The Influence of Computers, the Internet and Computer-Mediated Communication on Everyday English Sandra Greiffenstern,2010 Computers and the Internet gave rise to the emergence of computer mediated communication CMC The Influence of Computers the Internet and Computer Mediated Communication on Everyday English focuses on the use of English in connection with computers and the Internet and on its influences on everyday English by analysing the dispersal of new meanings of words neologisms features of CMC and new metaphors The intention is to show the computer and Internet related impact on the English language from several perspectives and to take several ways into consideration in which the Internet and CMC are changing language use and to evaluate this influence at least as far as this is possible A History of Media W. Lambert Gardiner,2002 The conception day gift includes a means of storing information memory and of transmitting information speech Memory Speech could thus be considered as a first generation of media However natural selection can explain our evolution only to a hunter gatherer society How have we managed the transitions over historical time to an agricultural an industrial and now an information society We have learned how to extend our nervous systems by storing information Print Film second generation by transmitting information Telephone Television third generation and by both storing and transmitting information outside our bodies Multimedia Internet fourth generation A History of Media tells this story of the co evolution of the person and media as extensions This long perspective will help us better understand our turbulent transitional times as we assimilate the fourth generation of media This third transition will be clarified by analogy with the first and second transitions as we assimilated the second and third generations of media The work of Harold Innis Marshall McLuhan and their successors in the Toronto School of Media Studies will help illuminate those transitions The Extended Mind Robert K.
