Somalia The Untold Story The War Through The Eyes Of Somali Women:

Somalia - the Untold Story Judith Gardner, Judy El Bushra, 2004-01-20 Somalia came to the world's attention in 1992 when television and newspapers began to report on the terrifyingly violent war and the famine that resulted. Half a million Somalis died that year and over a million fled the country. Cameras followed US troops as they landed on the beaches at Mogadishu to lead what became an ill-fated UN intervention to end hunger and restore peace. In this book Somali women write and talk about the war, their experiences and the unacceptable choices they often faced. They explain clearly in their own words the changes, challenges and sometimes the opportunities that war brought and how they coped with them. Key themes include the slaughter and loss of men who were the prime target for killings, rape and sexual violence as a weapon of war, changing roles in the family and within the pastoralist economy, women mobilising for peace and leading social recovery in a war-torn society. This book is not only an important record of women's experience of war but also provides researchers and students of gender and conflict with rare first-hand accounts highlighting the impact of war on gender relations and women's struggle for equal political rights in a situation of state collapse. Somalia - The Untold Story Judith Gardner, Judy El Bushra, 2004. Explores the experiences of women in Somalia and how they have survived the trauma of war. Shari'a, Inshallah Mark Fathi Massoud, 2021-05-27 Shari'a Inshallah shows how people have used shari'a to struggle for peace, justice and human rights in Somalia and Somaliland. The Thistle and the Drone Akbar Ahmed, 2013-02-27 In the wake of the 9/11 attacks the United States declared war on terrorism. More than ten years later the results are decidedly mixed. Here world-renowned author, diplomat and scholar Akbar Ahmed reveals an important yet largely ignored result of this war: in many nations it has exacerbated the already broken relationship between central governments and the largely rural Muslim tribal societies on the peripheries of both Muslim and non-Muslim nations. The center and the periphery are engaged in a mutually destructive civil war across the globe, a conflict that has been intensified by the war on terror. Conflicts between governments and tribal societies predate the war on terror in many regions from South Asia to the Middle East to North Africa, pitting those in the centers of power against those who live in the outlying provinces. Akbar Ahmed's unique study demonstrates that this conflict between the center and the periphery has entered a new and dangerous stage with US involvement after 9/11 and the deployment of drones in the hunt for al-Qaeda, threatening the very existence of many tribal societies. American firepower and its vast anti-terror network have turned the war on terror into a global war on tribal Islam. And too often the victims are innocent children at school, women in their homes, workers simply trying to earn a living and worshipers in their mosques. Battered by military attacks or drone strikes one day and suicide bombers the next, the tribes bemoan. Every day is like 9/11 for us. In The Thistle and the Drone, the third volume in Ahmed's groundbreaking trilogy examining relations between America and the Muslim world, the author draws on forty case studies representing the global span of Islam to demonstrate how the US has become involved directly or indirectly in each of these societies. The study provides the social and historical context necessary to understand how both central governments and tribal societies have become embroiled in America's war. Beginning with Waziristan and expanding to societies in Central Asia, the Middle East, North Africa, and elsewhere, Ahmed offers a fresh approach to the conflicts studied and presents an unprecedented paradigm for understanding and winning the war on terror. The Thistle and the Drone was the 2013 Foreword Reviews Gold winner for Political Science.

Mediated Boyhoods Annette Wannamaker, 2011. Mediated Boyhoods: Boys, Teens, and Young Men in Popular Media and Culture brings together work from various disciplines that explores the relationships among the everyday lives of boys and such media platforms as television, films, games, sports, music, urban and suburban culture, fashion, young adult novels, Facebook, MySpace, and YouTube. Offering a comprehensive overview of boyhood studies, chapters consider questions about the current state of boyhood as it is represented in the popular media, the ways that boys are influenced by and work to influence popular culture, the ways that popular texts often reflect adult expectations, anxieties, and prejudices about boys and boyhood, and the ways that boys, teens, and young men are often able to reflect upon and to act, sometimes unpredictably, to resist, subvert, or re-imagine and re-create popular culture and media. The volume serves as a companion to Mediated Girlhoods: New Explorations of Girls' Media Culture, edited by Mary Celeste Kearney.

Peace Clan Peter M. Sensenig, 2016-03-02. What happens when North American Mennonite Christians arrive in Islamic Somalia? The answer, according to Peter Sensenig, is that something new emerges: a peace clan. From the first schools and medical work in the 1950s up to the educational partnerships of the present day, Somalis and Mennonites formed a surprising friendship that defied conventional labels. Peace Clan is the story of two deeply traditional communities as they encounter change. How can Somalis apply the profound peacemaking resources of their culture and faith in a society fragmented by violence? And how can modernizing Mennonites make sense of their peace convictions in the context of civil war and military intervention? In struggling with these questions over the course of six decades, Somalis and Mennonites held a mirror up to one another. The author shows how the common quest to transform enmity brings out the best in both communities and suggests what a fruitful partnership might look like in the present challenges. Students, academics, and lay readers alike will find on these pages a compelling invitation to join the peace clan.

Political Geographies of Piracy B. VandeBerg, Brittany Gilmer, 2014-10-02. This book examines the increasing role of development organizations in securitization processes and argues that the new security-development-counter piracy framework is re-shaping political geographies of piracy by promoting disciplinary strategies aimed at the prevention and containment of gendered and racialized actions and bodies in Somalia.

Refugee Women Leah Bassel, 2012-05-31. Debates over the headscarf and niqab, so-called sharia tribunals, Female Genital Operations, and forced marriages have raged in Europe and North America in recent years, raising the question: does accommodating Islam violate women's rights? The book takes issue with the terms of this debate. It contrasts debates in France over the headscarf and in Canada over religious arbitration with the lived experience of a specific group of

Muslim women Somali refugee women The challenges these women eloquently describe first hand demonstrate that the fray over accommodating culture and religion neglects other needs and engenders a democratic deficit In Refugee Women Beyond Gender versus Culture new theoretical perspectives recast both the story told and who tells the tale By focusing on the politics underlying how these debates are framed and the experiences of women at the heart of these controversies women are considered first and foremost as democratic agents rather than actors in the culture versus gender script Crucially the institutions and processes created to address women s needs are critically assessed from this perspective Breaking from scholarship that focuses on whether the accommodation of culture and religion harms women Bassel argues that this debate ignores the realities of the women at its heart In these debates Muslim women are constructed as silent victims Bassel pleads compellingly for a consideration of women in all their complexity as active participants in democratic life The book will appeal to students and scholars throughout the social sciences particularly of sociology political science and women s studies

Women and Power in Post-Conflict Africa Aili Mari Tripp, 2015-10-20 The book explains an unexpected consequence of the decrease in conflict in Africa after the 1990s Analysis of cross national data and in depth comparisons of case studies of Uganda Liberia and Angola show that post conflict countries have significantly higher rates of women s political representation in legislatures and government compared with countries that have not undergone major conflict They have also passed more legislative reforms and made more constitutional changes relating to women s rights The study explains how and why these patterns emerged tying these outcomes to the conjuncture of the rise of women s movements changes in international women s rights norms and most importantly gender disruptions that occur during war This book will help scholars students women s rights activists international donors policy makers non governmental organizations NGOs and others better understand some of the circumstances that are most conducive to women s rights reform today and why

The Horn of Africa since the 1960s Aleksi Ylönen, Jan Záhořík, 2017-02-17 The Horn of Africa has long been one of the most dynamic and politically turbulent sub regions on the African continent Host to great ancient civilizations diverse peoples and expansive states the region has experienced massive social economic and political transformations which have given rise to military coups revolutions and intractable ethnic socio economic and religious conflicts This comprehensive volume brings together a team of expert scholars who analyze international regional national and local affairs in the Horn of Africa The chapters demonstrate the intertwined nature of the actors and forces shaping political realities The case studies focusing on Ethiopia Eritrea Somalia Somaliland Sudan and South Sudan eloquently illustrate the complex dynamics connecting the spectrum of political issues in the region The Horn of Africa since the 1960s will be of interest to students and scholars of contemporary Africa and political science

State Recognition and Democratization in Sub-Saharan Africa L. Buur, H. Kyed, 2007-11-26 Being critical and empirically grounded the book explores the complex often counter balancing consequences of the involvement of traditional authority in the wave of democratization and liberal style state building that has rolled over sub Saharan Africa in the past decade Being-Here Annika Lems,2018-05-24 Exploring the lifeworlds of Halima Omar and Mohamed three middle aged Somalis living in Melbourne Australia the author discusses the interrelated meanings of emplacement and displacement as experienced in people s everyday lives Through their experiences of displacement and placemaking Being Here examines the figure of the refugee as a metaphor for societal alienation and estrangement and moves anthropological theory towards a new understanding of the crucial existential links between Sein Being and Da Here Cosmopolitan Refugees Nereida

Ripero-Muñiz,2023-01-13 Exploring the dynamics of identity formation processes in diasporic spaces this book analyses how gender cultural and religious practices are renegotiated in a situation of displacement The author presents the comparative case study of Somali migrant women in Nairobi and Johannesburg two cosmopolitan urban hubs in the global South The book is based on and includes ethnographic observations in Nairobi and Johannesburg first person accounts of migration journeys across the African continent and women s reflections on what it means to be a Somali woman today Motherhood and War D. Cooper,C. Phelan,2014-07-10 Traditional histories of war have typically explored masculine narratives of military and political action leaving private domestic life relatively unstudied This volume expands our understanding by looking at the relationships between mothers and children and the varied roles both have assumed during periods of armed conflict

Strong Families Around the World John DeFrain,Sylvia Asay,2014-06-11 The strengths of families from culture to culture when compared to each other are remarkably similar and give us common ground around the world upon which to unite and develop mutual understanding Strengths Based Research and Perspectives Strong Families Around the World provides a conceptual framework for global family strengths discussing the diverse strengths and challenges that families face regardless of location This book presents 43 expert authors from 18 countries in all seven major areas in the world who explain what it means to be a family in the context of their country and the challenges their country faces in the world today Focusing on the latest studies of similarities between strong families of different cultures Strengths Based Research and Perspectives Strong Families Around the World presents a wide variety of disciplines including family studies family education family therapy modern languages psychology social work sociology cultural anthropology and nursing This insightful text centers on the Family Strengths Perspective a paradigm that not only recognizes that there are problems in families today but demonstrates clearly how these can be dealt with successfully This valuable resource provides case study examples quotations from literature and cultural mythology tables figures and extensive references to give readers an in depth understanding of the issues from strengths based perspectives Topics in Strengths Based Research and Perspectives Strong Families Around the World include an introduction into the Family Strengths Perspective the International Family Strengths Model the propositions of the Family Strengths Perspective how the Family Strengths Perspective fits with other conceptual frameworks families from a global perspective a conceptual framework for understanding global family strengths and challenges Strengths Based Research and Perspectives Strong Families Around the World is useful as a text in marriage and family relationships classes cross cultural family patterns classes strengths based practitioner training classes and family therapy and family educator training classes This valuable resource will also be of great interest to family educators family therapists psychologists social workers nurses and religious counselors Yalla Feminists Lina AbiRafah, Rebecca O'Keeffe, 2023-11-07 The Arab region continues to be among the most challenging in the world for the progress of women's rights Equality remains elusive for women and vulnerable groups in the region due to traditional patriarchal cultures protracted crises lack of religious freedom discriminatory legal frameworks and chronic insecurity The strongest indicator of peace in any country is in its treatment of women but the story of women's rights in the region is one of patchy progress and major regress Today women are experiencing a massive backlash against their rights and fundamental freedoms And yet there is hope Feminists particularly young feminists from the Arab region fight tirelessly for their rights and are leading movements around the region pushing for change This book looks at the last 50 years of Arab feminism with a view to understanding what the next 50 years will hold Built from hundreds of firsthand accounts with women in the region this book brings together voices across the 22 Arab states to present new pathways to women's rights and gender equality Forced Migration in Eastern Africa C. Veney, 2006-12-11 This study enriches understanding of East Africa's refugee situation by examining the conditions that gave rise to it and how the refugees themselves sought to reconstruct their lives Focusing on the 1990s Veney compares Kenya and Tanzania two nations that did not generate many refugees but become important hosts for the general region Educated for Change? Patricia Buck, Rachel Silver, 2012-12-01 Educated for Change Muslim Women in the West inserts Muslim women's voice and action into the bifurcated and otherwise male dominated relations between the West and the Islamic East A multilayered multisite educational ethnography Buck and Silver's study takes a novel approach to its feminist charge Drawing upon thick description of refugee women's school experiences in two seemingly distinct locations Educated for Change engages the dual nature of schooling as at once a disciplinary apparatus of local national and international governance and paradoxically a space and process through which school community members wield the power to observe deliberate and act as agents in the creative and willful endeavor of living In doing so the text locates formal schooling as a key location at which one can witness the politics of cultural change that emerge when Western and Islamic communities converge Following an initial introduction to the ethno historical formation and dissolution of the Somali postcolonial state resulting in a prolonged exodus of Somali citizens the text is divided into two parts Part One features an examination of young women's approaches to schooling in the Dadaab refugee camps of northeastern Kenya Part Two looks at schooling among Somali women resettled in a northern region of the United States Each part includes a description of the unique if interconnected local factors and policies that give rise to particular forms and ends of schooling as designed for refugee women Several chapters depict women's strategic use of schooling to respond to structural forces build intercultural social networks and negotiate new ways of being Somali women Educated for Change concludes with an analysis of the implications of Somali refugee women s schooling experiences for working definitions of global social justice that undergird feminist political scholarship and gender sensitive humanitarian aid policy and practice Women,

Borders, and Violence Sharon Pickering,2010-12-21 Women at the Border analyzes border policing practices currently informed by paradigms of securitization against unauthorized mobility and explores the potential for a paradigm shift to a more ethical regulation of borders By focusing on the ways women have sought to cross borders in extra legal fashion the book shows how border enforcement differentially impacts on some populations and makes the case that unauthorized migration requires management rather than repulsion and criminalization When facing the emerging and future challenges of unauthorized mobility border policing must be recast as a function of human rights that results in greater human security at the border Examining gender and border policing across Europe North America and Australia this book enhances our understanding of the gendered determinants of extra legal border crossing border policing and the changing dynamics of unauthorized mobility The Gender Imperative Betty A. Reardon,Asha Hans,2012-12-06 The book asserts that human security derives from the experience and expectation of human well being which depends on four essential conditions a life sustaining environment the meeting of essential physical needs respect for the identity and dignity of persons and groups protection from avoidable harm and expectations of remedy from them The book demonstrates their integral relationship to human security Patriarchy being the germinal paradigm from which most major human institutions such as the state the economy organised religions and social relations have evolved the book argues that fundamental inequalities must be challenged for the sake of equality and security The fundamental point raised is that expectation of human well being is a continuing cause of armed conflict which constitutes a threat to peace and survival of all humanity and human security cannot exist within a militarised security system The editors of the book bring together 14 essays which critically examine militarised security in order to find human security pathways show ways in which to refute the dominant paradigm indicate a clear gender analysis that challenges the current system and suggests alternatives to militarised security With a mix of female and male feminist scholar activists as contributors the book makes an important contribution to a new discourse on human security
