Passive Cooling of Buildings D. Asimakopoulos, 2013-10-31 Energy use in buildings in the EU represents about 40% of the total annual energy consumption With greater awareness of the need to reduce energy consumption comes a growth of interest in passive cooling particularly as an alternative to air conditioning This book describes the fundamentals of passive cooling together with the principles and formulae necessary for its successful implementation The material is comprised largely of information and results compiled under the SAVE European Research Programme Solar Passive Building M. S. Sodha, 1986 NBS Building Science Series, 1974 NBS Building Science Series United States. National Bureau of Standards, 1980 Books in Series, 1876-1949 R.R. Bowker Company, 1982 An Economic Model for Passive Solar Designs in Commercial Environments Jeanne W. Powell, 1980 The report presents an economic model for evaluating passive solar designs in commercial environments It discusses the literature on this topic and draws upon this literature to develop a general methodological framework The model incorporates a life cycle costing approach that focuses on the costs of purchase installation maintenance repairs replacement and energy It includes a detailed analysis of tax laws affecting the use of solar energy in commercial buildings Possible methods of treating difficult to measure benefits and costs such as effects of the passive solar design on resale value of the building and on lighting costs rental income from the building and the use of commercial space are presented The model is illustrated in two case examples of prototypical solar designs for low rise commercial buildings in an urban setting Energy in Architecture John R. Goulding, J. Owen Lewis, T. C. Steemers, 1992 A detailed design guide to energy efficient passive solar architecture drawing together essential information from leading European practitioners and world experts A Handbook on Low-Energy Buildings and District-Energy Systems L.D. Danny Harvey, 2012-08-21 Winner of Choice Magazine Outstanding Academic Titles for 2007 Buildings account for over one third of global energy use and associated greenhouse gas emissions worldwide Reducing energy use by buildings is therefore an essential part of any strategy to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and thereby lessen the likelihood of potentially catastrophic climate change Bringing together a wealth of hard to obtain information on energy use and energy efficiency in buildings at a level which can be easily digested and applied Danny Harvey offers a comprehensive objective and critical sourcebook on low energy buildings Topics covered include thermal envelopes heating cooling heat pumps HVAC systems hot water lighting solar energy appliances and office equipment embodied energy buildings as systems and community integrated energy systems cogeneration district heating and district cooling The book includes exemplary buildings and techniques from North America Europe and Asia and combines a broad holistic perspective with technical detail in an accessible and insightful manner The Residential Energy Audit Manual United States. Department of Energy, 1981 A Tool for Design Decision Making Shady Attia, 2012-05 This thesis investigates the use of building performance simulation tools as a method of informing the design decision of Net Zero Energy Buildings NZEBs Integrated
