Snapshots of the Soul Molly Thomasy Blasing, 2021-07-15 Snapshots of the Soul considers how photography has shaped Russian poetry from the early twentieth century to the present day Drawing on theories of the lyric and the elegy the social history of technology and little known archival materials Molly Thomasy Blasing offers close readings of poems by Boris Pasternak Marina Tsvetaeva Joseph Brodsky and Bella Akhmadulina as well as by the late and post Soviet poets Andrei Senkov Arkadii Dragomoshchenko and Kirill Medvedev to understand their fascination with the visual language representational power and metaphorical possibilities offered by the camera and the photographic image Within the context of long standing anxieties about the threat that visual media pose to literary culture Blasing finds that these poets were attracted to the affinities and tensions that exist between the lyric or elegy and the snapshot Snapshots of the Soul reveals that at the core of each poet's approach to writing the photograph is the urge to demonstrate the superior ability of poetic language to capture and convey human experience Open Access edition funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities

Drifting with Clouds, Living by Poetry HongSheng Zhang, 2023-04-12 Zhang explores the sociohistorical environment that produced those poets an era of political intrigues geopolitical threats the rise of commodity economy flourishing popular culture and glamorous urban life Poetry was their means of livelihood as they drifted between low positions or as commoners living by procuring favors from the powerful elite The sadness and joys of a life in precarity shaped their thematic and stylistic choices response to contemporary literary trends and choice of poetic models They formed a broad social network that straddled the scholar officials and ordinary townsmen While their poetry reflects the characteristics and concerns of both classes there emerged a shared voice distinctly their own that turned the tide of poetry in the 13th century

A Separate Vision Deborah Pope, 1999-03-01 The emergence of large numbers of women writers expressing a deliberately female consciousness has marked one of the significant directions of literature in this century A central idea embraced by these writers has been the particular isolation or marginality felt by women In A Separate Vision Deborah Pope focuses on four representative poets Louise Bogan Maxine Kumin Denise Levertov and Adrienne Rich to explore the ways in which women writers' treatment of isolation extends our perception of women's experience and our understanding of the alienated human sensibility In the work of these poets Pope identifies four distinct phases of isolation split self and validation These phases represent a progression from negation to affirmation from a sense of powerlessness and severe restriction to one of literal and psychological freedom She shows how the dynamics of this progression have operated in each poet's development with each starting from the negative stance of victimization and moving in varying degrees toward validation But Pope also finds that in each woman's work one phase of isolation is predominant She sees the tension and confessionalism in the poetry of Bogan the earliest of the four as most representative of victimization Kumin's poems on her alienation from familial and social experiences exemplify personalization The split self is manifested most clearly in Levertov whose work shows a woman torn between her social female self and her inner artistic self Rich the most committed feminist of this group is also the strongest exemplar of validation Her recent poems are charged with personality and power and the isolation in her writing is the isolation of those in the forefront of exploration and change This progress toward a positive sense of women's isolation is a significant movement in contemporary poetry With what Pope describes as their vigorous revisioning of our patterns of human experience women poets are today showing us new ways of understanding and realizing human dignity and worth

Alison Hawthorne Deming,1994-03-01 I greatly admire Alison Deming's lucid and precise language her stunning metaphors her passion her wild and generous spirit her humor her formal cunning I am taken as all readers will be by the knowledge she displays and how she puts this knowledge to a poetic use but I am equally taken I am more taken by the wisdom that lies behind the knowledge I am amazed and delighted by her authority and tenacity She is of this world she lives in it and for better or worse it is the world she settles for and she understands that even if she must rage a little and sometimes more than a little she is one of its citizens Like every original poet she appears to have sprung full blown out of Zeus head I want to say but Aphrodite is here as well as Athena the ocean as well as the mountain I congratulate her on this fine book Gerald Stern Alison Hawthorne Deming brings to her first collection of verse the kinds of scrupulous observation and clear eyed analysis that characterize scientific inquiry as well as a poet's eye for the telling moment Science and Other Poems establishes astonishing parallels between the mute inexorable processes of the physical universe and the dark mysteries of the human heart parallels so clearly wrought and convincing that we wonder why we had not recognized them before Caffe Trieste lays bare the unexamined terror and sorrow that underlie the proliferation of faux fifties kitsch then strips the veil of spacious grace from the decade and reveals it as it was for those who lived it bombs spread like bacteria on culture plates when the cost of a family staying together might be Stelazine and high voltage erasures They're just American all shine and no pain In the chilling Alliance Ohio a mother and daughter suddenly find themselves stranded in a world of predators a poisonous world charged with sexual threat where every smile every gesture drips with sly menace Yet moments of dislocation can also be cause for rejoicing as when a speaker after surprising a bat in the house is moved to rapture by the sight of the night sky Every page of Science and Other Poems is alive with startling juxtapositions eerie parallels abrupt shifts of tone and image after image of crystalline perfection as in this dazzling evocation of soft shelled crabs their finely stippled bodies that give to the touch translucent as Japanese lanterns These poems imbue everything from the microscopic to the stellar with wonder Each instant of illumination like poetry itself brings the world alive with a faithfulness deeper than seeing Trying to Say it Philip Booth,1996 Essays that reveal the pulses of a teacher's mind and a poet's heart
