Reducing the Risk of Violent Crime Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Committee of Public

Accounts,2008 This is the 45th report from the Committee of Public Accounts HCP 546 session 2007 08 It follows an NAO report on the same topic published as HCP 241 session 2007 08 ISBN 9780102952964 In general violent crime has fallen in recent years but mores serious violent offences such as homicide and wounding have not fallen as swiftly The number of recorded crimes involving a firearm doubled between 1998 99 and 2005 06 as did the number of 15 17 year olds convicted of carrying a knife in public The Committee has set out a number of conclusions and recommendations including that only since 2007 has it been mandatory for the police to record the presence of a knife at the scene of a crime that the majority of victims of violent crime treated in A that the Committee believes that the Home Office and the Department of Health should jointly establish a national system for the automatic sharing of depersonalised violent crime data between hospitals police and the Crime that the Department has made little progress since 2005 in managing to distribute funding for tackling violent crime to the Crime that the Home Office has a limited understanding of the nature of gang membership and activity and how such activity has changed over time that only one third of the Crime Disorder Reduction Partnerships had developed written strategies to tackle violent crime and that they also lacked the analytical capacity needed to assess the data they collect on violent crime in their locality

Tourist's Guide to Somersetshire, Rail and Road Richard Nicholls Worth,1885 Reconstructing the Development of Somerset's Early Medieval Church Carole Lomas,2024-05-09 This book uses Somerset as a case study to contribute to a broader understanding of how the Church developed across the British Isles during the transition from the post Roman Church to the 11th century It collates and cross references all earlier research and offers the most up to date study of Somerset s post Roman churches The Quarterly Journal of the Geological Society of London Geological Society of London,1905 Vols 1 108 include Proceedings of the society separately paged beginning with v 30 Interpreting the Landscape Michael Aston,2002-09-11 Most places in Britain have had a local history written about them Up until this century these histories have addressed more parochial issues such as the life of the manor rather than explaining the features and changes in the landscape in a factual manner Much of what is visible today in Britain s landscape is the result of a chain of social and natural processes and can be interpreted through fieldwork as well as from old maps and documents Michael Aston uses a wide range of source material to study the complex and dynamic history of the countryside illustrating his points with aerial photographs maps plans and charts He shows how to understand the surviving remains as well as offering his own explanations for how our landscape has evolved

Roman and Medieval Exeter and their Hinterlands Stephen Rippon, Neil Holbrook, 2021-04-30 This first volume presenting research carried out through the Exeter A Place in Time project provides a synthesis of the development of Exeter within its local regional national and international hinterlands Exeter began life in c AD 55 as one of the most important legionary bases within early Roman Britain and for two brief periods in the early and late 60s AD Exeter was a critical centre of Roman power within the new province When the legion moved to Wales the fortress was converted into the civitas capital for the Dumnonii Its development as a town was however relatively slow reflecting the gradual pace at which the region as a whole adapted to being part of the Roman world The only evidence we have for occupation within Exeter between the 5th and 8th centuries is for a church in what was later to become the Cathedral Close In the late 9th century however Exeter became a defended burh and this was followed by the revival of urban life Exeter's wealth was in part derived from its central role in the south west's tin industry and by the late 10th century Exeter was the fifth most productive mint in England Exeter's importance continued to grow as it became an episcopal and royal centre and excavations within Exeter have revealed important material culture assemblages that reflect its role as an international port

Property, Power and the Growth of Towns Catherine Casson, Mark Casson, 2023-05-05 Local enterprise institutional quality and strategic location were of central importance in the growth of medieval towns This book comprising a study of 112 English towns emphasises these key factors Downstream locations on major rivers attracted international trade and thereby stimulated the local processing of imports and exports while the early establishment of richly endowed religious institutions funnelled agricultural rental income into a town where it was spent on luxury goods produced by local craftsmen and artisans and on expensive long running building schemes Local entrepreneurs who recognised the economic potential of a town developed residential suburbs which attracted wealthy residents Meanwhile town authorities invested in the building and maintenance of bridges gates walls and ditches often with financial support from wealthy residents Royal lordship was also an advantage to a town as it gave the town authorities direct access to the king and bypassed local power brokers such as bishops and earls The legacy of medieval investment remains visible today in the streets of important towns Drawing on rentals deeds and surveys this book also examines in detail the topography of seven key medieval towns Bristol Gloucester Coventry Cambridge Birmingham Shrewsbury and Hull In each case surviving records identify the location and value of urban properties and their owners and tenants Using statistical techniques previously applied only to the early modern and modern periods the book analyses the impact of location and type of property on property values It shows that features of the modern property market including spatial autocorrelation were present in the middle ages Property hot spots of high rents are also identified the most valuable properties were those situated between the market and other focal points such transport hubs and religious centres convenient for both but remote from noise and pollution This book takes an interdisciplinary approach drawing on expertise from the disciplines of economics and history It will be of interest to historians and to social scientists looking for a long run perspective on urban development New landscape of policing Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Home Affairs Committee,2011-09-23 In this report the Home Affairs Committee examines the Government s proposals for policing reform Key findings i it is unacceptable that more than a year after the Government announced it was phasing out the National Policing Improvement Agency it still has not announced any definite decisions about the future of the vast majority of the functions currently performed by the Agency the phasing out of the Agency should be delayed until the end of 2012 ii after the Olympics the Home Office should consider making counter terrorism a separate command of the New National Crime Agency rather than it being the responsibility of the Metropolitan Police iii the Government must urgently appoint a head of the new National Crime Agency iv a Professional Body for policing could ultimately become a useful part of the policing landscape v the Home Office should be more active in encouraging and supporting forces to collaborate with one another vi IT across the police service as a whole is not fit for purpose and the Home Office must make revolutionising police IT a top priority vii the review of pay and conditions is having an inevitable impact on morale in the police service but it is possible to do more to mitigate this viii The Committee commends the work of Jan Berry the former Reducing Bureaucracy in Policing Advocate in emphasising that reducing bureaucracy in the police service is not simply about reducing paperwork but addressing the causes of that paperwork

Local Style in English Architecture Thomas Atkinson,2024-02-29 Originally published in 1947 this book examines the regional styles of architecture which developed inside England itself particularly during the later medieval period It discusses the causes and locations of these regional variations In explaining the cause for the geographical variations in style the author investigates the various factors responsible for bringing them about such as geology race religion foreign influence transport and fashion As churches have survived the passage of time better than many secular buildings the emphasis is on church architecture although not exclusively The book contains over 120 photographs and the book is an original and important inquiry into the origin and development of local styles in English architecture Birds In Counties: An Ornithological Bibliography Of The Counties Of England, Wales, Scotland And The Isle Of Man David K Ballance,2000-05-05 This is an ornithological bibliography for the counties of England Wales and Scotland and for the Isle of Man It includes all known books pamphlets and papers which contain substantial studies of the birds of local areas from a county down to a back garden or a gravel pit Each county has an introduction on its boundaries and the history of its ornithology There has been no comprehensive national publication of this kind since Mullens Swann and Jourdain s Geographical Bibliography in 1920 The volume also provides a detailed record of the many county and local bird reports and of the ever increasing number of area surveys produced by statutory and voluntary bodies The material is arranged by the pre 1974 counties and takes the record up to 1995 There are maps to show the many changes in county boundaries since 1800 The book will be a standard reference work for libraries and collectors and for anyone interested in the rich and diverse development of local ornithology in its homeland Statutory Instruments Great Britain, 1973
