Texts Of Festival The:

The Temporality of Festivals Anke Walter, 2024-04-01 How can time become festive How do festivals manage to make time special to mark out a certain day or days to distinguish them from normal everyday time and to fill them with meaning And how can we reconstruct what festive time looked like in the past and what people thought about it While a lot of research has been done on festivals from the point of view of several scholarly disciplines the specific temporality of festivals has not yet attracted sufficient attention In this volume scholars from different fields provide answers to the questions raised above based on a fresh analysis of astronomical documents calendars and literary texts Cultures as diverse as ancient Babylon Greece and Rome and medieval China all share a sense of calendrically recurring festive time as something special that needs to be carefully mapped out and preserved often with great sophistication and that gives us precious insights into the broader religious political and social dimensions of time within past cultures

Texts from the Pyramid Age Nigel Strudwick, 2005-10 Ancient Egypt is well known for its towering monuments and magnificent statuary but other aspects of its civilization are less well known especially its written texts Now Texts from the Pyramid Age provides ready access to new translations of a representative selection of texts ranging from the historically significant to the repetitive formulae of the tomb inscriptions from Old Kingdom Egypt ca 2700 2170 B C These royal and private inscriptions coming from both the secular and religious milieus and from all kinds of physical contexts not only shed light on the administration foreign expeditions and funerary beliefs of the period but also bring to life the Egyptians themselves revealing how they saw the world and how they wanted the world to see them Strudwick's helpful introduction to the history and literature of this seminal period provides important background for reading and understanding these historical texts

Hittite Texts and Greek Religion Ian Rutherford, 2020-09-23 Our knowledge of ancient Greece has been transformed in the last century by an increased understanding of the cultures of the Ancient Near East This is particularly true of ancient religion This book looks at the relationship between the religious systems of Ancient Greece and the Hittites who controlled Turkey in the Late Bronze Age 1400 1200 BC The cuneiform texts preserved in the Hittite archives provide a particularly rich source for religious practice detailing festivals purification rituals oracle consultations prayers and myths of the Hittite state as well as documenting the religious practice of neighbouring Anatolian states in which the Hittites took an interest Hittite religion is thus more comprehensively documented than any other ancient religious tradition in the Near East even Egypt The Hittites are also known to have been in contact with Mycenaean Greece known to them as Ahhiyawa The book first sets out the evidence and provides a methodological paradigm for using comparative data It then explores cases where there may have been contact or influence such as in the case of scapegoat rituals or the Kumarbi Cycle Finally it considers key aspects of religious practices shared by both systems such as the pantheon rituals of war festivals and animal sacrifice The aim of such a comparison is to discover clues that may further our understanding of the deep history of religious practices and when used in conjunction with historical data illuminate the differences between cultures and reveal what is distinctive about each of them

Sacred Ritual Bryan C. Babcock, 2014-05-12 Israelite festival calendar texts Exod 23-34 Lev 23 Num 28-29 Deut 16 and Ezek 45 share many features however there are also differences Some of the most often cited differences are the following festival dates festival locations date of the New Year festival timing and festival names Scholars have explored these distinctions and many have concluded that different sources authors redactors wrote the various calendars at different times in Israelite history Scholars use these dissimilarities to argue that Lev 23 was written in the exilic or postexilic era Babcock offers a new translation and analysis of a second millennium B C multimonth ritual calendar text from Emar Emar 446 to challenge the late dating of Lev 23 Babcock argues that Lev 23 preserves an early 2nd millennium West Semitic ritual tradition Building on the recent work of Klingbeil and Sparks this book presents a new comparative methodology for exploring potential textual relationships Babcock investigates the attributes of sacred ritual through the lens of sacred time sacred space and movement sacred objects ritual participants and ritual sound The author begins with a study of ancient Near Eastern festival texts from the 3rd millennium through the 1st millennium This analysis focuses on festival cycles common festival attributes and the role of time and space in ritual Babcock then moves on to an intertextual study of biblical festival texts before completing a thorough investigation of both Lev 23 and Emar 446 The result is a compelling argument that Lev 23 preserves an early West Semitic festival tradition and does not date to the exilic era refuting the scholarly consensus This illuminating reading stands as a model for future research in the field of ritual and comparative textual studies

The Organization of the Anatolian Local Cults During the Thirteenth Century B.C.

Joost Hazenbos, 2021-10-01 The so called cult inventories are of fundamental interest for our understanding of the Hittite local cults They contain lists of temple inventory offerings and personnel but they succinctly describe religious festivals as well and sometimes even offer descriptions of idols This study contains a text edition of many significant cult inventories mainly connected with the Hittite 13th century cult reorganization It also uses these and other texts to draw a picture of the background and the administrative and geographic aspects of this operation

Luwian Identities Alice Mouton, Ian Rutherford, Ilya

Yakubovich, 2013-06-03 The Luwians inhabited Anatolia and Syria in late second through early first millennium BC. They are mainly known through their Indo-European language preserved on cuneiform tablets and hieroglyphic stelae. However, where the Luwians lived or came from, how they coexisted with their Hittite and Greek neighbors, and the peculiarities of their religion and material culture are all debatable matters. A conference convened in Reading in June 2011 in order to discuss the current state of the debate summarized points of disagreement and outlined ways of addressing them in future research. The papers presented at this conference were collected in the present volume, whose goal is to bring into being a new interdisciplinary field, Luwian Studies. To conclude the editors of this volume on Luwian identities and the authors of the individual papers are to be congratulated with a successful sequel to The Luwians of 2003 edited by Melchert and with yet another substantial brick in the foundation of the incipient discipline of Luwian studies. Reading Prophetic Books Marvin A. Sweeney, 2014-07-15 In this volume Marvin A. Sweeney builds upon his former work Form and Intertextuality in Prophetic and Apocalyptic Literature (FAT 45, 2005). He introduces further studies that take up several key issues, including the reading of prophetic books in their final literary form and the significance of textual versions for this reading. He also observes the intertextual relationships between the prophets and other works of biblical and post-biblical literature and the reception of the prophetic books. Following an introduction that lays out a methodological perspective, it includes the title essay for the volume Reading Prophetic Books as well as selections of papers devoted to Isaiah, Jeremiah in both its Masoretic and Septuagint forms, Ezekiel, individual books from the Twelve Prophets, and the reading of biblical texts in Qumran, Rabbinic, and Targumic literature.

The Royal God Allan Rosengren Petersen, 1998-05-01 Critically tests Mowinckel's hypothesis about the enthronement festival of Yahweh and asks whether this theory finds any support in the epic literature of Ugarit. Petersen tests Sigmund Mowinckel's classical hypothesis about the enthronement festival of Yahweh and especially whether this theory, as urged by the followers of Mowinckel, finds any support in the epic literature of Ugarit. A careful study of the two corpora of texts, the Old Testament Psalms and the Ugaritic Baal cycle, together with a discussion of the methodology of the cultic interpretation, shows the weaknesses of the hypothesis. In the history of scholarship, the idea of an enthronement festival of Marduk has been arbitrarily transferred from Babylon to Jerusalem and hence to Ugarit with little basis in the relevant texts. In fact, the method of cultic interpretation is to be rejected since its circularity of argumentation determines the result of the analysis beforehand.
