Species At Risk Using Economic Incentives To Shelter Endangered Species On Private Lands:

Species at Risk Jason F. Shogren, 2014-05-14 Protecting endangered species of animals and plants is a goal that almost everyone supports in principle but in practice private landowners have often opposed the regulations of the Endangered Species Act which they argue unfairly limits their right to profit from their property To encourage private landowners to cooperate voluntarily in species conservation and to mitigate the economic burden of doing so the government and nonprofit land trusts have created a number of incentive programs including conservation easements leases habitat banking habitat conservation planning safe harbors candidate conservation agreements and the no surprise policy In this book lawyers economists political scientists historians and zoologists come together to assess the challenges and opportunities for using economic incentives as compensation for protecting species at risk on private property They examine current programs to see how well they are working and also offer ideas for how these programs could be more successful Their ultimate goal is to better understand how economic incentive schemes can be made both more cost effective and more socially acceptable while respecting a wide range of views regarding opportunity costs legal standing biological effectiveness moral appropriateness and social context

Saving Species on Private Lands Lowell E. Baier, 2020-03-09 Winner Independent Press Award Conservation Green 2021 The only hope for successful conservation of America's threatened endangered and at risk wildlife is through voluntary cooperative partnerships that focus on private land where over 75% of at risk species can be found Private landowners form the bedrock of these partnerships and they have a long history of rising to meet the challenge of conservation But they can't do it alone This book is a guide for private landowners who want to conserve wildlife Whether engaged in farming ranching forestry mining energy development or another business private working lands all have value as wildlife habitat with the proper management and financial support This book provides landowners and their partners with a roadmap to achieve conservation compatible with their financial and personal goals This book introduces the art and language of land management planning as well as regulatory compliance with laws such as the Endangered Species Act of 1973 It categorizes and explains the tools used by wildlife professionals to implement conservation on private lands Moreover it documents the multitude of federal state local and private opportunities for landowners to find financial and technical assistance in managing wildlife from working with a local NGO to accessing the 6 billion per year available through the federal Farm Bill

Proactive Strategies for Protecting Species C. Josh Donlan, 2015-03-20 Now forty years old the Endangered Species Act ESA remains a landmark act in conservation and one of the world's most comprehensive laws designed to prevent species extinctions and support recovery efforts for imperiled species A controversial law and often subject to political attack the ESA is successful overall but not without difficulties Those who enforce the ESA for example struggle to achieve viable recovery goals for many species At the forefront of challenges is a reactive framework that sometimes leads to perverse incentives and legal battles that strain support and resources Further few species have been delisted Proactive Strategies for Protecting Species explores the perspectives opportunities and challenges around designing and implementing pre listing programs and approaches to species conservation This volume brings together conservation biologists economists private and government stakeholders and others to create a legal scientific sociological financial and technological foundation for designing solutions that incentivize conservation action for hundreds of at risk species prior to their potential listing under the ESA This forward thinking innovative volume provides a roadmap for designing species conservation programs on the ground so they are effective and take place upstream of regulation which will contribute to a reduction in lawsuits and other expenses that arise after a species is listed Proactive Strategies for Species Protection is a guidebook for anyone anywhere interested in designing programs that incentivize environmental stewardship and species conservation

The Privatisation of Biodiversity? Colin T. Reid, Walters Nsoh, 2016-08-26 Current regulatory approaches have not prevented the loss of biodiversity across the world This book explores the scope to strengthen conservation by using different legal mechanisms such as biodiversity offsetting payment for ecosystem services and conservation covenants as well as tradable development rights and taxation The authors discuss how such mechanisms introduce elements of a market approach as well as private sector initiative and resources They show how examples already in operation serve to highlight the design challenges legal technical and ethical that must be overcome if these mechanisms are to be effective and widely accepted

Capitalizing on Nature Edward B. Barbier, 2011-09-08 The basic unit of nature the ecosystem is a special form of wealth which we can think of as a stock of natural capital However perhaps because this capital is free we have tended to view it as limitless abundant and always available for our use exploitation and conversion Capitalizing on Nature shows how modeling ecosystems as natural capital can help us to analyze the economic behavior that has led to the overuse of so much ecological wealth It explains how this concept of ecosystem as natural capital sheds light on a number of important issues including landscape conversion ecological restoration ecosystem resilience and collapse spatial benefits and payments for ecosystem services The book concludes by focusing on major policy challenges that need to be overcome in order to avert the worsening problem of ecological scarcity and how we can fund novel financing mechanisms for global conservation
