Textual Life Of The Savants:

The A to Z of Iceland Gudmundur Halfdanarson, 2010-05-10 While Iceland is the second largest inhabited island in Europe with only 313 000 inhabitants in 2007 the Icelanders form one of the smallest independent nations in the world Around two thirds of the population lives in the capital Reykjavík and its suburbs while the rest is spread around the inhabitable area of the country Until fairly recently the Icelandic nation was unusually homogeneous both in cultural and religious terms in 1981 around 98 percent of the nation was born in Iceland and 96 percent belonged to the Lutheran state church or other Lutheran religious sects In 2007 these numbers were down to 89 and 86 percent respectively reflecting the rapidly growing multicultural nature of Icelandic society The A to Z of Iceland traces Iceland's history and provides a compass for the direction the country is heading This is done through its chronology introductory essays appendixes map bibliography and hundreds of cross referenced dictionary entries on important persons places events and institutions and significant political economic social and cultural aspects

Nationalism and Ethnicity in a Hindu Kingdom D. Gellner, J. Pfaff-Czarnecka, J. Whelpton, 2012-12-06 With its systematic coverage of different groups this book demonstrates how similar trends of ethnic formation are affecting all parts of Nepal Yet within the boundaries of a single culturally diverse state very different forms of ethnicity have emerged This is a truly thematic collection with a well defined focus on the important contemporary topics of ethnic identity and nationalism The importance of the theme is self evident in a world attempting to come to grips with such problems in virtually all modern states Anyone with an interest in contemporary Nepal should study this volume Nepal is the only officially Hindu kingdom in the world and remains so in spite of a revolution or people's movement in 1990 which overthrew the partyless Panchayat regime and instituted a multiparty constitutional monarchy Since November 1994 it has also had an elected Communist government the first of its kind in South Asia This volume takes a long term view of the various processes of ethnic and national development that have been displayed both before and after 1990 It brings together twelve carefully chosen ethnographic and historical chapters covering all of the major ethnic groups and regions of Nepal

The Return of Ainu Katarina Sjöberg, 2013-10-31 First Published in 1993 This book is the outcome of a project called Intercultural Relations in Japan with Special Reference to the Integration of the Ainu The author's main concern is the phenomenon called Fourth World Populations After having read a book entitled Aina by the French linguist Pierre Naert she decided to investigate further the Ainu people and their integration into the Japanese nation state

Historical Dictionary of Iceland Gudmundur Halfdanarson, 2008-10-23 The second edition of the Historical Dictionary of Iceland traces Iceland's history and provides a compass for the direction the country is heading This is done through its chronology introductory essays appendixes map bibliography and hundreds of cross referenced dictionary entries on important persons places events and institutions and significant political economic social and cultural aspects

A Politics of Presence Peter Pels, 2013-12-16 Christian missions in Africa are commonly viewed as a blatant example of ethnocentrism

This stereotype partly exists because the day to day interaction between missionaries and Africans has so rarely been studied This book shows how Africans and missionaries co produced a Catholic Church in the Uluguru mountains of Eastern Tanzania in the late colonial period thereby adapting each others routines in the fields of initiation education magic and religion It explores how the presence of the mission resulted in a rift between spiritual and worldly magic and in the underdevelopment of the capacity of Waluguru to manage their own practices of revelation Writing on Ice Vilhjalmur Stefansson,2001

Between 1906 and 1918 anthropologist and explorer Vilhjalmur Stefansson went on three long expeditions to the Alaskan and Canadian Arctic He wrote voluminously about his travels and observations as did others Stefansson s fame was partly fueled by a series of controversies involving envious competitors in the race for public recognition While many anthropological works refer to his writings and he continues to be cited in ethnographic and historical works on indigenous peoples of the North American Arctic particularly the Inuit his successes in exploration the discovery and mapping of some of the last remaining land on earth have overshadowed his anthropological work Writing on Ice utilizes his extensive fieldwork diaries now in Dartmouth s Special Collections and contemporary photographs and sketches some never before published to bring to life the anthropology of the Arctic explorer G sli P lsson situates the diaries in the context of that era s anthropological practice early 20th century expeditionary power relations and the North American community surrounding Stefansson He also examines the tension between the rhetoric of ethnography and exploration the notion of the friendly Arctic and the reality of fieldwork and exploration partly with reference to Stefansson s silence about his Inuit family

Global Assemblages Aihwa Ong,Stephen J. Collier,2008-04-30 Provides an exciting approach to some of the most contentious issues in discussions around globalization bioscientific research neoliberalism governance from the perspective of the anthropological problems they pose in other words in terms of their implications for how individual and collective life is subject to technological political and ethical reflection and intervention Offers a ground breaking approach to central debates about globalization with chapters written by leading scholars from across the social sciences Examines a range of phenomena that articulate broad structural transformations technoscience circuits of exchange systems of governance and regimes of ethics or values Investigates these phenomena from the perspective of the anthropological problems they pose Covers a broad range of geographical areas Africa the Middle East East and South Asia North America South America and Europe Grapples with a number of empirical problems of popular and academic interest from the organ trade to accountancy to pharmaceutical research to neoliberal reform Dresden Elizabeth A. Ten Dyke,2014-05-22 The collapse of the German Democratic Republic prompted the East Germans to confront their personal cultural and international past This study of the Wende the turn of events in 1989 is based on ethnographic and anthropological research conducted in the early 1990s Liz Ten Dyke has developed a finely nuanced portrait of the city and its residents as they were caught up in the economic political and social turmoil that characterized the immediate post socialist period By weaving together scholarly research oral history and ethnographic excursions or narratives of salient experiences this book makes an important contribution to the study of social aspects of the past Moving beyond paradigms presently shaping the study of memory it details the paradoxes and contradictions inherent in remembering making manifest the link between such contradictions and larger symbolic and political economic contexts In this way the author situates the study of memory in history and shows that it is the mutability of memory in conjunction with the uncertainty of history that render the past a dynamic and powerful force in human society

Nordic Tourism Colin Michael Hall,Dieter K. Müller,Jarkko Saarinen,2009 Tourism is an increasingly important industry in the Nordic countries Denmark Finland Iceland Norway and Sweden that is integral to economic social and sustainable development Nordic Tourism is the first comprehensive and accessible introduction to tourism in the region and also includes case studies from leading Nordic researchers on specific destinations attractions resources concepts and issues

Scandinavian Colonialism and the Rise of Modernity Magdalena Naum,Jonas M. Nordin,2013-02-20 In Scandinavian Colonialism and the Rise of Modernity Small Time Agents in a Global Arena archaeologists anthropologists and historians present case studies that focus on the scope and impact of Scandinavian colonial expansion in the North Africa Asia and America as well as within Scandinavia itself They discuss early modern thinking and theories made valid and developed in early modern Scandinavia that justified and propagated participation in colonial expansion The volume demonstrates a broad and comprehensive spectrum of archaeological anthropological and historical research which engages with a variation of themes relevant for the understanding of Danish and Swedish colonial history from the early 17th century until today The aim is to add to the on going global debates on the context of the rise of the modern society and to revitalize the field of early modern studies in Scandinavia where methodological nationalism still determines many archaeological and historical studies Through their theoretical commitment critical outlook and application of postcolonial theories the contributors to this book shed a new light on the processes of establishing and maintaining colonial rule hybridization and creolization in the sphere of material culture politics of resistance and responses to the colonial claims This volume is a fantastic resource for graduate students and researchers in historical archaeology Scandinavia early modern history and anthropology of colonialism

Unstructuring Chinese Society Allen Chun,2004-08-02 Unstructuring Chinese Society is a culmination of long term field work and archival research that challenges existing theories of social organisation and cultural change The book makes new sense of historical contradictions political conflicts and deep seated social transformations that have underlined the experience of colonial rule and the practices of local institutions in Hong Kong over the past century By focusing on the ongoing interactions of discourse practices and global local relations in cultural terms Unstructuring Chinese Society puts forth a fresh perspective in the field of historical anthropology while addressing ongoing critical concerns in postcolonial theory and our understanding of tradition and modernity

Savage Money C.A. Gregory,2005-08-02 This volume is not simply another general theory of world system It is a theoretically and ethnographically informed collection of essays which opens up new questions through an examination of concrete cases covering global and local questions of political economy The Hard People Patrick Heady,2013-12-19 Heady draws on both participant observation and interviews with older informants to trace the effects of recent exogenous technological and institutional changes and the way local people have responded to them His findings relate to such themes of recent history as nationalism regionalism and anti clericalism and contribute to the theoretical debate on the relevance of structuralist anthropology to European societies

Kinship and Beyond Sandra C. Bamford,James Leach,2009 The genealogical model has a long standing history in Western thought The contributors to this volume consider the ways in which assumptions about the genealogical model in particular ideas concerning sequence essence and transmission structure other modes of practice and knowledge making in domains well beyond what is normally labeled kinship The detailed ethnographic work and analysis included in this text explores how these assumptions have been built into our understandings of race personhood ethnicity property relations and the relationship between human beings and non human species The authors explore the influences of the genealogical model of kinship in wider social theory and examine anthropology s ability to provide a unique framework capable of bridging the social and natural sciences In doing so this volume brings fresh new perspectives to bear on contemporary theories concerning biotechnology and its effect upon social life Old Norse Religion in Long-Term Perspectives Anders

Andrén,Kristina Jennbert,2006-01-12 Consisting of more than 70 papers written by scholars concerned with pre Christian Norse religion the articles discuss subjects such as archaeology art history historical archaeology history history of ideas theological history literature onomastics Scandinavian languages and Scandinavian studies The interdisciplinary aim of the book brings together text based and material based researchers to improve scholarly exchange and dialogue and provide a variety of contributions that elucidate topics such as worldview and cosmology ritual and religious practice myth and memory as well as reception and present day use of old Norse religion Dwelling in Political Landscapes Anu Lounela,Eeva

Berglund,Timo Kallinen,2019-05-22 People all over the globe are experiencing unprecedented and often hazardous situations as environments change at speeds never before experienced This edited collection proposes that anthropological perspectives on landscape have great potential to address the resulting conundrums The contributions build on broadly phenomenological structuralist and multi species approaches to environmental perception and experience but they also argue for incorporating political power into analysis alongside dwelling cosmology and everyday practice The book s 13 ethnographically rich chapters explore how the material and the conceptual are entangled in and as landscapes but it also looks at how these processes unfold at many scales in time and space involving different actors with different powers Thus it reaches towards new methodologies and new ways of using anthropology to engage with the sense of crisis concerning environment movements of people climate change and other planetary transformations Dwelling in political landscapes contemporary anthropological perspectives builds substantially upon anthropological work by Tim Ingold Anna Tsing and

Philippe Descola and on related work beyond which emphasises the ongoing and open ended yet historically conditioned ways in which humans and nonhumans produce the environments they inhabit In such work landscapes are understood as the medium and outcome of meaningful life activities where humans like other animals dwell This means that landscapes are neither social cultural nor natural but socio natural Protesting against and moving on from the proverbial dualisms of modern Western and maybe capitalist thought is only the first step in renewing anthropology s methodology for the current epoch however The contributions ask how seemingly disconnected temporal representational economic and other systemic dynamics fold back on lived experience that are materialised in landscapes Foremost through studying how socially valued landscapes become irreversibly disturbed commodified or subjected to wilful markings or erasures the book explores a number of approaches to how landscapes are entangled in the ways people gather and organise themselves Mindful of troubling changes in Earth Systems all the authors argue from empirics They show that processes of landscape change are always both habitual and laden with choices That is landscape change is political Undoubtedly landscape politics is bound up not just in how nature has been imagined but in long histories of consumption Today an alarming quest for raw materials and energy continues to change both political and geological formations Meanwhile dominant socio political aspirations mean the exploitation of staggering volumes of cheap resources like fossil fuels in order to sustain economic processes that are as taken for granted as they are unsustainable Like anthropology generally this book attends to the contextual details buried in such planet scale pictures Building on traditional anthropological strengths many authors consider the details of how the past is brought into the present or erased from it in material flows and sensory awareness as well as in narratives that are explicitly linked to particular landscapes Colonial identity formation and the different ways that it links with how landscape is viewed and managed for instance for resource development for a global market whether in Southern Africa Israel Palestine the Canadian arctic or Indonesia is a particularly striking example of how to talk about landscape is also to talk about past present and future And as the idea that we inhabit the Anthropocene becomes commonplace the discipline can meaningfully discuss the current era as one of disavowed ruins as well as of poorly understood multispecies relations To think of landscape as historically produced across multiple scales does not mean ignoring its sensuous qualities let alone its role in cosmological systems On the contrary the analyses in the collection attend to the ways people s movements through the landscape produce it as a material and conceptual resource Taken together the book s ethnographic analyses take on board the unprecedented conditions under which people everywhere are having to make sense and forge relationships to the worlds they inhabit Since landscapes are not what they used to be neither can anthropology be

Snorri Sturluson and the Edda Kevin Wanner, 2008-08-07 Why would Snorri Sturluson c 1179 1241 the most powerful and rapacious Iclander of his generation dedicate so much time and effort to producing the Edda a text that is widely recognized as the most significant medieval source for pre Christian Norse myth and poetics Kevin J Wanner brings us a new account of the interests that motivated the production of this text and resolves the mystery of its genesis by demonstrating the intersection of Snorri's political and cultural concerns and practices. The author argues that the Edda is best understood not as an antiquarian labour of cultural conservation but as a present-centered effort to preserve skaldic poetry's capacity for conversion into material and symbolic benefits in exchanges between elite Icelanders and the Norwegian court. Employing Pierre Bourdieu's economic theory of practice, Wanner shows how modern sociological theory can be used to illuminate the cultural practices of the European Middle Ages. In doing so, he provides the most detailed analysis to date of how the Edda relates to Snorri's biography while shedding light on the arenas of social interaction and competition that he negotiated. A fascinating look at the intersections of political interest and cultural production, Snorri Sturluson and the Edda is a detailed portrait of both an important man and the society of his times.

Reimagining Political Ecology Aletta Biersack, James B. Greenberg, 2006-11-22. A collection of ethnographies grounded in second-generation political ecology which focuses on the interchanges between nature and culture and the local and the global.

The Saturated Sensorium Henning Laugerud, Hans Henrik Lohfert Jørgensen, Laura Katrine Skinnebach, 2015-06-30. The Saturated Sensorium is a book about the senses and their media in the Middle Ages, a book about what it meant to sense and perceive something. The book highlights the integrated and unified nature of medieval senses and media. It discusses the inter and multi-mediality of cultic and cultural artefacts as well as the sensorial and inter-sensorial dimensions of a wide array of cultural concepts and practices within medieval religion, art, archaeology, architecture, literature, music, food, social life, ritual, devotion, cognition, and memory. These domains of sensory and media history are dealt with not as isolated anthology articles in only loose connection with one another but as coordinate and comparative chapters of a coherent book, each covering a principal branch of the cultural history of the medieval senses. Across a number of academic disciplines, specialists address the interdisciplinary and compound character of visus (sight), auditus (hearing), tactus (touch), olfactus (smell), and gustus (taste), showing that there was far more to the senses and to sense experience than these five classical Aristotelian categories might suggest. A plentiful variety of sensory modes interacted, crossed, and permeated each other in mutually entangled and braided ways. The saturated sensorium nurtured the sacred and secular practices of mediation, representation, and consumption; the embodied and mental concepts of sanctity, memory, and imagery; the physical and spiritual spaces of environment, cult, and burial; the material and visual culture of sacraments, sensation, and incarnation.

Historical Biblical Archaeology and the Future Thomas Evan Levy, 2016-04-08. Joint winner of the 2011 Biblical Archaeology Society Publication Award in the category Best Scholarly Book on Archaeology. The Archaeology of the Holy Land is undergoing major change. Historical Biblical Archaeology and the Future describes the paradigm shift brought about by objective, science-based dating methods, geographic information systems, anthropological models, and digital technology tools. The book serves as a model for how researchers can investigate the relationship between ancient texts, both sacred and profane, and the archaeological record. Influential archaeologists and biblical scholars examine a range of texts, materials, and cultures the Vedas and India the Homeric legends and Greek Classical Archaeology the Sagas and Icelandic archaeology Islamic Archaeology and the Umayyad Abbasid and Ayyubid periods The groundbreaking essays offer a foundation for future research in biblical archaeology ancient Jewish history and biblical studies
