Handbooks Prepared Under the Direction of the Historical Section of the Foreign Office, 1920 The Egyptian Sudan Ernest Alfred Thompson Wallis Budge, 1986 Ancient Egypt in Africa David B. O'Connor, Andrew Reid, 2003 The discipline of Egyptology has been criticised for being too insular with little awareness of the development of archaeologies elsewhere. It has remained theoretically underdeveloped. For example, the role of Ancient Egypt within Africa has rarely been considered jointly by Egyptologists and Africanists. Egypt's own view of itself has been neglected. Views of it in the ancient past, in more recent times, and today have remained underexposed. Encounters with Ancient Egypt is a series of eight books which addresses these issues. The books interrelate, inform, and illuminate one another and will appeal to a wide market including academics, students, and the general public interested in Archaeology, Egyptology, Anthropology, Architecture, Design, and History. Geographically, Egypt is clearly on the African continent, yet Ancient Egypt is routinely regarded as a non-African cultural form. The significance of Ancient Egypt for the rest of Africa is a hotly debated issue with complex ramifications. This book considers how Ancient Egypt was dislocated from Africa, drawing on a wide range of sources. It examines key issues such as the evidence for actual contacts between Egypt and other early African cultures and how influential or not Egypt was on them. Some scholars argue that to its north, Egypt's influence on Mediterranean civilization was downplayed by western scholarship. Further afield on the African continent, perceptions of Ancient Egypt were coloured by biblical sources, emphasizing the persecution of the Israelites. An extensive selection of fresh insights are provided, several focusing on cultural interactions between Egypt and Nubia from 1000 BCE to 500 CE, developing a nuanced picture of these interactions and describing the limitations of an Egyptological approach to them.
