The Origins Of Cities In Dryfarming Syria And Mesopotamia In The Third Millennium Bc:

The Origins of Cities in Dry-farming Syria and Mesopotamia in the Third Millennium B.C. Harvey Weiss, 1986 The mid third millennium is marked by unprecedented urban growth from Egypt and the Levantine coast to the Iranian plateau and the Indus valley Although urbanization in the southern Mesopotamian alluvium is reasonably well understood details of the emergence of cities in other regions remain sketchy When did cities first appear on the dry farming plains of Syria and Mesopotamia and what accounts for their development How might northern urbanization be a response to or in what ways might urbanization in the two regions reflect independent social and economic processes Recent excavations provide new data that force reconsideration of ancient urbanization within the dry farming zone along the interior of the Zagros Taurus arc in Syria and Iraq The essays in this volume which grew out of a symposium hosted by the American Schools of Oriental Research in Chicago in December 1984 specifically treat third millennium urbanization in the dry farming zones of Syria and Iraq The contrast of north and south informs each essay and this focus points to additional issues and problems likely to dominate future archaeological research agendas

Mesopotamia and the Bible Mark W. Chavalas, K. Lawson Younger, Jr., 2003-12-01 The study of Syro Mesopotamian civilization has greatly advanced in the past twenty five years In particular the renewed interest in Eastern or Mesopotamian Syria has radically altered our understanding of not only the ancient Near East but of the Bible as well With Syria east of the Euphrates becoming one of the most active areas of archaeological investigation in the entire Near East the need for a synthesis of this research and its integration with the Hebrew Bible has greatly increased This volume charts the state of our knowledge following a general chronological flow and will appeal not only to scholars of the ancient Near East but also to Biblical specialists interested in the historical and religious backgrounds to the Israelite and Judahite kingdoms

Archaeozoology of the Near East Marjan Mashkour, Mark Beech, 2017-02-28 This two part volume brings together over 60 specialists to present 31 papers on the latest research into archaeozoology of the Near East The papers are wide ranging in terms of period and geographical coverage from Palaeolithic rock shelter assemblages in Syria to Byzantine remains in Palestine and from the Caucasus to Cyprus Papers are grouped into thematic sections examining patterns of Palaeolithic and Neolithic subsistence in northern Mesopotamia Anatolia and the Iranian plateau Palaeolithic to Neolithic faunal remains from Armenia animal exploitation in Bronze Age urban sites new evidence concerning pastoralism nomadism and mobility aspects of domestication and animal exploitation in the Arabian peninsula several case studies on ritual animal deposits and specific analyses of patterns of animal exploitation at urban sites in Turkey Palestine and Jordan This important collection of significant new work builds on the well established foundation of previous ICAZ publications to present the very latest results of archaeozoological research in the prehistory of this formative region in the development of animal exploitation

The Sumerian World Harriet Crawford, 2013-08-29 The Sumerian World explores the archaeology history and art of southern Mesopotamia and its relationships with its neighbours from c 3 000 2

000BC Including material hitherto unpublished from recent excavations the articles are organised thematically using evidence from archaeology texts and the natural sciences This broad treatment will also make the volume of interest to students looking for comparative data in allied subjects such as ancient literature and early religions Providing an authoritative comprehensive and up to date overview of the Sumerian period written by some of the best qualified scholars in the field The Sumerian World will satisfy students researchers academics and the knowledgeable layperson wishing to understand the world of southern Mesopotamia in the third millennium

Economy and Settlement in the Near East

Naomi F. Miller, 1990-01-29 Archaeological interpretations are built on many types of evidence While no one method or analysis can fully reveal an extinct economic system the papers in this volume are each focused on a single category of data to elucidate different aspects of ancient economy and settlement settlement pattern Khurban plains trace elements in sealing clays Tepe Gawra seeds and charcoal Tepe Hissar Malyan Kurban Hoyuk economic texts Nippur MASCA Vol 7 Supplement

The Menial Art of Cooking Sarah R. Graff, Enrique Rodríguez-Alegría, 2012-10-15 Although the archaeology of food has long played an integral role in our understanding of past cultures the archaeology of cooking is rarely integrated into models of the past The cooks who spent countless hours cooking and processing food are overlooked and the forgotten players in the daily lives of our ancestors The Menial Art of Cooking shows how cooking activities provide a window into other aspects of society and as such should be taken seriously as an aspect of social cultural political and economic life This book examines techniques and technologies of food preparation the spaces where food was cooked the relationship between cooking and changes in suprahousehold economies the religious and symbolic aspects of cooking the relationship between cooking and social identity and how examining foodways provides insight into social relations of production distribution and consumption Contributors use a wide variety of evidence including archaeological data archival research analysis of ceramics fauna botany glass artifacts stone tools murals and painted ceramics ethnographic analogy and the distribution of artifacts across space to identify signs of cooking and food processing left by ancient cooks The Menial Art of Cooking is the first archaeological volume focused on cooking and food preparation in prehistoric and historic settings around the world and will interest archaeologists social anthropologists sociologists and other scholars studying cooking and food preparation or subsistence

The Development of Pre-State Communities in the Ancient Near East Diane Bolger, Louise C. Maguire, 2010-04-30 This book explores the dynamics of small scale societies in the ancient Near East by examining the ways in which particular communities functioned and interacted and by moving beyond the broad neo evolutionary models of social change which have characterised many earlier approaches By focusing on issues of diversity scale and context it considers the ways in which economy crafts technology and ritual were organised the roles played by mortuary practices and households in the structure and development of ancient societies and the importance of agency identity ethnicity gender community and cultural interaction for the rise of socio economic complexity The contributors to this volume are well known archaeologists in the field of Near Eastern studies all are currently engaged in fieldwork or research in Cyprus the Levant or Turkey The variety and depth of the research they present here reflect the richness of the archaeological record in the cradle of civilisation and convey the vibrancy of current interpretive approaches within the field of Near Eastern prehistory today

Early Urbanizations in the Levant Raphael Greenberg, 2002-07-01 Early Urbanizations in the Levant examines the first cycle of urbanization collapse and reurbanization in the 4th 2nd millennium BCE Levant The core of the study is a detailed analysis of settlement fluctuations and material culture development in the Hula Valley at the crossroads between modern Israel Syria and Lebanon Focusing on field data and a close reading of the material text the book emphasizes the variety exhibited in patterns of cultural and social change when small densely settled regions are carefully scrutinized Using the concepts of time space edges and shifting loci of power the study suggests new scenarios to explain changes in the regional archaeological record and considers the implications these have for existing reconstructions of social evolution in the larger region The Levant is shown to be composed of a fluid mosaic of polities that moved along multiple if often parallel paths towards and away from complexity This book should be of interest to anyone studying the archaeology of early state formation in the Near East particularly in areas of secondary urbanization Palestine Syria and Anatolia With its detailed consideration of settlement patterns and ceramic production it is also indispensable for the study of the early history of the two major sites in the area Tel Dan and Tel Hazor being the first attempt to integrate the results of excavations at these sites with the information obtained in archaeological surveys of the valley which sustained them

Life in the Ancient Near East, 3100-332 B.C.E. Daniel C. Snell, 1997-01-01 In this sweeping overview of life in the ancient Near East Daniel Snell surveys the history of the region from the invention of writing five thousand years ago to Alexander the Great's conquest in 332 B C E The book is the first comprehensive history of the social and economic conditions affecting ordinary people and of the relations between governments and peoples in ancient Egypt Jordan Israel Iran Iraq Lebanon Syria and Turkey To set Near East developments in a broader context the author also provides brief contrasting views of India China Greece and Etruscan Italy Snell organizes his book chronologically in time spans of about five hundred years and considers broad continuities Drawing on the latest scholarship in many fields and in many languages he sets forth a detailed picture of what is known about the demography social groups family women labor land and animal management crafts trade money and government of the ancient Near East For general readers with an interest in historical events that have influenced the development of Europe and the Middle East for specialists seeking a broader understanding of early periods of Middle Eastern history and for anyone with an interest in the Bible this book offers a fascinating tour of life in ancient Western Asia

Polities and Power Steven E. Falconer, Charles L. Redman, 2022-09-13 This distinctive book is the first to address the topic of landscape archaeology in early states from a truly global perspective It provides an excellent introduction to and overview of the discipline today The volume grew out of the Fifth Biennial Meeting of the Complex Societies Group whose theme States and the Landscape paid tribute to the work of Robert McC Adams When Adams began publishing in the 1960s the interdependence of cities and their countrysides and the information revealed through the spatial patterning of communities went largely unrecognized Today as this useful collection makes clear these interpretive insights are fundamental to all archaeologists who investigate the roles of complex polities in their landscapes Polities and Power features detailed studies from an intentionally disparate array of regions including Mesoamerica Andean South America southwestern Asia East Africa and the Indian subcontinent Each chapter or pair of chapters is followed by a critical commentary In concert these studies strive to infer social political and economic meaning from archaeologically discerned landscapes associated with societies that incorporate some expression of state authority The contributions engage a variety of themes including the significance of landscapes as they condition and reflect complex polities the interplay of natural and cultural elements in defining landscapes of state archaeological landscapes as ever dynamic entities and archaeological landscapes as recursive structures reflected in palimpsests of human activity Individually many of these contributions are provocative even controversial Taken together they reveal the contours of landscape archaeology at this particular evolutionary moment
