historian Tim Cole takes to the roads to find out what has changed and what has remained the same over the 70 years since they were first published From Oban to Torquay Caernarvon to Cambridge he explores the visible changes to our landscape and the more subtle social and cultural shifts that lie beneath In a starkly different era where travel has been transformed by the pandemic and many are journeying closer to home About Britain is a warm and timely meditation on our changing relationship with the landscape industry and transport As he looks out on vineyards and apple orchards power stations and slate mines vast greenhouses and fulfilment centres for online goods Cole provides an enchanting look at twentieth and early twenty first century Britain

Seven Steps from Snowdon to Everest Mark Horrell, 2016-02-29 As he teetered on a narrow rock ledge a yak s bellow short of the stratosphere with a rubber mask strapped to his face a pair of mittens the size of a sealion s flippers and a drop of two kilometres below him it s fair to say Mark Horrell wasn t entirely happy with the situation he found himself in He had been an ordinary hiker who had only read books about mountaineering When he signed up for an organised trek in Nepal with a group of elderly ladies little did he know that ten years later he would be attempting to climb the world s highest mountain But as he travelled across the Himalayas Andes Alps and East Africa following in the footsteps of the pioneers he dreamed up a seven point plan to gain the skills and experience which could turn a wild idea into reality Funny incisive and heartfelt his journey provides a refreshingly honest portrait of the joys and torments of a modern day Everest climber
