Sobukwe And Apartheid With A New Epilogue:

Ending Apartheid Jack Spence, David Welsh, 2014-06-06 The release of Nelson Mandela from twenty seven years imprisonment in 1990 and the free elections which followed four years later were among the most dramatic events of the twentieth century David Welsh and J E Spence here examine the complex forces which lay behind that drama They chart the rise and decline of apartheid ideology in South Africa the internal insurrection and increased international isolation which characterised the 1980s and the political roller coaster ride of the period after 1990 as constitutional negotiations got underway Based on extensive interviews with those involved Ending Apartheid traces the negotiating process in penetrating detail noting the political skills of de Klerk and Mandela in keeping their potentially unruly constituencies in line and avoiding the major violence that many had predicted Reaching agreement on a democratic constitution was a major achievement that surprised many sceptical observers but the book ends on a more sombre note Reviewing the period subsequent to the transition it argues that while progress has been made the future of South Africa s democracy is still far from assured Written by two eminent scholars with decades of experience teaching in the field Ending Apartheid is an invaluable resource for all students of South African politics seeking a deeper understanding of a defining episode in recent history

Robert Sobukwe - How can Man Die Better Benjamin Pogrund, 2015-06-26 I am greatly privileged to have known him and to have fallen under his spell His long imprisonment restriction and early death were a major tragedy for our land and the world ARCHBISHOP DESMOND TUTU on Sobukwe On 21 March 1960 Robert Mangaliso Sobukwe led a mass defiance of South Africa s pass laws He urged blacks to go to the nearest police station and demand arrest Police opened fire on a peaceful crowd in the township of Sharpeville and killed 69 people This protest changed the course of South Africa s history Sobukwe leader of the Pan Africanist Congress was jailed for three years for incitement At the end of his sentence the government rushed the so called Sobukwe Clause through Parliament to keep him in prison without a trial For the next six years Sobukwe was kept in solitary confinement on Robben Island On his release Sobukwe was banished to the town of Kimberley with very severe restrictions on his freedom until his death in February 1978 This book is the story of a South African hero and of the friendship between him and Benjamin Pogrund whose joint experiences and debates chart the course of a tyrannous regime and the growth of black resistance This new edition of How Can Man Die Better contains a number of previously unpublished photographs and an updated Epilogue

The Unbroken Chains of Apartheid Matsime Simon Mohapi, 2011-06-22 Before 1652 there were no labourers no workers no servants and no servitude All that was was labour of love Black people worked their own farms They were Masters on their own right The African land and its wealth gave our great grand parents the right to be Masters Black children are the children of Masters They have the right to know that the great are only great because we are on our knees They have the right to know because knowledge is power They must know that horrible accidents happened in South Africa after 1652 Historical accidents did occur Historical accidents which were deliberate and were designed to put the destiny of a South African Black child in suffering and poverty forever Then there was no poverty and no million orphans There were million cattle and million hectares of land There was human dignity the meaning of which was freedom from fear hatred and poverty Matsime Simon Mohapi from The Unbroken Chains of Apartheid South Africa New African, 1991 Eastern Europe, the Soviet Union, and Africa Chris Saunders, Helder Adegas Fonseca, Lena Dallywater, 2023-04-27 It is now widely recognised that a Cold War perspective falls short in unfolding the complex geographies of connections and the multipolarity of actions and transactions that were shaped through the movement of individuals and ideas from Africa to the East and from the East to Africa in the decades in which African countries moved to independence Adopting an interdisciplinary transregional perspective this volume casts new light on aspects of the role of Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union in the decolonisation of Africa Taking further themes explored in a collection of essays published by the editors in 2019 the twelve case studies by authors from South Africa Czech Republic Portugal Russia Hungary Italy Canada Serbia and Germany draw on new sources to explore the history of the ties that existed between African liberation movements and the socialist bloc some of which continue to influence relationships today Chapters contribute to three relevant main themes that resonate in a number of scholarly fields of inquiry ranging from Global Studies Transregional Studies Cold War Studies Global History to African Studies Eastern European Russian and Slavic Studies Reconsiderations Resources and Reverberations Drawing upon newly opened archives and combining transregional perspectives with sources in different languages chapters explicitly point out the shortcomings of past research and debates in the respective field They highlight new avenues which have been developing and which need to be further developed Reconsiderations Selected case studies address the resources of those being active and involved in decolonisation processes be it in East North West and South They reveal Which resources both material and intellectual are the actors drawing upon On the other hand From which resources are individuals on one side or the other reciprocally or intermittently intentionally kept away Resources Finally the third theme puts an emphasis on the historicity of the processes depicted Studies point to the gaps and dead ends of international support the paths that peter out but also to repercussions and reverberations up until today Reverberations Taken these three themes together the individual chapters contribute to the overall question of Which general historical narratives about the second half of the 20th century are changing based on these new research findings

The Price of Racial Reconciliation Ronald Walters, 2009-07-09 Presents the conceptual difficulties involved in the project of racial reconciliation by a comparative analysis of South African Truth and Reconciliation and the demand for Reparations in the United States

The 20th Century Clive Ponting, 2014-07-29 For much of the world the twentieth century can be seen as a big budget disaster film the stifling darkness of oppression the green of the ruling classes For the world's elite the near universal adoption of capitalism today reveals modern history as a narrative of unbroken progress Eschewing conventional chronological accounts The Twentieth Century is organized around the major themes of the last hundred years To help us understand our recent past and probable future Clive Ponting offers a world systems theory His analysis holds that a few core states have dominated much of the rest of the world which provides raw materials and cheap labor and remains tied to the core as virtual colonial territory Between these extremes are Latin America the Middle East and eastern Asia which have a limited shot at self determination Economic social and political differences between the core and periphery continue to grow Atlantic predominance which molded world history for four hundred years has been challenged by the countries of the Pacific The book's central theme revolves around the struggle between progress and barbarism the hope for our future is that our conscience will catch up with our reason Everywhere in the world people now live longer than their predecessors A majority has become literate and most have benefited from recent technological progress Nevertheless democracy is unavailable to the preponderance of people and in the century's final years the chasm between rich and poor continues to expand On the eve of the millennium this vivid history is a must read

Inside Apartheid Janet Levine, 2015-11-24 In Inside Apartheid South African born Janet Levine recounts the horrors and struggles she faced against the minority white government's brutal system of repression from a rare perspective that of a white woman who worked within the system even as she fought to transform it With candor and courage Levine skillfully interweaves her personal story of a privileged white citizen's growing awareness of the evils of apartheid with a moving account of the increasing violence in and radical polarization of South Africa Inside Apartheid brings to life both the unsurpassed physical beauty and the institutionalized brutality of the country Levine loves so deeply We accompany her on a daring trip to the devastated black township of Soweto immediately following the unrest in 1976 There she visits the home of a colored family with no way out of apartheid induced poverty On a journey through the black homelands where Levine discovers firsthand the horrifying evidence of the long term genocide of three million people As a student activist as a journalist and as an elected member of the Johannesburg City Council Levine openly attacked the government's policies in hundreds of speeches and articles led election campaigns for one of her mentors member of Parliament Helen Suzman and was associated with Steve Biko and other less internationally famous but equally important South African figures Levine was a founding member of the first black taxi co operative in South Africa and instrumental in having hundreds of illegally fired black workers reinstated with back pay after the Johannesburg strikes of 1980 We feel Levine's pain when she finally asks soul searching questions about the effectiveness of being a white activist Inside Apartheid with such honest witness bearing may be her most important act of all

Texturing Difference Maurits van Bever Donker, 2024-12-03 This book situates the nuanced intervention of the Black Consciousness Movement in South Africa within the international conjuncture of anti colonial thought and decolonization It argues that the Black Consciousness Movement in addition to its urgent political focus should also be read as a philosophical intervention on the problem of Man that haunts the idea of race As Steve Biko once famously said apartheid will end the real question is what comes after apartheid Maurits van Bever Donker argues that the Black Consciousness Movement found intellectual and conceptual allies in the writings of Frantz Fanon and Aimé Césaire tracing the problem of race as foundational to what is called the script of Man and in the process inventing the possibility of a new sense of Man one with a more human face While the work of figures like Biko Fanon and Césaire tends to be read as discrete political texts in a broader field of negritude and radical black thought Texturing Difference explores what becomes possible when this network of texts is read from the perspective of South Africa This intervention has significance not only for how race is approached and understood in South Africa but for the global workings of race in our time

Payne, 2012-05-28 This edited volume brings together well established and emerging scholars of transitional justice to discuss the persistence of amnesty in the age of human rights accountability The volume attempts to reframe debates moving beyond the limited approaches of truth versus justice or stability versus accountability in which many of these issues have been cast in the existing scholarship The theoretical and empirical contributions in this book offer new ways of understanding and tackling the enduring persistence of amnesty in the age of accountability In addition to cross national studies the volume encompasses eleven country cases of amnesty for past human rights violations Argentina Brazil Cambodia El Salvador Guatemala Indonesia Rwanda South Africa Spain Uganda and Uruguay The volume goes beyond merely describing these case studies but also considers what we learn from them in terms of overcoming impunity and promoting accountability to contribute to improvements in human rights and democracy

This Is My Life Pamela Tumeka Koyana-Letlaka, 2014-11-26 This book is not about the political history of Apartheid South Africa it is about an extraordinary South African woman's life It depicts where she was born and chronicles her courageous journey into exile to Lesotho Zambia Zaire and Britain culminating with a diplomatic assignment in the United States of America This is where the politics of the day intersects with personal lives making us all more deeply appreciative of how profoundly the personal is political

Sharpeville Tom Lodge, 2011-05-12 On 21 March 1960 several hundred black Africans were injured and 69 killed when South African police opened fire on demonstrators in the township of Sharpeville protesting against the Apartheid regime's racist pass laws The Sharpeville Massacre as the event has become known signalled the start of armed resistance in South Africa and prompted worldwide condemnation of South Africa's Apartheid policies The events at Sharpeville deeply affected the attitudes of both black and white in South Africa and provided a major stimulus to the development of an international Anti Apartheid movement In Sharpeville Tom Lodge explains how and why the Massacre occurred looking at the social and political background to the events of March 1960 as well as the sequence of events that prompted the shootings themselves He then broadens his focus to explain the long term consequences of Sharpeville explaining how it affected South African politics over the following decades both domestically and also in the country's relationship with the rest of the world
