Specialisation And Choice In Urban Education The City Technology College Experiment:

Specialisation and Choice in Urban Education Geoff Whitty, Tony Edwards, Sharon Gewirtz, 2022-05-29 First published in 1993 Specialisation and Choice in Urban Education explores how city technology colleges CTC have managed the task of selecting intakes representatives of their catchment areas and explore their impact on local schools From their announcements in 1986 CTC have been presented both as a new choice of school for the inner city and as pointing the way to a more diversified education system This account of their development uses interviews with key architects of the initiative to identify more clearly the objectives CTCs were designed to serve It then draws on interviews and observation in CTCs themselves to discover how far these schools are becoming centres of innovation in school management curriculum and approaches to teaching and learning Throughout the CTC policy is considered in the context of Government s broader political project to challenge welfarism and to encourage entrepreneurship competition and choice This book is an essential read for scholars and researchers of education policy sociology of education and education in general Re-Reading

Education Policies ,2009-01-01 This book collects studies with a critical education policy orientation and presents itself as a handbook of matters of public concern The term critical does not refer to the adoption of a particular theoretical framework or methodology but rather it refers to a very specific ethos or way of relating to the present and the belief that the future should not be the repetition of the past This implies a concern about what is happening in our societies today and what could or should be happening in the future As a consequence the contributors to the book rely on a general notion of public policy that takes on board processes practices and discourses at a variety of levels in diverse governmental and non governmental contexts and considers the relation of policy to power to politics and to social regulation Following the detailed introduction that aims at picturing the landscape of studies with a critical education policy orientation the book presents re readings of six policy challenges globalization knowledge society lifelong learning equality democracy social inclusion accountability control efficiency and teacher professionalism It seeks to contextualise these in relation to issues of current global concern at the start of the 21st century Despite the diversity of approaches this collection of critical education policy studies shares a concern with what could be called the public and its education and represents a snapshot of education policy research at a particular time Education Between State, Markets, and Civil Society Heinz-Dieter Meyer, William Lowe Boyd, 2001-05 Scholars from the US Europe explore the promise of civil society to rejuvenate systems of public education that are frequently characterized by bureaucratic over regulation lack of diversity and choice and inequality of opportunity

Power/knowledge/pedagogy Dennis Carlson, 2018-03-05 The essays in this volume explore the educational implications of unsettling shifts in contemporary culture associated with postmodernism These shifts include the fragmentation of established power blocs the emergence of a politics of identity growing inequalities between the haves and the have nots in a new global economy and the rise in influence of popular culture in defining who we are In the academy postmodernism has been associated with the emergence of new theoretical perspectives that are unsettling the way we think about education. These shifts the authors suggest are deeply contradictory and may lead in divergent political directions, some of them quite dangerous. Power Knowledge Pedagogy examines these issues with regard to four broad domains of educational inquiry: state educational policy and curriculum reform, student identity formation, the curriculum as a text, and critical pedagogy. The book contributes to the dialogue on the forging of a new commonsense discourse on democratic educational renewal attuned to the changing times in which we live.

Pupil Disaffection in Schools Sarah Swann, 2016-04-15 Sarah Swann provides a fresh approach to examining the long standing debates over disaffection and in particular social class differences in educational achievement through a mixed methods methodology and the showcasing of new research. By observing pupils as they engage with peers and teachers in school Swann allows disaffection to be seen and heard in real events which constructs disaffection differently from objective statistical evidence on school exclusions. Rather than a homogenous identity this book illustrates disaffection as layered and resting on a series of issues located on the crossroads between the cultural context of the neighbourhood and the public sphere of the school. It plots in a detailed way how these structures interact and mesh to create disaffected identities. Disaffection does not emerge in a vacuum or without a cause. Pupils arrive at school with a wide variety of experiences and it is from these that they interpret, understand and act out their identities. Whilst the study in part seeks to describe and understand the social world of the school in terms of the pupils' interpretations of the situation, it analytically frames the perceptions of pupils within a wider social context. In particular it focuses on the relationships between schooling and the wider macro structures and social relations that underpin disaffection. This approach makes the research both critical and interpretative and also able to shed new light on educational policy across England based on an understanding of the role of disaffection.

Education in Britain Ken Jones, 2016-01-27 In the decades after 1944 the four nations of Britain shared a common educational programme. By 2015 this programme had fragmented; the patterns of schooling and higher education in Wales, Scotland, Northern Ireland and England resembled each other less and less. This new edition of the popular Education in Britain traces and explains this process of divergence as well as the arguments and conflicts that have accompanied it. With a reach that extends from the primary school to the university and from culture to politics and economics, Ken Jones explores the achievements and limits of post-war reform and the egalitarian aspirations of the 1960s and 1970s. He registers the impact of the Thatcherite revolution of the 1980s and of the New Labour governments which were its inheritors. Turning to the twenty-first century, Jones tracks the educational consequences of devolution and austerity. The result is a book which is more attentive than any other to the ever increasing diversity of education in Britain. This comprehensive and accessible overview will have a wide appeal. It will also be an invaluable resource on courses in educational studies, teacher education and sociology.

Choice and Diversity in Schooling Carl Bagley, Ron Glatter, Philip Woods, 2005-06-27 This volume provides a unique insight into current understanding of a range of issues central to any analysis and evaluation of market like systems in schooling including Diversity and hierarchy amongst schools Parental criteria for choosing schools The differential impact on advantaged and disadvantaged families National and international variations in educational policies Rules and practices concerning school admissions Implications for future research and for educational policy are highlighted and the final chapter provides an overview of key themes and issues This book will interest all those involved in educational policy researchers students headteachers and other senior managers in schools

Education in a Federal UK John Furlong, Ingrid Lunt, 2019-10-23 Britain's two recent referenda on Brexit 2016 and on Scottish independence 2014 have raised in the public mind fundamental questions about the future of the UK It seems that for the first time the public the media and the political elite have woken up to the fact that in different parts of the UK there are different histories different aspirations and different imagined futures in relation to a whole range of vitally important political issues But what the public debate often fails to recognise is that in many areas of public life perhaps especially education the UK is already a federal state and in key respects has been so for many years The aim of this volume is therefore to take stock to try and capture what the current state of educational policy and practice is across the whole of the UK This has been achieved by commissioning two different papers from each of the four countries Wales Scotland Northern Ireland and England The first is an overview exploring the distinctive history principles and current policies of each country The second paper has been specifically chosen as a case study of a key policy that highlights the distinctiveness of each country the Foundation Phase for Wales assessment policy in Scotland shared education initiatives in Northern Ireland and higher education policy in England Taken together these eight papers give an important insight into the complexities of educational policy and practice across the whole of the UK today This volume was originally published as a special issue of Oxford Review of Education

The Practice and Theory of School Improvement David Hopkins, 2008-05-13 ANDY HARGREAVES Department of Teacher Education Curriculum and Instruction Lynch School of Education Boston College MA U S A ANN LIEBERMAN Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching Stanford CA U S A MICHAEL FULLAN Ontario Institute for Studies in Education University of Toronto Canada DAVID HOPKINS Department for Education and Skills London U K This set of four volumes on Educational Change brings together evidence and insights on educational change issues from leading writers and researchers in the field from across the world Many of these writers whose chapters have been specially written for these books have been investigating helping initiate and implementing educational change for most or all of their lengthy careers Others are working on the cutting edge of theory and practice in educational change taking the field in new or even more challenging directions And some are more skeptical about the literature of educational change and the assumptions on which it rests They help us to approach projects of understanding or initiating educational change more deeply reflectively and realistically Educational change and reform have rarely had so much prominence within public policy in so many different places Educational change is ubiquitous It figures large in Presidential and Prime

Ministerial speeches It is at or near the top of many National policy agendas Everywhere educational change is not only a policy priority but also major public news Yet action to bring about educational change usually exceeds people s understanding of how to do so effectively Leadership and the Reform of Education Helen Gunter,2012 This timely book analyses the relationship between the state public policy and the types of knowledge that New Labour used to make policy and break professional cultures
