The Throne of the Great Mogul in Dresden Dror Wahrman, 2023-04-25 A masterful deciphering of an extraordinary art object illuminating some of the biggest questions of the eighteenth century The Throne of the Great Mogul 1701-8 is a unique work of European decorative art an intricate miniature of the court of the Mughal emperor Aurangzeb depicted during the emperor's birthday celebrations It was created by the jeweler Johann Melchior Dinglinger in Dresden and purchased by the Saxon prince Augustus the Strong for an enormous sum Constructed like a theatrical set made of gold silver thousands of gemstones and amazing enamel work it consists of 164 pieces that together tell a detailed story Why did Dinglinger invest so much time and effort in making this piece Why did Augustus in the midst of a political and financial crisis purchase it And why did the jeweler secrete in it messages wholly unrelated to the prince or to the Great Mogul In answering these questions Dror Wahrman while shifting scales from microhistory to global history opens a window onto major historical themes of the period the nature of European absolutism the princely politics of the Holy Roman Empire the changing meaning of art in the West the surprising emergence of a cross continental lexicon of rulership shared across the Eastern Hemisphere and the enactment in jewels and gold of quirky contemporary theories about the global history of religion

Defoe and the Dutch Margaret J-M Sönmez, 2015-10-28 The novels of Daniel Defoe are set in years during which two Anglo-Dutch wars were fought a Dutch king took over the English throne and the primacy of the Dutch in Northern European commerce was in the process of being overtaken by the English At the time of these novels publication the geo-physical political and cultural achievements of the United Provinces were still remarked upon as extraordinary while so many people had travelled between the two countries that Dutch communities in England and English communities in the United Provinces were unremarkable Defoe's personal professional and political interests lay parallel and very close to stereotypically Dutch affairs such as tolerance of dissenting Christianity the promotion of trade as the source of a country's wealth and Court Whig specifically Williamite interests In spite of this the many Dutch elements in his novels are not always evident and the body of his fiction has not previously been examined from this perspective Defoe and the Dutch Places Things People explores what English readers of seventeenth and early eighteenth century English fiction and non fiction knew about the Dutch what images of the Dutch they were exposed to and what significance these images may have had Against that background it investigates how Dutch elements are used or referred to in nine novels attributed to Daniel Defoe From the ubiquity of Dutch ships and the Dutch bill of exchange to the disallowing of Dutch martial heroism and the exchange of gifts in Dutch weddings images and associations of Dutch places things and people in Defoe's novels are woven into the fabric of the narratives The novels uses of these and many other Dutch motifs or images are shown to avoid crude or negative stereotypes and to be complex subtle and sensitive to the real life events and contexts of the fictions while also participating in a mode of representation that is overridingly emblematic

Traces of Vermeer Jane Jelley, 2017-07-14 Johannes Vermeer's luminous paintings are loved and admired around the world yet we do not understand how they were made We see sunlit spaces the glimmer of satin silver and linen we see the softness of a hand on a lute string or letter We recognise the distilled impression of a moment of time and we feel it to be real We might hope for some answers from the experts but they are confounded too Even with the modern technology available they do not know why there is no evidence of any preliminary drawing why there are shifts in focus and why his pictures are unusually blurred Some wonder if he might possibly have used a camera obscura to capture what he saw before him The few traces Vermeer has left behind tell us little there are no letters or diaries and no reports of him at work Jane Jelley has taken a new path in this detective story A painter herself she has worked with the materials of his time the cochineal insect and lapis lazuli the sheep bones soot earth and rust She shows us how painters made their pictures layer by layer she investigates old secrets and hears travellers tales She explores how Vermeer could have used a lens in the creation of his masterpieces The clues were there all along After all this time now we can unlock the studio door and catch a glimpse of Vermeer inside painting light
