    Textualizing the Feminine Shari Benstock,1991   Conquering the Reign of Femeny Angela Jane Weisl,1995 Close study of Chaucer s most important works shows how he used gender issues to extend the range of romance The paradox of romance as a genre is that it contains multiple possibilities yet remains profoundly constrained by its own terms and conventions Through a close reading of several of Chaucer s most important works Dr Weisl examines Chaucer s use of gender issues to explore and challenge this genre She argues that Chaucer s complex treatment of the romance following both continental and Middle English traditions experiments with and tests romance conventions Each chapter looks indetail at one or more of Chaucer s works examining their different approaches to the problems of gender and showing how this is closely connected with genre Subjects addressed include the feminised private spaces in Troilus and Criseydewhich protect Criseyde but are inevitably penetrated by male power the masculine imperatives of the epic which challenge the limits of the feminised romance in the Knight sTale and the speech of its heroine Emelye who questions the assumptions of the genre itself Canacee in the Squire s Tale who rejects the stereotyped role of the heroine and the romance world in the Tale of SirThopas without a heroine at all Dr ANGELA JANE WEISLis visiting assistant professor of English and Women s Studies at Wittenberg University Ohio   Women and Words in Saudi Arabia Saddeka Arebi,1994 This study explores how contemporary Saudi women writers use their writings as a way to gain control over the rules of cultural discourse in their society The author examines the work of nine influential women writers and presents excerpts of their writings which appear here for the first time in English   New Books on Women and Feminism ,1991   Feminist Bookstore News ,1991

    Re-viewing Classics of Joyce Criticism Janet Egleson Dunleavy,1991   Waging War, Waging Peace Saddeka Mohamed Arebi,1991   Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,1992   New Literature on Women ,1992   Library Journal ,1991 Includes beginning Sept 15 1954 and on the 15th of each month Sept May a special section School library journal ISSN 0000 0035 called Junior libraries 1954 May 1961 Also issued separately   Telling it Slant Jane Marie Garrity,1994

    Step-daughters of England Jane Garrity,2003 By reading the work of the British modernists Dorothy Richardson Sylvia Townsend Warner Mary Butts and Virginia Woolf through the lens of material culture this text argues that women s imaginative work is inseparable from their ambivalent complicated relation to Britain s imperial history   Choice ,1991

    American Bookseller ,1991   American Book Publishing Record ,1991   Bibliographic Index ,1991   Who's who in American Education ,1989   "With Time, who Promised to Reveale" Mary Helen Truglia,2023 This dissertation investigates the interaction between the formal categories of genre and the social categories of gender in literary works from the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries in England Previous scholarship tends to recover traditional genres in the service of bringing forth under represented voices This project questions codified generic and gendered boundaries to explore how aspects of feminist queer and intertextual theories can allow for new readings of early modern English texts Thus it considers the triangulated interplay among lyric poetry romance and epic Genre criticism has understood generic mixing in the early modern period to be creating harmonious forms or simply displaying the author s learnedness I argue that generic juxtaposition actively frustrates reconciliation genres battle with one another rather than harmonize Generic mixing is an authorial strategy that emphasizes gendered frictions In addition to navigating interwoven generic designs female authors alter the ways in which they take on aspects of the genre s they write within and among to address and argue for female subjectivity My project considers genre theory as a means of accounting for connections between literary knowledge and experience Moments of overlap and intermingling between genres and gendered norms can be understood not simply in terms of closure and fixity but also potentiality and creativity I analyze poetry and prose in the works of Mary Wroth Isabella Whitney William Shakespeare John Milton Lucy Hutchinson Hester Pulter and Margaret Cavendish I argue that their work highlights women s agency and complications to that agency rather than remaining content with the representations of women as objects for male imaginative play This project adds to criticism which questions the limits of normative definitions of femininity and authorship I read female authors as agents engaged in the process of creatively accommodating their works to acknowledge women s social and textual realities
