

SOCIAL CONSTRUCT

A social construct is a concept or category that has socially and culturally mediated meaning. They are concepts that generate their meaning through social and cultural worldviews.

SOCIAL CONSTRUCTIONISM VS CULTURAL RELATIVISM

Cultural relativism makes a judgment that all cultures are equal. It often leads to moral relativism, which is the suggestion that there is no objective morality in society.

The study of social constructs doesn't attempt to make judgments about the morality of different cultures. Rather, it simply explores how different cultures come to their conclusions about ideas and people.
