Researching the Socio-Political Dimensions of Mathematics Education Paola Valero, Robyn Zevenbergen, 2006-04-11 Mathematics education research as a discipline is situated at the confluence of an array of diffuse seemingly incommensurable and radically divergent discourses Research claims that have grown out of mathematics education are wide ranging and antagonistic rather than circumscribed by hidebound disciplinary frames While there has never been a unified totalising discipline of knowledge labelled mathematics education research and while it has always been a contested terrain it is fair to say that the master paradigm out of which this field has been generated has been that of cognitive psychology Mainstream mathematics education knowledges refracting the master discourse of psychology whereby cognition serves as the central privileged and defining concept clearly delimits its possibilities for serving as a social tool of democratic transformation The central point of departure of this new collection is that mathematics education research is insufficiently univocal to support the type of uncompromising interpretation that cognitive psychologists would bring to it The hallmark contribution of this pathbreaking volume edited by Paola Valero and Robyn Zevenbergen is the paradigmatic shift the authors have effected in the field of mathematics education research taking up a position at the faultline of socio cultural analysis and critical pedagogy

Ethnography David M. Fetterman, 2019-09-19 This popular text has a how to and here s what you need to do approach to ethnographic research taking the mystery out of the research process and making ethnography accessible to the reader

Classic Anthropology John William Bennett, Classic Anthropology is Bennett s label for the work produced by anthropologists during the period 1915 1955 which many believe represents the most productive era in the discipline s history It is also one that can never be repeated given the fact that most of anthropology s basic data the ideas and customs of tribal peoples have been extinguished or greatly transformed by modernization and nationalization The book is composed of some fifteen essays Among the issues examined are the emergence of a functionalist viewpoint in ethnology the difficulties of developing a theory of human behavior because of the focus on culture the search for concepts of culture to serve specialized needs the neglect of social psychology by the culture and personality field how value judgments emerged willy nilly or conversely were neglected in ethnological research how applied anthropology was challenged by Action Anthropology and how the interdisciplinary anthropology of the late 1940s was submerged in the postwar effort to return the discipline to traditional roots Individual anthropologists whose work is examined include among others Bronislaw Malinowski Leslie Spier Alfred Kroeber Ralph Linton Margaret Mead Ruth Benedict Clyde Kluckhohn Gregory Bateson and Walter Taylor

Handbook of Methods in Cultural Anthropology H. Russell Bernard, Clarence C. Gravlee, 2014-07-08 The Handbook of Methods in Cultural Anthropology now in its second edition maintains a strong benchmark for understanding the scope of contemporary anthropological field methods. Avoiding divisive debates over science and humanism, the contributors draw upon both traditions to explore fieldwork in practice. The second edition also reflects major developments of the past decade, including the rising prominence of mixed methods, the emergence of new technologies, and evolving views on ethnographic writing. Spanning the chain of research from designing a project through methods of data collection and interpretive analysis, the Handbook features new chapters on ethnography of online communities, social survey research, and network and geospatial analysis. Considered discussion of ethics, epistemology, and the presentation of research results to diverse audiences round out the volume. The result is an essential guide for all scholars, professionals, and advanced students who employ fieldwork.

Empowerment Evaluation David M. Fetterman, Shakeh J. Kaftarian, Abraham Wandersman, 1996. Empowerment evaluation, a method for using evaluation concepts, techniques, and findings to foster improvement and self-determination, is the focus of this book. After an examination of the method as it has been adopted in academic and foundation settings, the book looks at the various contexts in which empowerment evaluation is conducted, ranging from resistant environments to responsive environments. Critical concerns in empowerment evaluation, such as the role of empowerment theory and multiple levels of empowerment from individual to societal, are then discussed. The book also provides tools and technical assistance needed to conduct empowerment evaluation. The concluding section of the book serves to strengthen the links between empow.

Handbook of Critical Policy Studies Frank Fischer, Douglas Torgerson, Anna Durnová, Michael Orsini, 2015-12-18. Critical policy studies, as illustrated in this Handbook, challenges the conventional approaches to public policy inquiry. But it offers important innovations as well, in particular its focus on discursive politics, policy argumentation, and deliberation, and interpretive modes of analysis.

Ethics and Planning Research Francesco Lo Piccolo, 2016-05-13. The consideration of ethics in social research has gained increasing prominence in the past few years, particularly research which seeks to inform public policy. This important and unique book provides a thorough examination of the issues relating to research ethics in planning for an international audience. The authors examine alternative frameworks within which ethical action can be discussed and critically describe the key institutional arrangements surrounding the management of ethical behaviour in research. Also included are highly relevant accounts of ethical challenges faced in planning research.

Encyclopedia of Applied Developmental Science Celia B. Fisher, Richard M. Lerner, 2004-10-16. The most comprehensive one-stop source for the latest in applied developmental science. Don Floyd, President and CEO, National 4-H Council. The Encyclopedia of Applied Developmental Science is an important and timely contribution to this burgeoning field. This four-volume set is the authoritative source that encompasses the entire range of concepts and topics involved in the study of applied developmental science. Its contents and levels have broad appeal for those interested in how the application of knowledge about human development can be used to enhance the lives of individuals, families, and communities. The breadth of activity in applied developmental science makes adequate representation of its concepts and topics a daunting challenge. To this end the encyclopedia seeks to answer the following questions: How may information about this field be integrated in a manner accessible, meaningful, and useful to the next generation of the leaders of our nation and world? How may we best convey the knowledge necessary for them to understand the nature of their development and the way that they may contribute positively to their own lives, to their families and communities, and to the designed and natural environments of which they will be stewards? The Encyclopedia of Applied Developmental Science provides the most effective way to address these questions. It includes entries written in an authoritative but not overly technical manner by the broad range of scholars and practitioners involved in applied developmental science. In addition to an alphabetical table of contents, there is a readers guide that organizes the entries into 30 content categories to help the reader locate similarly themed entries with ease. The encyclopedia is ideal for libraries serving those with interests in psychology, human development, human ecology, education, sociology, family and consumer sciences, and nursing, as well as social work and other human services disciplines. The entries are written to be accessible to not only professionals but also to policy makers and other potential consumers of applied developmental science scholarship. This includes young people and their parents, teachers, and counselors.
