: Improving Health and Social Care Bea L. Dijkman,Irma Mikkonen,Petrie F.

Roodbol,2018-11-11 This contributed volume is based on the European Core Competences Framework for health and social care professionals working with older people ECCF developed and verified in a unique international cooperation between 26 universities and universities of applied sciences in 25 European countries part of the European Later Life Active Network ELLAN In addition to the framework the book outlines the necessary qualifications and describes the roles of professionals working with older people in health and social services It explores healthy ageing for older people from different perspectives and describes the seven roles of health and social care professionals Expert Communicator Collaborator Organizer Health and Welfare Advocate Scholar and Professional before going on to define 18 related competences and elaborating them in performance indicators Beyond the ECCF the book explains the widely used CanMED role model and puts forward theories to support a client centered and integrated approach on health and social care in order to change attitudes toward older clients and offer better care and support It also provides health and social care professionals for example nurses allied health professionals and social workers with new contextual information and cultural awareness It gives a voice to students by addressing selected perspectives for professional development The book includes questions for reflective learning helping to make the book a vital practical instrument for use in the educational context throughout Europe Europe s ageing populations represent a major challenge for both public health and social care systems 18% of the population is 65 years old and over and this proportion will increase in the coming years As a result more and more health and social care professionals will work with older people in different settings at home in the community in hospitals or in long term care settings Older people and especially the frail face a host of interrelated issues e g cognitive restrictions functional restrictions psychosocial problems multimorbidity polypharmacy and social isolation These problems call for an integrated approach to health and social care which this book supplies It is intended for health and social care professionals students and educators for a better understanding of Europe s ageing society and of the impact on care and services Furthermore the ECCF offers educational institutes a unique resource for curriculum development education training and assessment

Social Work with the Aged and Their Families Roberta R. Greene, 2011-12-31 In recent years theoreticians researchers and practitioners have become increasingly interested in older adults and the aging process This volume draws on related disciplines to better understand the biological psychological and social aspects of aging Social Work with the Aged and Their Families covers areas of central interest to those coping with the needs of an aging population Among the topics addressed are assessment of the aging taking into account biological age psychological age and socio cultural and spiritual age Greene also considers the importance of the family system family roles and development functional age individual and family intervention and group and community interventions The scientific and systematic study of aging is known as gerontology Geriatric social workers are those who have applied established social work theories in an attempt to find suitable techniques for working with their elderly clients The need for specialized services has given birth to various services and programs For example meals on wheels and home health care services have been designed to meet specific physical needs of older adults However mental health services have lagged far behind as practitioners struggled to adapt such specialties as family therapy to families of later years A major contribution of this book now in its third edition is the functional age model of intergenerational treatment FAM which is an outgrowth of that demand The functional age model of intergenerational treatment is an integrative theoretical framework for social workers interested in clinical social work practice with older adults and their families Since its initial construction in 1986 the model has been augmented by more recent concepts related to successful aging spirituality and resiliency These additions together with the original assessment and intervention strategies present the major converging conceptual trends that constitute a model for twenty first century social work practice in the field of aging

Handbook of Psychosocial Interventions with Older Adults Sherry M. Cummings, Nancy P. Kropf, 2013-09-13 In the past decade evidence based practice EBP has emerged as one of the most important movements to improve the effectiveness of clinical care As the number of older adults continues to grow it is essential that practitioners have knowledge of effective strategies to improve both the medical and the psychosocial aspects of older persons lives The purpose of this work is to present systematic reviews of research based psychosocial interventions for older adults and their caregivers The interventions presented focus on a variety of critical issues facing older adults today including medical illnesses cardiac disease diabetes arthritis pain cancer and HIV AIDS mental health cognitive disorders depression anxiety dementia substance abuse and social functioning developmental disabilities end of life dementia caregivers grandparent caregivers For each of these areas the prevalence of the problem the demographics of those affected and the nature and consequences of the problem are discussed The empirical literature is then reviewed A treatment summary highlights the type and nature of research supporting the interventions reviewed and is followed by a conclusion section that summarizes the status of intervention research for the specified issue A Treatment Resource Appendix for each area is included These appendices highlight manuals books articles and web resources that detail the treatment approaches and methodologies discussed This book was previously published as a special issue of the Journal of Gerontological Social Work

The Oxford Handbook of Social Work in Health and Aging Daniel B. Kaplan, Barbara Berkman, 2016 This Second Edition of the Handbook addresses the evolving interdisciplinary health care context and the broader social work practice environment as well as advances in the knowledge base which guides social work service delivery in health and aging This includes recent enhancements in the theories of gerontology innovations in clinical interventions and major developments in the social policies that structure and finance health care and senior services In addition the policy reforms of the 2010 Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act set in motion a host of changes in the United States healthcare system with potentially profound implications for the programs and services which provide care to older adults and their families In this volume the most experienced and prominent gerontological health care scholars address a variety of populations that social workers serve and the arenas in which they practice followed by detailed recommendations of best practices for an array of physical and mental health conditions The volume's unprecedented attention to diversity health care trends and implications for practice research policy make the publication a major event in the field of gerontological social work This is a Must Read for all social work social work educators practitioners and students interested in older adults and their families

Social Capital as a Health Resource in Later Life: The Relevance of Context Fredrica Nyqvist, Anna K. Forsman, 2015-02-20 This book examines the social aspects of healthy ageing for older individuals It features more than 15 papers that explore the relevance of the social environment for health on the micro meso and macro level Overall the book applies a comprehensive contextual approach that includes discussion of how family and friends neighborhoods nations and welfare regimes influence health The book first explores the issue on the individual level It looks at the importance of social capital for health among older people examines types of social networks and health among older Americans as well as discusses dynamic social capital and mental health in late life Next the book looks at the issue through a neighborhood and societal context which takes into account day to day interaction in the immediate environment as well as the social health and economic policies in place in different regions in the world including America Europe Asia and Africa From there the book goes on to offer implications and recommendations for research and practice including the management of related concepts of research on well being and health It also offers a psychosocial approach to promoting social capital and mental health among older adults This book provides health professionals as well as researchers and students in gerontology sociology social policy psychology and social work with vital insights into the social factors that increase healthy life years and promote well being

Competence

Roberta R. Greene, Nancy Kropf, 2017-07-28 The actions social workers take are aimed at helping people communities and societies attain a sense of mastery become or remain competent and achieve or retain a sense of well being Such a broad scope of practice necessitates a theoretical foundation that is anchored in the concept of human competence This text explores the concept of competence and shows how it is expressed in a variety of theoretical frameworks including traditional models and emerging theoretical approaches This approach toward human behavior focuses on mutually beneficial interactions between people and society and emphasizes the connections between individuals and various systems that influence their lives It enables the social worker to conduct multilevel client assessments gaining an understanding of how clients function within their total environment and plan a range of helpful interventions The volume is organized around the competency based approach to social work education adopted by the Council on Social Work Education Written by leading analysts in the field Competence is essential reading for the field of social work Fostering Social Work Gerontology Competence Catherine J.
