Republican Beijing Madeleine Yue Dong, 2003-08-04 Old Beijing has become a subject of growing fascination in contemporary China since the 1980s While physical remnants from the past are being bulldozed every day to make space for glass walled skyscrapers and towering apartment buildings nostalgia for the old city is booming Madeleine Yue Dong offers the first comprehensive history of Republican Beijing examining how the capital acquired its identity as a consummately traditional Chinese city For residents of Beijing the heart of the city lay in the labor intensive activities of recycling a primary mode of material and cultural production and circulation that came to characterize Republican Beijing An omnipresent process of recycling and re use unified Beijing's fragmented and stratified markets into one circulation system These material practices evoked an air of nostalgia that permeated daily life Paradoxically the old Beijing toward which this nostalgia was directed was not the imperial capital of the past but the living Republican city Such nostalgia toward the present the author argues was not an empty sentiment but an essential characteristic of Chinese modernity

Feminism, Women's Agency, and Communication in Early Twentieth-Century China Qiliang He, 2018-06-14

Feminism Women's Agency and Communication in Early Twentieth Century China focuses on a sensational elopement in the Yangzi Delta in the late 1920s to explore how middle and lower class members of society gained access to and appropriated otherwise alien and abstract enlightenment theories and idioms about love marriage and family. Via a network of communications that connected people of differing socioeconomic and educational backgrounds, non elite women were empowered to display their new womanhood and thereby exercise their self activating agency to mount resistance to China's patriarchal system. Qiliang He's text also investigates the proliferation of anti feminist conservatisms in legal practice, scholarly discourses, media and popular culture in the early Nanjing Decade, 1927-1937. Handbook Global History of Work Karin Hofmeester, Marcel van der Linden, 2017-11-20. Coffee from East Africa, wine from California, chocolate from the Ivory Coast: all those everyday products are based on labour, often produced under appalling conditions but always involving the combination of various work processes we are often not aware of. What is the day to day reality for workers in various parts of the world and how was it in the past? How do they work today and how did they work in the past? These and many other questions comprise the field of the global history of work, a young discipline that is introduced with this handbook. In 8 thematic chapters, this book discusses these aspects of work in a global and long term perspective, paying attention to several kinds of work: convict labour, slave and wage labour, labour migration and workers of the textile industry, but also workers' organisation, strikes and motivations for work are part of this first handbook of global labour history, written by the most renowned scholars of the profession.
