Stephens,Paul E. Ceruzzi,2015-06-02 If you want to know where you are you need a good clock The surprising connection between time and place is explored in Time and Navigation The Untold Story of Getting from Here to There the companion book to the National Air and Space Museum exhibition of the same name Today we use smartphones and GPS but navigating has not always been so easy The oldest clock is Earth itself and the oldest means of keeping time came from observing changes in the sky Early mariners like the Vikings accomplished amazing feats of navigation without using clocks at all Pioneering seafarers in the Age of Exploration used dead reckoning and celestial navigation later innovations such as sextants and marine chronometers honed these techniques by measuring latitude and longitude When explorers turned their sights to the skies they built on what had been learned at sea For example Charles Lindbergh used a bubble sextant on his record breaking flights World War II led to the development of new flight technologies notably radio navigation since celestial navigation was not suited for all weather military operations These forms of navigation were extended and enhanced when explorers began guiding spacecraft into space and across the solar system Astronauts combined celestial navigation technology with radio transmissions The development of the atomic clock revolutionized space flight because it could measure billionths of a second thereby allowing mission teams to navigate more accurately Scientists and engineers applied these technologies to navigation on earth to develop space based time and navigation services such as GPS that is used every day by people from all walks of life While the history of navigation is one of constant change and innovation it is also one of remarkable continuity Time and Navigation tells the story of navigation to help us understand where we have been and how we got there so that we can understand where we are going      Netscape 2 for Windows Elizabeth Castro,1996 More than 75 percent of all people browsing the World Wide Web use Netscape in part because of the program s many powerful features Netscape 2 0 the browser s just released major upgrade offers even more features all of which are fully explained in this new Visual QuickStart Guide Using the VQS series proven rich graphical approach the book helps readers go from installing the software to using its advanced capabilities Netscape 2 0 s new features include a built in emailer a much improved bookmark editor support for superscript and subscript text and a new plug in architecture that allows seamless integration of Quicktime movies Adobe Acrobat PDF documents and Director multimedia presentations right into Web pages
