The Settlement of the Chonos Archipelago, Western Patagonia, Chile Omar Reyes, 2020-10-19 This book describes an archaeological investigation of human occupation in the northern area of the Patagonian archipelago in the far south of South America It is of global anthropological and archaeological interest dealing as it does with an archipelago characterised by a maze of islands fiords channels volcanoes and continental glaciers in an area which is still very sparsely inhabited with only scattered settlements It was one of the last parts of the continent to be populated by man with the arrival of marine hunter gatherer fishers The arrival of human beings in this area and their subsistence strategies in varied environments constitute a new example of man's ability to adapt over the course of his history It is also of interest to document how humans overcome some biogeographical barriers to occupy territories and how other kinds of barrier restrict movement and access to other regions leaving certain human groups isolated Two hunter gatherer traditions one marine and one pedestrian with very different cultural development processes coexisted in this part of Patagonia separated by less than 100 km of mountains volcanoes and glaciers There is no evidence of contact between them over their whole time sequence on the contrary the archaeological and bioanthropological evidence indicates two independent axes of movement one used by canoe groups along the Pacific coast and the other by pedestrian groups in the interior of the continent east of the Andes

Fletcher,Alec Zuercher Reichardt,2024-12-31 Conventional narratives of empires and globalization focus on oceans and coasts supposing that global connections are seaborne and that historical change proceeds inward from port cities into continental expanses This book offers a new perspective examining key inland areas around the world to show how interior regions have shaped global history Inlands brings together an interdisciplinary group of experts to explore the modern histories of inland regions across North and South America Africa Eurasia and Australasia from the American heartland to the Yangzi valley the Great Dismal Swamp to the Arabian Desert Together they argue that interior regions provide a fresh vantage point from which to rethink the history of global connection and disconnection Each chapter reconsiders national regional or imperial histories from an inland perspective demonstrating how such places have spurred global change Contributors reveal the critical role inlands and their Indigenous inhabitants have played in the development projection and contestation of state power showing how some interiors became essential to empire even as others developed in resistance to it By examining the struggle to integrate inland regions into wider networks of exchange this book also sheds light on the unevenness and the limits of contemporary globalization A new global history of interior spaces Inlands presents a bold challenge to dominant understandings of the making of today s connected world
