Childhood Lynn Davis,2019-07-18 Once upon a simpler time a child s fun included an intense interaction within its environment whether on a bus to a beach swimming lessons in a city pool or working tobacco fields Interaction was also between machinery and the processes that made things function such as an icebox iron furnace clothesline or oil jug She writes of a time before technology took over and computers did all the work The author recreates with her narrative and photographs a nostalgic reminiscence of those earlier decades for all who grew up in them and introduces the times to those who didn t She recalls the years when life and living was hands on when youngsters played and worked hard being part of life s assembly line Today s children can switch on or plug in to make things function but the fun is gone and with it the knowledge of how things work Lynn lived the first forty six years of her life in the Frog Hollow section of Hartford Connecticut It was growing up in the Frog Hollow during the 1940s and 1950s that is the inspiration for her memoir of childhood during those years , The Incomparable Hildegarde Monica Storme Gallamore,2018-04-11 The

Incomparable Hildegarde 1906 2005 began her career as a pianist in Milwaukee s silent movie theaters which led to the Vaudeville stage By the 1930s she was singing in the cabarets of Paris and London rubbing elbows with royalty White Russians and Josephine Baker She then became a darling of the New York supper club scene and her name became synonymous with high class entertainment at venues like the Plaza Hotel s Persian Room She started fashion trends had her own signature Revlon nail and lip color and was the first to have song hits in the World War II era This first biography of Hildegarde Sill covers her 70 year career including her intimate relationship with her manager Anna Sosenko and emphasizes her importance in 20th century American popular culture This Is Rhythm Gayle F. Wald,2025-04-10 The remarkable life story of Ella Jenkins The First Lady of Children s Music Ella Jenkins was one of the most influential musicians of the twentieth century Her songs You ll Sing a Song and I ll Sing a Song and Who Fed the Chickens are classics in the world of children s music In a career spanning more than sixty years she recorded forty albums won a lifetime achievement Grammy and became the best selling individual artist in the history of Smithsonian Folkways Records the independent label that played a significant role in the 1960s folk revival movement and introduced listeners to Woody Guthrie and Pete Seeger. During her remarkable career, Jenkins joined forces with twentieth-century luminaries such as Odetta, Big Bill Broonzy, Armando Peraza, Bayard Rustin, and Fred Rogers. Despite her wide-reaching influence on children's music, Ella Jenkins's sonic civil rights activism isn't widely known today. Based on dozens of interviews and access to Ella Jenkins's personal archives, Gayle F. Wald's This Is Rhythm shares how Jenkins, a rhythm specialist with no formal musical training, became the most prolific and significant American children's musician of the twentieth century, creating a beloved catalog of songs grounded in values of community building, antiracism, and cultural pluralism. Wald traces how the daughter of southern migrants translated the music of her own Black girlhood on the South Side of Chicago into a form of civil rights activism, a musical education that empowered children by introducing them to Black history, African diasporic rhythms, and a participatory, community-centered approach to music. Wald also discusses how, beginning in 1961, Jenkins built a life with a female partner who supported her materially and emotionally. Although Jenkins did not talk publicly about her sixty-three-year relationship, she opened up to Wald, offering insight into how a private Black woman in the public eye negotiated sexuality in an era before gay and lesbian liberation movements. Throughout her career, her innovative music found its way into thousands of community centers, classrooms, and concert venues, and her call-and-response method has influenced and empowered generations of children and adults. A beautifully written tribute to Ella Jenkins's legacy, this biography illustrates her impact on children's music and expands our understanding of folk music's relationship with social justice. Jenkins used music to build a new world in which children and adults are encouraged to listen to each other's distinct rhythms. Preserving Local Writers, Genealogy, Photographs, Newspapers, and Related Materials. Carol Smallwood, Elaine Williams, 2012-04-05.

Preservation of historical documents and library-related materials is a growing problem in all library types and institutions. Fortunately, editors Carol Smallwood and Elaine Williams have pulled together the wisdom of practicing professionals to elucidate how to cope with the many problems that arise when preserving, managing, and digitizing important collections. Preserving Local Writers, Genealogy, Photographs, Newspapers, and Related Materials contains informative chapters on physical preservation, collection management, cooperation with organizations and communities, various formats, and special projects. Each part covers the preservation of specific materials, from newspapers and scrapbooks to photographs and oral histories. In addition, chapters cover repair and restoration of materials while taking into consideration the current state of funding for agencies with an interest in history. Contributors also shed light on how the racial, economic, and political dynamics of the past affect how collections are gathered, maintained, and presented today. Preserving Local Writers, Genealogy, Photographs, Newspapers, and Related Materials offers plenty to inspire anyone facing backlogs of unprocessed papers or boxes of artifacts. Stories of the rescue efforts of a group of volunteers or the discovery of a lost diary show that the hard work of preservation is well worth it. Libraries, archives, and historical and genealogical societies all have their role to play in preserving important historical materials as do patrons sponsors and volunteers such institutions and individuals will find this book extremely helpful in their preservation efforts Elinor Fry Paul N. The Scrapbook in American Life Susan Tucker, Katherine

Ott, Patricia Buckler, 2006 This book explores the history of scrapbook making its origins uses changing forms and purposes as well as the human agents behind the books themselves Scrapbooks bring pleasure in both the making and consuming and are one of the most enduring yet simultaneously changing cultural forms of the last two centuries Despite the popularity of scrapbooks no one has placed them within historical traditions until now This volume considers the makers their artefacts And The viewers within the context of American culture The volume s contributors do not show the reader how to make scrapbooks or improve techniques but instead explore the curious history of what others have done in the past and why these splendid examples of material and visual culture have such a significant place in many households Headpress Guide to the Counter Culture Temple Drake, 2004 An indispensable sampling of the vast assortment of publications which exist as an adjunct to the mainstream press or which promote themes and ideas that may be defined as pop culture alternative underground or subversive Updated and revised from the pages of the critically acclaimed Headpress journal this is an enlightened and entertaining guide to the counter culture including everything from cult film music comics and cutting edge fiction by way of its books and zines with contact information accompanying each review Singing the Gospel along Scotland's North-East Coast, 1859-2009 Frances Wilkins, 2018-01-17 Following three years of ethnomusicological fieldwork on the sacred singing traditions of evangelical Christians in North East Scotland and Northern Isles coastal communities Frances Wilkins documents and analyses current singing practices in this book by placing them historically and contemporaneously within their respective faith communities In ascertaining who the singers were and why when where how and what they chose to sing the study explores a number of related questions How has sacred singing contributed to the establishment and reinforcement of individual and group identities both in the church and wider community What is the process by which specific regional repertoires and styles develop Which organisations and venues have been particularly conducive to the development of sacred singing in the community How does the subject matter of songs relate to the immediate environment of coastal inhabitants How and why has gospel singing in coastal communities changed These questions are answered with comprehensive reference to interview material fieldnotes videography and audio field recordings As one of the first pieces of ethnomusicological research into sacred music performance in Scotland this ethnography draws important parallels between practices in the North East and elsewhere in the British Isles and across the globe Rutgers University Camden Campus Scrapbooks, 1949-1964 , 1994 Teaching through the Archives Tarez Samra Graban, Wendy Hayden, 2022-06-09 Disruptive pedagogies for archival research In a cultural moment when institutional repositories carry valuable secrets to the present and past this collection argues for the critical intellectual and social value of archival instruction Graban and Hayden and 37 other contributors examine how undergraduate and graduate courses in rhetoric history community literacy and professional writing can successfully engage students in archival research in its many forms and successfully model mutually beneficial relationships between archivists instructors and community organizations Combining new and established voices from related fields each of the book's three sections includes a range of form disrupting pedagogies Section I focuses on how approaching the archive primarily as text fosters habits of mind essential for creating and using archives for critiquing or inventing knowledge making practices and for being good stewards of private and public collections Section II argues for conducting archival projects as collaboration through experiential learning and for developing a preservationist consciousness through disciplined research Section III details praxis for revealing critiquing and intervening in historic racial omissions and gaps in the archives in which we all work Ultimately contributors explore archives as sites of activism while also raising important questions that persist in rhetoric and composition scholarship such as how to decolonize research methodologies how to conduct teaching and research that promote social justice and how to shift archival consciousness toward more engaged notions of democracy This collection highlights innovative classroom and curricular course models for teaching with and through the archives in rhetoric and composition and beyond
