The 5 day course of thinking Edward De Bono, 1983 Fashions in Management Research Patrick Thomas, 2018-08-17 Published in 1999 this text sets out to analyze fashions in management literature through studying patterns in the citations offered to leading management authors Particular attention is paid to those publications which are cited extensively but only for a short period these publications are regarded as potentially subject to fashionable pressures More detailed case studies of fashionable publications are undertaken to gain a greater understanding of what factors may lead to management fashions The book represents a large scale empirical analysis of management fashions and culminates in an empirically validated theory of management fashions Why Not? Barry Nalebuff, Ian Ayres, 2006 A primer for fresh thinking for problem solving with a purpose for bringing the world a few steps closer to the way it should be Illustrated with examples from every aspect of life this book offers techniques which help you take the things we all see every day and think about them in a new way

It's Not Your Fault! Elizabeth Helen Ivory, 2012 What This Book Isn't It isn't another book with a list of things to go and do because we know that you won't actually go and do them This book explains why you won't and what it is that's stopping you from doing what you know you should What This Book is It's probably the most important book that you will ever read It's your permission to feel good about not feeling good in our society we've made it not alright to feel not alright and that's not alright This book is the missing HOW Your greatest confusion isn't that you don't know what to do it's knowing exactly what to do and still not doing it This book allows you to consciously choose who and how you want to be in every area of your life This book is your book written for you about you to introduce you to Schoenfeld,Alan H. Sloane,2016-05-06 In the early 1980s there was virtually no serious communication among the various groups that contribute to mathematics education mathematicians mathematics educators classroom teachers and cognitive scientists Members of these groups came from different traditions had different perspectives and rarely gathered in the same place to discuss issues of common interest Part of the problem was that there was no common ground for the discussions given the disparate traditions and perspectives As one way of addressing this problem the Sloan Foundation funded two conferences in the mid 1980s bringing together members of the different communities in a ground clearing effort designed to establish a base for communication In those conferences interdisciplinary teams reviewed major topic areas and put together distillations of what was known about them A more recent conference upon which this volume is based offered a forum in which various people involved in education reform would present their work and members of the broad communities gathered would comment on it The focus was primarily on college mathematics informed by developments in K 12 mathematics The main issues of the conference were mathematical thinking and problem solving
