Embodied Collective Memory Rafael F. Narváez, 2013 The human body is not a given fact it is not as Descartes believed a machine made up of flesh and bones The body is acquired achieved and learned It is thus full of mimetic and mnemonic implications The body remembers and it does so in collectively relevant ways Gestures corporeal and phonetic rhythms affective idioms and emotional styles perceptual sensorial motoric and affective schemata are all largely learned in shared social contexts These aspects of the embodied experience are often consigned to habit to bodily automatisms and to corporeal memories that reflect aspects of culture But if the body reflects certain aspects of culture that press to become naturalized and organically attached to social actors it also resists these kinds of cultural pressures These adaptive and resistive dynamics as this book shows are not without consequences for individuals and groups These processes can result in both advantages and disadvantages for social actors They can take us toward certain futures while foreclosing others It is therefore necessary to understand how why and to what extent corporeal memories are constructed but also resisted modified or created anew Knowing the Context James R. Nieman, Provides a specific and disciplined set of tools for study and analysis of contexts Helps preachers to discern values meanings and worldviews in their contexts Keyed to online sermon samples and other Web based features to enhance teaching Eurocentrism at the Margins Lutfi Sunar, 2016-05-05 Eurocentrism remains a prevailing feature of Western dominated social scientific perspectives tending to ignore alternative views originating outside the West and thus maintaining a form of scholarly hegemony As such there is an urgent need to reconsider Eurocentrism in social science to ask whether it constitutes an obstacle to understanding social problems and whether it is possible to go beyond Eurocentrism in the construction of reliable more universal knowledge At the same time certain questions persist particularly with regard to the extent to which recent revisionist challenges have really contributed to the surmounting of Eurocentric domination and whether the constant repetition of the concept serves to reinforce it This book engages with the central problems of Eurocentrism in the social sciences bringing together the work of scholars from around the world to offer a critique of this perspective from both European and non European positions thus shedding light on the binaries that often come into being in debates in this field Thematically organised and addressing a range of questions including Eurocentrism in historical studies in the understanding of religion and civilisation and in the study of international relations as well as in the institutionalisation and professionalisation of research and discourses on modernisation in the Middle East Eurocentrism at the Margins will appeal to scholars with interests in knowledge production and circulation and Eurocentrism and post colonialism in the social sciences American Book Publishing Record ,2005 Schools and
