Sister Death Beatrice Marovich, 2023-02-07 Winner 2024 Bela Kornitzer Alumni Award Drew University Life and death are commonly seen as representing the starkest of binaries Death is the ultimate adversary of all that lives Beatrice Marovich argues that such understandings of mortality have been deeply influenced by a strain of Christian political theology that has left its mark on both religious and secular narratives Adapting the figure of Sister Death from Saint Francis of Assisi she calls for recognizing that life and death are family Drawing on a wide range of sources from Toni Morrison to Jacques Derrida psychoanalysis to grassroots death positive movements Marovich critiques a racialized political theology that pits life and death against each other in a state of endless war In a time of extinctions it is necessary to disrupt this dominant story in order to apprehend death as a collective multispecies event Sister Death proposes an alternative view in which life and death are not mortal enemies destined for mutual destruction Instead they are engaged in a contested tense and sometimes mutually empowering form of connection a sisterhood Eloquent and approachable this book deftly integrates the insights of a number of disciplines to provide a profound reconsideration of the relations between life and death Sister Death also features a series of original works by the artist Krista Dragomer that stage an ongoing conceptual conversation with the text

The Miscellaneous Reports New York (State). Courts of Record, 1927 Art and Mourning Esther Dreifuss-Kattan, 2016-03-10 Art and Mourning explores the relationship between creativity and the work of self-mourning in the lives of 20th-century artists and thinkers. The role of artistic and creative endeavours is well known within psychoanalytic circles in helping to heal in the face of personal loss, trauma and mourning. In this book, Esther Dreifuss-Kattan, a psychoanalyst, art therapist and artist, analyses the work of major modernist and contemporary artists and thinkers through a psychoanalytic lens. In coming to terms with their own mortality, figures like Albert Einstein, Louise Bourgeois, Paul Klee, Eva Hesse and others were able to access previously unknown reserves of creative energy in their late works, as well as a new healing experience of time outside of the continuous temporality of everyday life. Dreifuss-Kattan explores what we can learn about using the creative process to face and work through traumatic and painful experiences of loss. Art and Mourning will inspire psychoanalysts and psychotherapists to understand the power of artistic expression in transforming loss and traumas into perseverance, survival and gain. Art and Mourning offers a new perspective on trauma and will appeal to psychoanalysts and psychotherapists, psychologists, clinical social workers and mental health workers, as well as artists and art historians.

Death, where is Your Sting? Regis Flaherty, 2011 Death is the ultimate equalizer. We all will die. What differs is how death is handled by various people. For some it evokes horror and despair. For others it is quiet acceptance. Still others embrace death with a surety of hope and faith. All religions have a philosophy and belief system to help adherents of that faith cope with this final reality. What meaning can we find in death? This is not primarily a philosophical question and it is not food for frivolous discussions. No, the question grabs us at a gut level. Its answer can be the difference between hope and despair. The Catholic Church promises an answer in the deposit of truth that it has cherished and protected since our Savior ascended into heaven with the promise of a return. This book explores what Catholic faith tells us.
