The Organizational Complex Architecture Media And Corporate Space:

The Organizational Complex Reinhold Martin, 2005-09-23 A historical and theoretical analysis of corporate architecture in the United States after the Second World War The Organizational Complex is a historical and theoretical analysis of corporate architecture in the United States after the Second World War Its title refers to the aesthetic and technological extension of the military industrial complex in which architecture computers and corporations formed a network of objects images and discourses that realigned social relations and transformed the postwar landscape In depth case studies of architect Eero Saarinen's work for General Motors IBM and Bell Laboratories and analyses of office buildings designed by Skidmore Owings Merrill trace the emergence of a systems based model of organization in architecture in which the modular curtain wall acts as both an organizational device and a carrier of the corporate image Such an image of the corporation as a flexible integrated system is seen to correspond with a humanization of corporate life as corporations decentralize both spatially and administratively Parallel analyses follow the assimilation of cybernetics into aesthetics in the writings of artist and visual theorist Gyorgy Kepes as art merges with techno science in the service of a dynamic new pattern seeing Image and system thus converge in the organizational complex while top down power dissolves into networked pattern based control Architecture as one among many media technologies supplies the patterns images of organic integration designed to regulate new and unstable human machine assemblages

The Organizational Complex Reinhold Martin, 2001 The Oxford Handbook of Media, Technology, and Organization Studies Timon Beyes, Robin Holt, Claus Pias, 2020 This Handbook explores the largely uncharted territory of media technology and organization studies and interrogates their foundational relations their forms and their consequences The chapters consider how specific mediating technological objects such as the Clock or the Smartphone help us to create organizational form

Happiness by Design Justus Nieland, 2020-02-18 A cultural history of modern lifestyle viewed through film and multimedia experiments of midcentury designers Charles and Ray Eames For the designers Charles and Ray Eames happiness was both a technical and ideological problem central to the future of liberal democracy Being happy demanded new things but also a vanguard life in media that the Eameses modeled as they brought film into their design practice Midcentury modernism is often considered institutionalized but Happiness by Design casts Eames era designers as innovative media artists technophilic humanists change managers and neglected film theorists Happiness by Design offers a fresh cultural history of midcentury modernism through the film and multimedia experiments of Charles and Ray Eames and their peers Will Burtin Lszl Moholy Nagy and Gyrgy Kepes among others at a moment when designers enjoyed a new cultural prestige Justus Nieland traces how as representatives of the American Century's exuberant material culture Cold War designers engaged in creative activities that spanned disciplines and blended art and technoscience while reckoning with the environmental reach of media at the dawn of the information age Eames era modernism Nieland shows fueled novel techniques of culture administration spawning new partnerships between cultural and educational institutions corporations and the state From the studio showroom floor or classroom to the stages of world fairs and international conferences the midcentury multimedia experiments of Charles and Ray Eames and their circle became key to a liberal democratic lifestyle and also anticipated the look and feel of our networked present Fluxus Administration Colby Chamberlain,2024-07-09 A new innovative approach to the work of Fluxus artist George Maciunas Though widely recognized as the founder of the legendary Fluxus movement George Maciunas has long been a puzzling figure in the history of twentieth century art Many have questioned whether he should be considered an artist at all In Fluxus Administration critic and art historian Colby Chamberlain reveals the consistent artistic practice hidden behind Maciunas s varied work in architecture music performance publication graphic design film and real estate as an attempt to create models for community through structures of bureaucracy In this deeply researched study Chamberlain traces how Maciunas s art insinuated itself into settings as unlikely as the routes of the postal service the fine print of copyright law the zoning strictures of urban planning and the corridors of hospitals These shifting frames of reference expand our understanding of where an artistic practice can operate and what forms it might assume In particular Chamberlain draws on media theory to highlight Maciunas s ingeniously crafted paperwork much of which is beautifully reproduced here for the first time The Creativity Complex Timon Beyes,Jörg Metelmann,2018-11-05 Wherever we turn we find creative practices and creative spaces creative organizations and creative subjects At work or in public places in media representations and in advertisements on social platforms in schools and universities There is a demand to be new and special conspicuous and singular How did this creativity complex and its imperative to be creative come about Which terms and concepts enable us to understand its multiple and partly contradictory forms and processes Where are its limits Gathering and interweaving 40 short and incisive essays this companion maps investigates and illuminates the contemporary creativity complex Media Theory in Japan Marc Steinberg,Alexander Zahlten,2017-03-09 Providing an overview of Japanese media theory from the 1910s to the present this volume introduces English language readers to Japan s rich body of theoretical and conceptual work on media for the first time The essays address a wide range of topics including the work of foundational Japanese thinkers Japanese theories of mediation and the philosophy of media the connections between early Japanese television and consumer culture and architecture s intersection with communications theory Tracing the theoretical frameworks and paradigms that stem from Japan s media ecology the contributors decenter Eurocentric media theory and demonstrate the value of the Japanese context to reassessing the parameters and definition of media theory itself Taken together these interdisciplinary essays expand media theory to encompass philosophy feminist critique literary theory marketing discourse and art provide a counterbalance to the persisting universalist impulse of media studies and emphasize the need to consider media theory situationally Contributors Yuriko Furuhashi Aaron Gerow Mark Hansen Marilyn Ivy Takeshi Kadobayashi Keisuke Kitano Akihiro Kitada Thomas Looser Anne McKnight Ryoko Misono Akira Mizuta Lippit Miryam Sas Fabian Sch fer
