The Opaqueness Of God:

God and Humanity Nathaniel Gray Sutanto, 2024-07-11 This is the first book to apply Bavinck's theological anthropology to contemporary theological issues. Sutanto provides a sustained close reading of Herman Bavinck's contributions to theological anthropology and positions him in conversation with current and historical dialogues on embodiment, revelation, affect theory, phenomenology, the cognitive science of religion, ethics, race, covenant, and the beatific vision. Sutanto explores the holistic character of Bavinck's vision of humanity, suggesting ways in which his theological anthropology cuts across several potential binaries in contemporary discourse: between affect and reason, body and soul, animality and religiosity, unity and diversity, and between a this-worldly or other-worldly eschatology.

The Voice of God in the Text of Scripture

Zondervan, 2016-11-01 A Development of the Doctrine of Scripture and Its Interpretation. In the case of engaging with Scripture in a way that allows it to speak to us, we have a theological mandate to develop a doctrine of Scripture that recognizes both the written text and its divine authorship. The proceedings of the fourth annual Los Angeles Theology Conference focus on the theological and doctrinal dimensions to the biblical texts, drawing on scholars of biblical studies and systematic theology in order to do so. The question that frames these discussions is: How does the voice of God come to us in the text of Scripture? The ten diverse essays in this collection include discussions on Authorial intent, The reception and formation of the Bible as Christian Scripture, The relationship between Scripture and human identity, The hermeneutics of metaphor and theological method. Each of the essays collected in this volume engages with Scripture as well as with others in the field, theologians both past and present from different confessions in order to provide constructive resources for contemporary systematic theology and to forge a theology for the future.

Mary, the Transparency of God

Chiara Lubich, 2003 What is it that Christians of many different Churches find so attractive about the young Jewish girl who gave birth to Jesus? This book does more than hint at an answer. Chiara Lubich's gospel-based intuitions are a source of new insights for Christians of all traditions. Not only do we see the beauty of a human being who gave birth to God made flesh, not only do we taste the essential poetry of this unique event in history and enter more fully into all it implies, but we are made able to translate this vision into our daily lives. Mary becomes less a person we admire, an object of veneration, and more a source of inspiration, an example on which we can model our lives. It seems to me that the present times call for a reintroduction of Mary. Chiara Lubich says: To do this we hope here to promote a new vision of Mary, one that is largely unknown, based on what God chose to show us about her. It is my hope that these pages of Chiara, so rich in witness to Mary and in meditations about her, may nourish us and help very many people to say like Mary and with her: their own Here I am, their own yes to the plan and path that God has prepared for the life of each person. The multitude of people who have walked with Chiara along this path can testify that it leads, also by way of the experience of the cross, to happiness. From the Foreword by Joseph Cardinal Schnborn, Archbishop of Vienna.

The Message of Mission Howard Pesket, Vinoth Ramachandra, 2024-09-19 The root of the word mission means sending All Christian mission has its fountainhead in the God revealed in Scripture who sent his Son for us sends his Spirit to us and summons all people to himself The privilege and responsibility of his church sent into all the world is to testify by his words and deeds to Jesus Christ God s unique son crucified risen and ascended The East West partnership in missiological exploration expounds a variety of Old and New Testament texts and examines a wide range of issues The authors desire is that Jesus Christ might be glorified more and more in the church and in the world their eager expectation is that one day the whole creation will find its consummation in him and God will be all and in all The God Who Is for Us Zondervan,2025-08-26 How should we think about God For Christianity God is not merely the transcendent source and creator of the world God is also immanently involved in creation sustaining upholding and intervening in the cosmos in order to save and redeem beloved creatures God is for us The inaugural Scottish Dogmatics Conference explores this dimension of the character and nature of God in dialogue with Scripture and the Christian tradition and in pursuit of constructive theology for today Contributors include John Behr Bruce McCormack Amy Peeler Fred Sanders Judith Wolfe
