Shakespeare's Histories on Screen Jennie M. Votava, 2023-06-29 This volume reframes the critical conversation about Shakespeare's histories and national identity by bringing together two growing bodies of work: early modern race scholarship and adaptation theory. Theorizing a link between adaptation and intersectionality, it demonstrates how over the past thirty years race has become a central and constitutive part of British and American screen adaptations of the English histories. Available to expanding audiences via digital media platforms, these adaptations interrogate the dialectic between Shakespeare's cultural capital and racial reckonings on both sides of the Atlantic and across time. By engaging contemporary representations of race, ethnicity, gender, sexuality, disability, and class, adaptation not only creates artefacts that differ from their source texts but also facilitates the conditions in which race and its intersections in the plays become visible. At the centre of this analysis stand two landmark 21st-century history adaptations that use non-traditional casting: the British TV miniseries The Hollow Crown (2012, 2016) and the American independent film H4 (2012), an all-Black Henry IV conflation. In addition to demonstrating how the 21st-century screen history illuminates both past and present constructions of embodied difference, these works provide a lens for reassessing two history adaptations from Shakespeare's 1990s box office renaissance when actors of colour were first cast in cinematic versions of the plays. As exemplified by these formal adaptations, reappropriations of race in history, non-traditional Shakespearean casting practices are also currently shaping digital culture's conversations about race in non-Shakespearean period dramas such as Bridgerton.

Situating the Feminist Gaze and Spectatorship in Postwar Cinema Marcelline Block, Angela Laflen, 2009-01-14 Marcelline Block's Situating the Feminist Gaze and Spectatorship in Postwar Cinema breaks new ground in exploring feminist film theory. It is a wide-ranging collection revisiting important theoretical questions as well as offering close analyses of films produced in the United States, France, England, Belgium, and Russia. This anthology investigates exciting areas of research for critical inquiry into film and gender studies as well as feminist, queer, and postfeminist theories and treats film texts from Marguerite Duras to 21st-century horror films from Agnès Varda's 2007 installation at the Pantheon to the post-Soviet Russian filmmakers Aleksei Balabanov and Valerii Todorovskii from Quentin Tarantino's Death Proof to Sofia Coppola's postfeminist trilogy from Chantal Akerman's transhistorical transgressive and transgendered gaze to the quantum gaze in Steven Spielberg's Jurassic Park from Hitchcock's good-looking blondes to the career woman in peril thriller among others. According to the semiotician Marshall Blonsky of the New School University in New York, given the breadth of the editor's choices, this volume makes a splendid contribution to feminist and cinematic fields as well as cultural and media studies, postmodernism, and postfeminism. It lends readers new eyes to view canonical and other film texts. David Sterritt, chairman of the National Society of Film Critics, states that this anthology should be required reading for students and scholars among other readers interested in the interaction of cinema with contemporary culture. Situating the Feminist Gaze and Spectatorship is prefaced by Jean Michel

Rabat's brilliant essay Mulvey was the First Hitchcock and Humor Wes D. Gehring, 2019-05-13 Woody Allen's Manhattan Murder Mystery has been described as a kind of Rear Window for retirees As this quote suggests an analysis of Alfred Hitchcock's methodical use of comedy in his films is past due One of Turner Classic Movies on screen scholars for their summer 2017 online Hitchcock class the author grew tired of misleading throwaway references to the director's comic relief This book examines what should be obvious Hitchcock systematically incorporated assorted types of comedy black humor parody farce screwball comedy and romantic comedy in his films to entertain his audience with comic thrillers Hitchcock & the Anxiety of Authorship Leslie H. Abramson, 2016-04-08 Hitchcock and the Anxiety of Authorship examines issues of cinema authorship engaged by and dynamized within the director's films A unique study of self reflexivity in Hitchcock's work from his earliest English silents to his final Hollywood features this book considers how the director's releases constitute ever shifting meditations on the conditions and struggles of creative agency in cinema Abramson explores how located in literal and emblematic sites of dramatic production exhibition and reception and populated by figures of directors actors and audiences Hitchcock's films exhibit a complicated often disturbing vision of authorship one that consistently problematizes rather than exemplifies the director's longstanding auteurist image Viewing Hitchcock in a striking new light Abramson analyzes these allegories of vexed agency in the context of his concepts of and commentary on the troubled association between cinema artistry and authorship as well as the changing cultural industrial theoretical and historical milieus in which his features were produced Accordingly the book illuminates how Hitchcock and his cinema register the constant dynamics that constitute film authorship Classical Myth in Alfred Hitchcock's Wrong Man and Grace Kelly Films Mark William Padilla, 2018-12-12 Mark Padilla's classical reception readings of Alfred Hitchcock features some of the director's most loved and important films and demonstrates how they are informed by the educational and cultural classicism of the director's formative years The six close readings begin with discussions of the production histories so as to theorize and clarify how classicism could and did enter the projects Exploration of the films through a classical lens creates the opportunity to explore new themes and ideological investments The result is a further appreciation of both the engine of the director's storytelling creativity and the expressionism of classicism especially Greek myth and art in British and American modernism The analysis organizes the material into two triptychs one focused on the three films sharing a wrong man pattern wrongly accused man goes on the run to clear himself the other treating the films starring the actress Grace Kelly Chapter One on The 39 Steps 1935 finds the origins of the wrong man plot in early 20th century British classicism and demonstrates that the movie utilizes motifs of Homer's Odyssey Chapter Two on Saboteur 1942 theorizes the impact of the director's memories of the formalism and myths associated with the Parthenon sculptures housed in the British Museum Chapter Three on North by Northwest participates in the myths of the hero Oedipus as associated with early Greek epic Freud Nietzsche and Sophocles Chapter Four on Dial M for Murder 1954 returns to Homer's Odyssey in the interpretive use of the lay of Demodocus a story about the sexual triangle of Hephaestus Aphrodite and Ares Chapter Five on Rear Window 1954 finds its narrative archetype in The Homeric Hymn to Aphrodite the erotic theme of Sirius the Dog Star also marks the film Chapter Six on To Catch a Thief 1955 offers the opportunity to break from mythic analogues and to consider the film's philosophical resonances Plato and Epicurus in the context of motifs coalesced around the god Dionysus Bacchus

Phantom Lady Christina Lane, 2020-02-04 Winner of the Mystery Writers of America's 2021 Edgar Allan Poe Award for Best Critical Biographical In 1933 Joan Harrison was a twenty six year old former salesgirl with a dream of escaping both her stodgy London suburb and the dreadful prospect of settling down with one of the local boys A few short years later she was Alfred Hitchcock's confidante and one of the Oscar nominated screenwriters of his first American film Rebecca Harrison had quickly grown from being the worst secretary Hitchcock ever had to one of his closest collaborators critically shaping his brand as the Master of Suspense Harrison went on to produce numerous Hollywood features before becoming a television pioneer as the producer of Alfred Hitchcock Presents A respected powerhouse she acquired a singular reputation for running amazingly smooth productions and defying anyone who posed an obstacle She built most of her films and series from the ground up She waged rough and tumble battles against executives and censors and even helped to break the Hollywood blacklist She teamed up with many of the most respected well known directors writers and actors of the twentieth century And she did it all on her own terms Author Christina Lane shows how this stylish stunning woman became Hollywood's most powerful female writer producer one whom history has since overlooked

Latin Hitchcock Dona Kercher, 2015-02-17 This study explores how five major directors Pedro Almod var Alejandro Amen bar Alex de la Iglesia Guillermo del Toro and Juan Jos Campanella modeled their early careers on Hitchcock and his film aesthetics In shadowing Hitchcock their works embraced the global aspirations his movies epitomize Each section of the book begins with an extensive study based on newspaper accounts of the original reception of Hitchcock's movies in either Spain or Latin America and how local preferences for genre glamour moral issues and humor affected their success The text brings a new approach to world film history showcasing both the commercial and artistic importance of Hitchcock in Spain and Latin America

Assembling Arguments Jonathan Buehl, 2016-01-20 Scientific arguments and indeed arguments in most disciplines depend on visuals and other nontextual elements however most models of argumentation typically neglect these important resources In Assembling Arguments Jonathan Buehl offers a concentrated study of scientific argumentation that is sensitive to both the historical and theoretical possibilities of multimodal persuasion as it advances two related claims First rhetorical theory when augmented with methods for reading nonverbal representations can provide the analytical tools needed to understand and appreciate multimodal scientific arguments Second science an inherently multimodal enterprise offers ideal subjects for developing general theories of multimodal rhetoric applicable across fields In developing these claims Buehl offers a comprehensive account of scientific persuasion as a multimodal process and develops a simple but productive framework for analyzing and teaching multimodal argumentation Comprising five case studies the book provides detailed treatments of argumentation in specific technological and historical contexts argumentation before World War I when images circulated by hand and by post argumentation during the mid twentieth century when computers were beginning to bolster scientific inquiry but images remained hand crafted products and argumentation at the turn of the twenty first century an era of digital revolutions and digital fraud Each study examines the rhetorical problems and strategies of specific scientists to investigate key issues regarding visualization and argument 1 establishing new instruments as reliable sources of visual evidence 2 creating novel arguments from reliable visual evidence 3 creating novel arguments with unreliable visual evidence 4 preserving the credibility of visualization practices and 5 creating multimodal artifacts before and in the era of digital circulation Given the growing enterprise of rhetorical studies and the field's contributions to communication practices in all disciplines rhetoricians need a comprehensive rhetoric of science one that accounts for the multimodal arguments that change our relation to reality Assembling Arguments argues that such rhetoric should enable the interpretation of visual scientific arguments and improve science writing instruction
