doesn't treat childfree couples fairly and that many couples with children are putting the world at risk. Overpopulation poses real dangers including an increased threat of climate change, accelerated animal and plant extinctions, and the wholesale destruction of rainforests and other habitats. The Levinsons explore the increasingly common choice to remain childfree and challenge the ethics of those who choose to procreate. They consider a host of issues including liabilities facing children, motivations to have children, financial implications, lack of parental preparation, nature versus nurture, and world sustainability. Despite the dangers of overpopulation, many people continue to have children without thinking through the consequences. It's time to take a larger view and consider whether or not there are Enough of Us. Soaring, 2003

Crisis Management in the Food and Drinks Industry Colin Doeg, 1995 Crisis Management in the Food and Drinks Industry is the only book to deal comprehensively with the management of communications in the food and drinks industry, including the catering sector, when there is a food-related problem. But much of the information in this expanded second edition has a wider relevance. The second edition sets out the general principles of dealing with a serious problem that has attracted media attention or is likely to do so. It takes a global look at current developments which have changed the face of crisis management forever, including the internet and email, the impact of satellite and cable television, the implications of rolling 24-hour news coverage, and the growth of new forms of communications. The second edition also examines the activities of extremist organisations as well as product tampering and extortion. The book contains extensive case histories, plus model check lists, press releases, product recall advertisements, and employee announcements.

Soar David Banks, 2014-09-09 The more the Eagle Academy approach and its successes can be shared, the more opportunities young people will have to find their way to their own triumphs. Wes Moore, New York Times bestselling author of The Other Wes Moore. From New York City public schools chancellor David Banks, a respected educator who has advised Hillary Clinton and Cory Booker on scholastic issues, comes a rare book that can bring tears to your eyes while showing the way to deep and meaningful social change. New York Times bestselling author William Pollack: In this country, the failure of black and Latino men in schools has become the norm. Some go as far as to say that young men of color are helpless cases and they are treated as such in school. Though this unfair experience hits brown and black boys the hardest, the underlying causes are shared by boys of many backgrounds. There needs to be a change, and David Banks had some ideas to help at-risk boys. In 2004, he petitioned New York City's mayor to allow an all-boys public school to open in one of the most troubled districts in the country the South Bronx He had a point to prove when rituals that boys are innately drawn to are combined with college prep level instruction and community mentorship even the most challenging students can succeed The result The Eagle Academy for Young Men the first all boys public high school in New York City in more than thirty years has flourished and has been successfully replicated in five locations in the city and in Newark New Jersey In Soar Banks shares the experiences of individual kids from the Eagle Academy as well as his own personal story He reveals the specific approach he and his team use to drive students from tapping into their natural competitiveness and peer sensitivity to providing rituals that mimic their instinctual need for hierarchy and fraternal camaraderie to finding teachers who know firsthand the obstacles these students face Results oriented and clear eyed about the challenges and promises of educating boys at risk Soar is a must read for those concerned with the welfare of young men Kirkus Reviews Indian Tears Along the Mad River Rick Ruja,2016-05-11 This expos reveals unique and tragic events that occurred north of San Francisco Bay in Northwestern California primarily during the Nineteenth Century It details a clash between the indigenous inhabitants of the area who had lived here for several millennia and White invaders from the eastern portions of the United States attracted by reports of placer gold deposits found in selected waterways as well as by the presence of land where flora and fauna grew in unprecedented profusion from the heavy rainfall sufficient to support great stands of Redwood forests the tallest trees on earth For American ranchers and farmers subject to drought in many parts of the United States Northwestern California sounded like a Garden marred only by the presence of hundreds of thousands of Native Americans who occupied this Eden What followed was a war of brutality in the 1800s between two races for possession of land ownership an updated story that has never been presented in such detail before White migrants committed ethnocide and genocide in removing the natives while founding Humboldt Trinity Mendocino and Klamath counties This work takes the form of an historical novel blending fact with a modicum of fiction for readability Explorer's Guide Vermont (Fourteenth Edition) Christina Tree,Alice Levitt,2015-05-04 Guiding you to the best of everything in Vermont for over 30 years Although Explorer s Guide Vermont covers the entire Green Mountain State the authors pride themselves on their detailed coverage of the state s less traveled areas especially the Northeast Kingdom You ll also find in depth descriptions of major Vermont destinations like Burlington Brattleboro Manchester and Woodstock They always highlight the most interesting and rewarding places to visit whether on back roads or in bigger cities artists studios family farms and historic sites among them This guide provides great recommendations for every activity you re looking for mountain and road biking hiking and swimming skiing snowshoeing and snowboarding horseback riding fishing and paddling and many more both on and off the beaten track [The Parricide, a Tragedy, in Five Acts, Etc. \[In Verse.\]](#) Robert ALLEN (A.M.),1824 Mad Humanity Lyttleton Forbes Winslow,1898 Miscellaneous Poems Francis M.
