Social And Political Sciences Of The Environment Three Decades Of Research In The Netherlands:

Social and Political Sciences of the Environment Pieter Leroy, Nicolaas Johannes Maria Nelissen, 1999 The Netherlands is regarded as a leading country in the field of environmental sciences and its environmental policy is widely considered as sophisticated But what do political and social sciences contribute to this policy What have Dutch political and social scientists achieved with regard to environmental problems and where do they stand in comparison to what is going on internationally The authors give an overview of three decades of research by Dutch political and social scientists of the environment Within that legacy they distinguish studies concerning the structural basis of environmental studies as well as research into environmental attitudes and behaviour environmental communication the environmental movement and environmental policy They identify the predominant research issues and those topics that have hitherto been relatively neglected Greening Society P.J. Driessen, P. Glasbergen, 2013-04-17 This book can be regarded as a monograph on the debates and developments in Dutch environmental policy It has been written with a specific perspective in mind First and foremost the line of approach we have taken was from a multidisciplinary social science point of view The trend in environmental policy is looked at from the angle of sociology policy studies and political science Secondly all analyses depart from the paradigm shift concept This particular paradigm shift is based on the fact that a radical change has taken shape over the years in the way environmental issues are handled Previously environmental policy had always been characterised by a top down approach in which government determined the actual objectives of policy and assumed that it could win over business non governmental organisations and citizens to act in line with those objectives There was also a great deal of faith in the technical solutions to environmental issues Today's environmental policy is based on a totally different philosophy Environmental objectives are now reached in association with business non governmental organisations and citizens These actors are also involved in bringing environmental policy into practice In other words the implementation of policy has a more interactive nature New relationships emerge between government the market and civil society and policy discourses also become integrated The environmental interest is more often weighed against the economic interests the spatial development and against social justice Institutional Dynamics in Environmental Governance Bas Arts, Pieter Leroy, 2006-09-09 Environmental policy in its broadest context has been significantly revitalized and renewed during the last two decades That observation is nothing new attested to by the number of publications conferences and both private and public projects that have been initiated However our understanding of the dynamics of this renewal has generally been informed by studies on single policies and projects leaving us with a limited understanding of what the newness consists of in terms of an integrated perspective This book presents fresh analyses of a number of well known cases but does so from one comprehensive view the so called policy arrangement approach Cases discussed range over organic farming integrated water management nature policy cultural heritage policy integrated region oriented policy corporate environmental management and target group policy always in search of the commonality of experience and conclusions to be drawn in understanding the past and in formulating future perspectives Partnerships, Governance and Sustainable Development P.

Glasbergen, Frank Biermann, A. P. J. Mol, 2007 this is a book to read for anybody who wants a good overview of ongoing research on environmental partnerships in public administration business administration political science and sociology Thomas Sikor Journal of Integrative Environmental Sciences The profit of this book is the well proportioned mixture of theoretical reflections and empirical findings mostly presented in the form of case studies the volume offers a well structured and recommendable account of the current state of governance and partnerships in the field of sustainable development Thomas Krumm Political Studies Review This well structured volume brings together a group of leading experts on an important emerging topic of global and local environmental policy The book is highly recommended for every student and scholar in the field of environmental governance Martin J nicke Freie Universit t Berlin Germany Partnerships have emerged as a critical best practice in the pursuit of sustainability Glasbergen Biermann and Mol s book explores the partnership issue from a variety of empirical and theoretical perspectives highlighting how to understand them and what not to do Highly recommended Daniel C Esty Yale University US This significant study discusses the emergence of partnerships for sustainable development as an innovative and potentially influential new type of governance With contributions from leading experts in the field the partnership paradigm is discussed and the contributors explore the process extent and circumstances under which partnerships can improve the legitimacy and effectiveness of governance for sustainable development Scientific research on partnerships within the context of governance theory is fairly new and there is a clear need to systemize a knowledge base to further define the international research agenda In addition there is an urgent demand from governments and international organizations as well as from non governmental actors for strategic insights to build upon their activities in this field This book is designed to address the questions debates and agendas related to this new mode of governance This multi disciplinary book brings together unique perspectives from organizational theory policy science sociology and political science As such it will be warmly welcomed by academics of environmental policy and politics as well as scholars and researchers interested in governance for sustainable development It will also appeal to public policy scholars Sustainable Development as a Civilizational Revolution Artur Pawlowski, 2011-05-24 As a concept sustainable development is in conflict with traditional development based upon economic growth Sustainable development is an attempt to formulate a programme that integrates different aspects ecological social and economical which were usually considered as separate from each other Sustainable Development as a Civilizationa Governing Environmental Flows Gert Spaargaren, A. P. J. Mol, Frederick H. Buttel, 2006 Lays the foundations for a new conceptualization of global environmental governance that draws on the flow perspective found in recent work in sociology International Social Science Journal , 2004 Restoration and History Marcus Hall, 2010-02-01 Once a forest has been destroyed should one plant a new forest to emulate the old or else plant designer forests to satisfy our immediate needs Should we aim to re create forests or simply create them How does the past shed light on our environmental efforts and how does the present influence our environmental goals Can we predict the future of restoration This book explores how a consideration of time and history can improve the practice of restoration There is a past of restoration as well as past assumptions about restoration and such assumptions have political and social implications Governments around the world are willing to spend billions on restoration projects in the Everglades along the Rhine River in the South China Sea without acknowledging that former generations have already wrestled with repairing damaged ecosystems that there have been many kinds of former ecosystems and that there are many former ways of understanding such systems This book aims to put the dimension of time back into our understanding of environmental efforts Historic ecosystems can serve as models for our restorative efforts if we can just describe such ecosystems What conditions should be brought back and do such conditions represent new natures or better pasts A collective answer is given in these pages and it is not a unified answer

African Pastoralism M. A. Mohamed Salih, Ton Dietz, Abdel Ghaffar Mohamed Ahmed, 2001-07-20 Although many countries in Africa are devastated by poverty and famine and are desperately in need of aid it is generally recognised that programmes of aid and development in Africa are imposed upon local communities with little regard for their traditional values and way of life This book provides a fresh look at these intricate issues and explores the way in which farming and traditional pastoral livelihoods have strengthened rather than weakened in the face of government reforms It reveals how traditional institutions and resource management strategies within local African communities continue to endure in spite of the enormous pressure that development programs assert as pastoralists resolve to confront coercive state policies designed to privilege the interests of the wealthy and powerful elite The book introduces thirteen case studies from Botswana Ethiopia Eritrea Kenya Somalia Sudan and Uganda and various other parts of the African continent Routledge

International Handbook of Social and Environmental Change Stewart Lockie, David A. Sonnenfeld, Dana R. Fisher, 2013-10-30 This book reviews the major ways in which social scientists are conceptualizing more integrated perspectives on society and nature from the global to local levels The chapters in this volume by international experts from a variety of disciplines explore the challenges contradictions and consequences of socialecological change along with the uncertainties and governance dilemmas they create National Reforms in European Gas M. Arentsen,R. Kunneke,2003-08-14 Focussing on the change and development of national gas markets in Europe this book provides an overview analysis and comparison of recent dynamics in several national gas markets at a time of very rapid change within this industry This overview provides a better understanding of current events and future evolution in the European gas business What can be expected at the European level given the recent trends and dynamics in national gas markets in Europe How did countries respond to the EU gas directive and why What are the important barriers to a harmonised European gas market from the perspective of national developments This book tackles these and related questions Written by experts across the field of energy policy and reform this publication will be an invaluable resource for social scientists studying the ongoing reform process in energy markets as well as industry analysts consultants policy makers and utility companies worldwide The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2005 The Politics of Nature Andrew Dobson,Paul Lucardie,2002-11 A balanced and comprehensive survey of current green political ideas their varying responses to fundamental problems in political theory and their relationships with other ideological traditions Law, Policy and Climate Change Dariel De Sousa,2022-09-29 Focusing on systemic risks caused by climate change this book examines how these risks can be effectively regulated to ensure resilience and avoid catastrophe Systemic risks are risks that threaten the systems upon which society depends including ecosystems social systems financial systems and systems of infrastructure Such risks are typically characterised by inherent complexity profound uncertainty and overwhelming ambiguity In combination these features pose significant regulatory challenges for policy and law makers Examining how different types of systemic risks caused by climate change are being regulated in four different jurisdictions the EU the UK the US and Australia this book identifies deficiencies associated with regulating systemic risks using a traditional approach based on a linear relationship between risk and regulation which is widely used to regulate risk The book advances a regulatory approach that is instead founded on the concept of risk governance This involves a structured yet flexible holistic interdisciplinary and inclusive basis for responding to systemic risks and it is this book argues a more effective basis for regulating systemic risks given their uncertainty complexity and ambiguity This book will appeal to academics policy and law makers and practitioners working at the intersection of law and policy in the areas of regulation risk management and climate change Resources in Education ,1998 Political Science Abstracts IFI/Plenum Data Company staff,2013-11-11 Political Science Abstracts is an annual supplement to the Political Science Government and Public Policy Series of The Universal Reference System which was first published in 1967 All back issues are still available Asian and Pacific Cities Ian Shirley,Carol Neill,2013-03-12 The cities of Asia and the Pacific are at the epicentre of development in what is arguably the most populous culturally distinctive and economically powerful region in the world 16 major cities such as Tokyo Shanghai Manila Jakarta Bangkok Singapore Auckland Kuala Lumpur and Santiago located in countries as diverse as Mexico and Vietnam Samoa and India China and

Australia exemplify the changing patterns of development across this vast region of the world By tracking economic and social trends the contributors to this collection reveal how a wide range of political and cultural factors have interacted over time to provide a powerful explanation for the shape and characteristics of the city today Based on a collaborative research programme and drawing on the work of local researchers this book examines the realities of city development characterised by domestic migration spatial and social fragmentation squatter settlements and gated communities economic experiments and the emergence of the Asian Tigers The collection as a whole records the way in which countries in this region have moved from underdevelopment to become global economic and political powers This book provides a fascinating journey through Asia and the Pacific by generating an insiders view of each city and an insight into national development As such it will be of great interest to students and scholars interested in the Asian and Pacific region in disciplines such as economics politics geography and sociology and in policy domains such as urban planning and economic development

The Cultural Landscape & Heritage Paradox Tom Bloemers, Henk Kars, Arnold Van der Valk, 2010 The basic problem is to what extent we can know past and mainly invisible landscapes and how we can use this still hidden knowledge for actual sustainable management of landscape s cultural and historical values It has also been acknowledged that heritage management is increasingly about the management of future change rather than simply protection This presents us with a paradox to preserve our historic environment we have to collaborate with those who wish to transform it and in order to apply our expert knowledge we have to make it suitable for policy and society The answer presented by the Protection and Development of the Dutch Archaeological Historical Landscape programme pdl bbo is an integrative landscape approach which applies inter and transdisciplinarity establishing links between archaeological historical heritage and planning and between research and policy

The Routledge Companion to Responsible Business Stefan Markovic, Adam Lindgreen, François Maon, Cristina Sancha, 2025-08-22 Contemporary companies are expected to behave ethically and responsibly toward their stakeholders and to provide social and environmental good Key stakeholder groups including employees consumers investors and public authorities increasingly demand that companies deliver products and services in responsible yet economically sound manners and act in accordance with moral obligations and financial requirements Such mounting societal expectations and institutional pressures relate to complex concerns including environmental and climate impact working conditions and human rights both locally and overseas In this context as companies now appear to commit to comprehensively tackle ethical social environmental and economic challenges concerns increasingly are raised as to whether most companies in the end can indeed contribute to societal and environmental good and transform how they operate to create value responsibly considering the success and impact of so called corporate social responsibility or sustainability policies In recent decades while some companies have advanced on their social and environmental responsibility journey other companies have engaged in ethical social and environmental initiatives in manipulative and insincere way or merely as a rhetorical tool to maintain legitimacy Together with governments and business partners these companies are largely failing to deliver for society and the environment Subsequently more than ever before understanding what it means to do business responsibly and how business actors can engage constructively in ways that support the development of resilient business practices forms and organizations that contribute to generate positive impact for society and the environment and generate the type of economic value needed to address the key challenges of this century is central On this background this edited volume sheds light on different crucial themes and approaches spanning historical conceptual operational critical practical and prospective considerations that have animated the field of business and society in the last decades and that are instrumental or have the potential to drive constructive research discussions and business efforts The central aim of the book is to set the research agenda for the next five to seven years to redefine existing areas within the context of international research and to highlight emerging research areas in need of further investigation representing a prestige reference work providing an overview of the subject area of responsible business primarily for academics researchers postgraduate students as well as reflective practitioners
