Sir John Vanbrugh Vaughan Hart, 2008 In explaining why Vanbrugh's buildings look the way they do Hart allows his novel architectural forms to be understood for the first time as expressions of the visual and psychological theories of his friend and fellow Whig Joseph Addison BOOK JACKET

'Where Nature Borrows Dress from Vanbrugh's Art' Caroline Dalton, 2010

Sculpture and the Garden Patrick Eyres, 2017-07-05 Although the integration of sculpture in gardens is part of a long tradition dating back at least to antiquity the sculptures themselves are often overlooked both in the history of art and in the history of the garden This collection of essays considers the changing relationship between sculpture and gardens over the last three centuries focusing on four British archetypes the Georgian landscape garden the Victorian urban park the outdoor spaces of twentieth century modernism and the late twentieth century sculpture park Through a series of case studies exploring the contemporaneous audiences of gardens the book uncovers the social political and gendered messages revealed by sculpture's placement and suggests that the garden can itself be read as a sculptural landscape

How the Country House Became English Stephanie Barczewski, 2023-07-22 The story of how the country house historically a site of violent disruption came to symbolize English stability during the eighteenth century Country houses are quintessentially English not only architecturally but also in that they embody national values of continuity and insularity The English country house however has more often been the site of violent disruption than continuous peace So how is it that the country house came to represent an uncomplicated nostalgic vision of English history This book explores the evolution of the country house beginning with the Reformation and Civil War and shows how the political events of the eighteenth century which culminated in the reaction against the French Revolution led to country houses being recast as symbols of England's political stability

Estate Landscapes : Design, Improvement and Power in the Post-medieval Landscape Jonathan Finch, Katherine Giles, 2007

An exciting study of the social and landscape phenomena of the Estate Landscape In recent years the post medieval landscape has attracted new interest from archaeologists historians and geographers concerned to understand the development of the historic environment One of the key structuring elements within these landscapes from the sixteenth century until the aftermath of the Second World War was undoubtedly the landed estate However it was not until the late nineteenth century that any systematic attempt to quantify the presence of these estates was undertaken prompted by the move to democratic reform and the persistent link between political power and landed wealth Yet the importance of the landed estate in structuring power social relationships and both agricultural and industrial production was not limited to the UK From the eighteenth century the link between the UK estates and patterns of landholding and exploitation in the colonies became increasingly complex and recursive This volume explores the relationships between the form and structure of British and Colonial estate landscapes their agricultural management and the political structures and social relationships they reproduced The articles address themes as diverse as the creation and development of the agrarian landscape improvement ornamental landscapes and gardens and estate architecture Overall it highlights the wealth and diversity of existing scholarship and suggests new directions for post medieval archaeology in this dynamic area of research
