Guardians of the Peaks Kathy Calvert,Katherine M. Calvert,Dale Portman,2006 Mountain rescue in western Canada developed through the Canadian Pacific Railway s use of Swiss guides to enhance the climbing experience in the early 1900s These guides brought their knowledge of mountain rescue to the Canadian Rockies As climbing gained in popularity with the emerging middle classes after the Second World War tragic accidents became more common Two accidents in 195455 the deaths of a group of female climbers from Mexico on Mt Victoria and a group of Philadelphia schoolboys on Mt Temple forced the government to develop a professional mountain rescue team through the Park Warden Service under the tutelage of Walter Perren a Swiss guide and the father of mountain rescue in Canada Perren essentially turned cowboys into competent rescue personnel and the story takes off from there Following five principal men through the first 50 years of mountain rescue in Canada Guardians of the Peaks also looks at all aspects of the rescue experience It is the story of personal tragedy and the ability of individuals to cope with this stress laced demanding occupation Tales from the Canadian Rockies Brian Patton,2012-12-18 Take a breath of fresh mountain air and feel the magic of an historical Canadian landmark in Tales from the Canadian Rockies You ll meet a host of unforgettable characters like botanist David Douglas after whom the Douglas fir is named and geologist James Hector whose unruly horse is forever commemorated in the names of Kicking Horse River and Pass You ll also experience the hunger and hardships of artist Paul Kane and indomitable Mrs Lane who waded across no fewer than 17 meltwater rivers in one day Ladies in the Laboratory III Mary R. American and British women in scientific research A companion volume published in 2004 focused on women scientists from Western Europe In this third volume author Mary R S Creese expands her scope to include the contributions of 19th and early 20th century women of South Africa Australia New Zealand and Canada The women whose lives and work are discussed here range from natural history collectors and scientific illustrators of the early and mid years of the 19th century to the first generation of graduates of the new colonial colleges and universities Rarely acknowledged in publications of the British and European specialists the contributions of these women nonetheless formed a significant part of the natural history information about extensive previously unknown regions and their products Rather than a biographical dictionary or a collection of self contained essays on individuals from many time periods Ladies in the Laboratory III is a connected narrative tied into the wider framework of 19th century science and education A well organized blend of individual life stories and quantitative information this volume is for everyone interested in the story of women s participation in 19th century science The stories of these women make for fascinating reading and serve as a valuable source for the student of women s and colonial history

Forgotten Highways Nicky L. Brink, Stephen R. Bown, 2011-02-01 Traversing the historic trails of the Rockies today is done in much the same manner as it was two centuries ago primarily on foot with heavy packs with little better defence against mosquitoes or the elements Although accurate maps are available and modern technology such as global positioning systems stand as a bulwark to a complete wilderness experience in many cases it is as difficult and challenging to cross these mountain passes or even more so than it was two centuries ago Routes such as Athabasca Pass are far less travelled today than they were in the golden era of the fur trade If our society has become so rich that we continually seek out physical and mental challenges in the wilderness adventure and eco travel perhaps it would be a sign of respect to follow at least for a while in the footsteps of those who in many ways paved the way for generations to come We began to form the idea of hiking all the significant historical trails to see what we could learn from the early pathfinders about the difficulty of wilderness life and travel What window would be opened to times past in a land where the terrain has remained essentially unchanged from the authors introduction
