Anderson, 2013-06-17 This volume explores twentieth century organ music through in depth studies of the principal centers of composition the most significant composers and their works and the evolving role of the instrument and its music The twentieth century was a time of unprecedented change for organ music not only in its composition and performance but also in the standards of instrument design and building Organ music was anything but immune to the complex musical intellectual and socio political climate of the time Twentieth Century Organ Music examines the organ s repertory from the entire period contextualizing it against the background of important social and cultural trends In a collection of twelve essays experienced scholars survey the dominant geographic centers of organ music France the Netherlands Scandinavia the United States and German speaking countries and investigate the composers who made important contributions to the repertory Reger in Germany Messiaen in France Ligeti in Eastern and Central Europe Howells in Great Britain Twentieth Century Organ Music provides a fresh vantage point from which to view one of the twentieth century's most diverse and engaging musical spheres

Lutheran Churches in Early Modern Europe Andrew Spicer, 2016-12-05 Until recently the impact of the Lutheran Reformation has been largely regarded in political and socio-economic terms yet for most people it was not the abstract theological debates that had the greatest impact upon their lives but what they saw in their parish churches every Sunday This collection of essays provides a coherent and interdisciplinary investigation of the impact that the Lutheran Reformation had on the appearance architecture and arrangement of early modern churches Drawing upon recent research being undertaken by leading art historians and historians on Lutheran places of worship the volume emphasises often surprising levels of continuity reflecting the survival of Catholic fixtures fittings and altarpieces and exploring how these could be remodelled in order to conform with the tenets of Lutheran belief The volume not only addresses Lutheran art but also the way in which the architecture of their churches reflected the importance of preaching and the administration of the sacraments Furthermore the collection is committed to extending these discussions beyond a purely German context and to look at churches not only within the Holy Roman Empire but also in Scandinavia the Baltic States as well as towns dominated by Saxon communities in areas such as in Hungary and Transylvania By focusing on ecclesiastical material culture the collection helps to place the art and architecture of Lutheran places of worship into the historical political and theological context of early modern Europe

Instrumentalists and Renaissance Culture, 1420-1600 Victor Coelho, Keith Polk, 2016-05-26 This innovative and multi-layered study of the music and culture of Renaissance instrumentalists spans the early institutionalization of instrumental music from c 1420 to the rise of the basso continuo and newer roles for instrumentalists around 1600 Employing a broad cultural narrative interwoven with detailed case studies close readings of eighteen essential musical sources and analysis of musical images Victor Coelho and Keith Polk show that instrumental music formed a vital and dynamic element in the artistic landscape from rote function to creative fantasy Instrumentalists occupied a central role in courtly ceremonies and private social rituals during the Renaissance and banquets dances processions religious celebrations and weddings all required their participation regardless of social class Instrumental genres were highly diverse artistic creations from polyphonic repertoires revealing knowledge of notated styles to improvisation and flexible practices Understanding the contributions of instrumentalists is essential for any accurate assessment of Renaissance culture

Handbook of Materials for Wind Musical Instruments Voichita Bucur, 2019-09-06 This book addresses key questions about the materials used for the wind instruments of classical symphony orchestra such as flutes clarinets saxophones oboes bassoons and pipe organs The content of this book is structured into four parts Part 1 Description of materials for wind instruments deals with wood species and materials for reeds used for making clarinet oboe and bassoon and with metallic materials and alloys for horn trumpet trombone etc Auxiliary materials associated with the manufacturing of wind instruments are felt cork leather and parchment Part 2 Basic acoustics of wind instruments in which are presented succinctly some pertinent aspects related to the physics of the resonant air column An important aspect discussed is related to the effect of wall material on the vibration modes of the walls of wind instruments The methods for measuring the acoustical properties of wind instruments are presented Part 3 Manufacturing of wind instruments describes the technology used in manufacturing metallic tubes and pipes made of wood Part 4 The durability and degradation of materials addresses data about methods for cleaning wind instruments studies factors producing degradation of organ pipes describes methods of conservation and restoration of brass instruments and of historical pipe organs Finally the properties of marble are described being the only one nondegradable and sustainable material used for pipes for organs
