Bates,Nathan Nunn,James Robinson,2014-08-11 Why has Africa remained persistently poor over its recorded history Has Africa always been poor What has been the nature of Africa s poverty and how do we explain its origins This volume takes a necessary interdisciplinary approach to these questions by bringing together perspectives from archaeology linguistics history anthropology political science and economics Several contributors note that Africa s development was at par with many areas of Europe in the first millennium of the Common Era Why Africa fell behind is a key theme in this volume with insights that should inform Africa s developmental strategies Bibliography of Art and Architecture in the Islamic World (2 vols.) Susan Sinclair,2012-04-03 Following the tradition and style of the acclaimed Index Islamicus the editors have created this new Bibliography of Art and Architecture in the Islamic World The editors have surveyed and annotated a wide range of books and articles from collected volumes and journals published in all European languages except Turkish between 1906 and 2011 This comprehensive bibliography is an indispensable tool for everyone involved in the study of material culture in Muslim societies , Reinterpreting Indian Ocean Worlds Stefan C. A. Halikowski Smith,2011-05-25 The Indian Ocean World was an idea borne out by researchers in economic history and trade in the 1980s in response to the compartmentalization of specific area studies within the wider rubric of Asian civilisations and culture Professor Kirti N Chaudhuri s books Trading World of Asia and the English East India Company 1978 and then Trade and Civilization in the Indian Ocean 1985 figured amongst the forefront of this new movement in historical thinking undertaking detailed historical analysis first of the English East India Company and then a comparative cultural history of Asian material life and civilisation Today historians continue to hold on to the idea of an Indian Ocean world although studies now follow a number of different threads from themes like linguistics and creolization to the seeds of national consciousness By presenting a number of studies here gathered into the themes of Intermixing The World of Trade and Colonial Paths it is hoped we can render tribute to one of the outstanding historians in this field and reflect the plenitude of current research in this subject area

Hadhrami Traders, Scholars and Statesmen in the Indian Ocean, 1750s-1960s Ulrike Freitag, William Clarence-Smith, 2021-10-11 This volume covers the long neglected history of Hadhramaut southern Arabia during the modern colonial era together with the history of Hadhrami colonies in the Malay world southern India the Red Sea and East Africa After an introduction placing Hadhramis in the context of other diasporas there are sections on local and international politics social stratification and integration religious and social reform and economic dynamics The conclusion brings the story to the present day and outlines a research agenda Many aspects of Indian Ocean history are illuminated by this book notably the role of non Western merchants in the spread of capitalism Islamisation and the controversies which raged within Islam British and Ottoman strategic concerns social antagonisms in southern Arabia and the cosmopolitan character of coastal societies

Vegetation of the Arabian Peninsula S.A. Ghazanfar, M. Fisher, 2013-04-17 The inspiration for this book came from our ten years of journeys and wanderings through the varied landscapes of Arabia and in particular through those of its hospitable southeastern corner Oman We owe a particular debt to Sultan Qaboos University which during this time has provided us with both a stimulating working environment and a home Transliteration of Arabic place and other names into English script is a task fraught with difficulties We have followed accepted spellings wherever these were not contrary to our common sense and in other cases we have rendered names into Roman English script using phonetic spellings Our main task in this respect was to ensure conformity between the fifteen contributing authors Diacritical signs have mostly been avoided since their use is neither widely followed nor readily understood Arabic words which have been commonly taken into the English language such as sabkha for a salt flat and wadi for a valley with a seasonal watercourse are not italicised in usage However other Arabic terms which are occasionally used in English but not as widely known such as harrah for a basaltic lava field and hima for a traditional grazing reserve are italicised throughout the text

The Longest Journey Eric Tagliacozzo, 2013-04-25 A comprehensive history of the hajj from Southeast Asia from precolonial times to the present

The First Millennium AD in Europe and the Mediterranean Klavs Randsborg, 1991-01-25 Modern archaeology with its huge methodological repertoire its interdisciplinary orientation and its rapidly expanding basis in excavations is beginning to rewrite history and to reshape our views of the development of Europe prior to the present millennium Archaeological evidence draws attention to processes on which the written record is silent or which were not fully appreciated by contemporaries in the literate centres This book deals with the rise of medieval western Europe as the Roman Empire crumbled and the integration of hitherto barbarian societies into the new mainstream of European society Archaeological material is the main focus but information derived from written sources especially those illuminating the economic and the associated social circumstances is also taken into account

Aden and the Indian Ocean Trade Roxani Eleni Margariti, 2012-09-01 Positioned at the crossroads of the maritime routes linking the Indian Ocean and the Mediterranean Sea the Yemeni port of Aden grew to be one of the medieval world's greatest commercial hubs. Approaching Aden's history between the eleventh and thirteenth centuries through the prism of overseas trade and commercial culture, Roxani Eleni Margariti examines the ways in which physical space and urban institutions developed to serve and harness the commercial potential presented by the city's strategic location. Utilizing historical and archaeological methods, Margariti draws together a rich variety of sources far beyond the normative and relatively accessible legal rulings issued by Islamic courts of the time. She explores environmental material and textual data including merchants' testimonies from the medieval documentary repository known as the Cairo Geniza. Her analysis brings the port city to life, detailing its fortifications, water supply, harbor, customs house, marketplaces, and ship building facilities. She also provides a broader picture of the history of the city and the ways merchants and administrators regulated and fostered trade. Margariti ultimately demonstrates how port cities as nodes of exchange, communication, and interconnectedness are crucial in Indian Ocean and Middle Eastern history as well as Islamic and Jewish history.

Dome of the Rock and its Umayyad Mosaic Inscriptions Marcus Milwright, 2019-04-01

The Dome of the Rock is a shrine located on the Temple Mount in the Old City of Jerusalem. When was it built? What meanings was it meant to convey to viewers at the time of its construction? These are questions that have preoccupied historians of Islamic art and architecture, and numerous interpretations of the Dome of the Rock have been proposed. Marcus Milwright returns to one of the most important pieces of evidence, the mosaic inscriptions running around the two faces of the octagonal arcade. His detailed examination of the physical characteristics, morphology, and content of these inscriptions provides new evidence about the chronology, the building, and the iconography of the Dome of the Rock.

Indian Ikat Textiles Rosemary Crill, 1998

This volume deals in depth with Indian textiles in the ikat technique. It is based on the Victoria and Albert Museum's collection of ikats from all over India, many of which date from the mid 19th century and represent aspects of weaving and dyeing that no longer survive in their places of origin. A complex form of resist dyeing in which threads are patterned before weaving, ikat has been used in India since at least the early centuries AD. Over 100 pieces are discussed and illustrated, from the satin weave mashrums of South India and the silk patola from Gujarat to simple cotton saris from Orissa and Tamil Nadu, and subtly coloured rumals from Andhra Pradesh. Further sections explore the influence of Indian ikat on the textile traditions of other areas, including South East Asia, the Middle East, and Europe.

Islamic Arts and Crafts Marcus Milwright, 2017-02-03

Islamic art is justly famed for its technological sophistication, varied approaches to ornament, and innovative employment of the written word. But what do we know about the skilled artisans who spent their lives designing and creating the paintings, objects, and buildings that are so admired today? This anthology of written sources, dating from the seventh to the twentieth centuries, explores numerous aspects of the crafts of the Middle East, from the processing of raw materials to the manufacture of finished artefacts. You will learn about the legal and ethical dimensions of the arts and crafts, the organisation of labour in urban and rural contexts, the everyday lives of artisans, the gendered dimensions of making things and the impact of industrialisation upon traditional methods of manufacture Each chapter begins with an introduction providing a wider context for the primary sources There are also suggestions for further reading
