Science and Technology in the National Interest Institute of Medicine, National Academy of Engineering, National Academy of Sciences, Committee on Science, Engineering, and Public Policy, Committee on Ensuring the Best Presidential and Federal Advisory Committee Science and Technology Appointments, 2005-02-23 In 2004 an ad hoc committee was charged with preparing this third report examining the most senior S T appointments to federal government positions and updating the accompanying list of the most urgent S T presidential appointments Sufficient changes have occurred since the National Academies 2000 report on presidential appointments including the 2001 terrorist attacks the anthrax deaths the reorganization of homeland security activities in the federal government new developments in S T and concerns about the politicization of S T decision making and advice to warrant this new edition In contrast with previous reports on the subject this one covers not only presidential appointments to top S T leadership positions but also the appointment of scientists engineers and health professionals to serve on federal advisory committees that focus on science based policy or on the review of research proposals The committee recognizes that other areas of federal responsibility are as important as S T but S T appointments are the only ones within its purview Handbook of Education Policy Research Lora

Cohen-Vogel, Peter Youngs, Janelle Scott, 2025-08-15 The second edition of the Handbook of Education Policy Research the largest volume published in AERA's history addresses a variety of policy and contextual issues in early childhood K 12 and postsecondary education that have received extensive empirical attention during the past 15 years With the pandemic and social turmoil as a backdrop the editors build on the breadth and depth of the first edition while expanding the scope of the project to include subjects methods theories and analyses that have contributed powerfully to the study of education policy and politics in the 2010s and 2020s The field has become more comprehensive and inclusive and the authors represent a diversity of racial ethnic and gender identities and intellectual and disciplinary orientations Most chapters come from multiple authors reflecting the multi sourced development of research in education policy since the first volume was published This compilation consists of 70 chapters and nine commentaries that map past present and future directions of the field and richly attend to critical issues of interest to students researchers policy makers and practitioners Civic Engagement in Food System Governance Alan R. Hunt, 2015-10-05 The local food movement is one of the most active of current civil engagement social movements This work presents primary evidence from over 900 documents interviews and participant observations and provides the first descriptive history of local food movement national policy achievements in the US from 1976 to 2013 and in the UK from 1991 to 2013 together with reviews of both the American and British local food movements It provides a US UK comparative context significantly updating earlier comparisons of American British and European farm and rural policies The comparative perspective shows that over time more effective strategies for national policy change required social movement building strategies such as collaborative policy coalitions capacity building for smaller organizations and policy entrepreneurship for joining together separate rural farming food and health interests In contrast narrowly defined single issue campaigns often undermined long term policy change even if short term wins emerged By profiling interviews of American and English movement leaders policymakers and funders the book demonstrates that democratic participation in food policy is best supported when funders incentivize groups to work together and overcome their differences

The First Amerasians Yuri W. Doolan, 2024 During the 1950s thousands of mixed race children were born to US servicemen and local Korean women in US occupied South Korea Assumed to be the progeny of camptown women or military prostitutes their presence created a major problem for the image of US democracy in the world at a time when the nation was vying for Cold War allegiances abroad As mixed race children became a discernible population around US military encampments in South Korea communists seized upon the image of those left behind by their GI fathers as evidence of US imperialism irresponsibility and immorality in the Third World Aware of this and keen to redeem the image of America's intervention in Asia US citizens spearheading the postwar recovery of recently war torn South Korea embarked upon a campaign in US Congress to bring as many of these children home By the early 1960s American philanthropists missionaries and voluntary agencies had succeeded in constructing the figure of the abandoned and mistreated Amerasian orphan to lobby US Congress for the quick passage of intercountry adoption laws They also gained the sympathies of American families eager to welcome these racially different children into the intimate confines of their homes Although the adoptions of Korean Amerasian children helped to promote an image of humanitarian rescue and Cold War racial liberalism in 1950s and 1960s America there was one other problem many of these children were not actually orphans but had been living with their Korean mothers in the camptown communities surrounding US military bases prior to adoption Their placements into American families relied upon dehumanizing constructions of these women as hardened prostitutes who did not even love their own children South Korea as a backwards racist society bent up on Confucian tradition and pure bloodlines and the United States as a welcoming home in an era of intense racial segregation The First Amerasians tells the powerful oftentimes heartbreaking story of how Americans created and used the concept of the Amerasian to remove thousands of mixed race children from their Korean mothers to adoptive US homes during the 1950s and 1960s In doing so Yuri W Doolan reveals how the Amerasian is not simply a mixed race person fathered by a US serviceman in Asia nor a racial term used to describe individuals with one American and one Asian parent like its popular definition suggests. Rather the Amerasian is a Cold War construct whose rescue has been utilized to repudiate accusations of US imperialism and achieve sentimental victories in the aftermath of wars not quite won by the military. From such constructions Americans lobbied Congress twice first in the 1950s to establish international adoption laws that would lead to the placement of hundreds of thousands of Korean children in the United States then later in the 1980s when the plight of mixed race Koreans would be invoked again to argue for Amerasian immigration laws culminating in the migrations of tens of thousands of mixed race Vietnamese and their relatives. Beyond Cold War historiography this book also shows how in using the figure of the mistreated and abandoned Amerasian in need of rescue Americans caused harm to actual people mixed race Koreans and their mothers specifically as children were placed into adoptive homes during an era where few regulations or safeguards existed to protect them from abuse negligence or racial hostilities in the US and many Korean mothers were coerced both physically and monetarily to relinquish their children to American authorities.
