The Politics of Writing Islam Mahmut Mutman, 2013-11-21 The Politics of Writing Islam provides a much needed critique of existing forms of studying writing and representing Islam in the West Through critiquing ethnographic literary critical psychoanalytic and theological discourses the author reveals the problematic underlying cultural and theoretical presuppositions Mutman demonstrates how their approach reflects the socially politically and economically unequal relationship between the West and Islam While offering a critical insight into concepts such as writing power post colonialism difference and otherness on a theoretical level Mutman reveals a different perspective on Islam by emphasizing its living everyday and embodied aspects in dynamic relation with the outside world in contrast to the stereotyped authoritarian and backward religion characterized by an omnipotent God Throughout Mutman develops an approach to culture as an embodied everyday living and ever changing practice He argues that Islam should be perceived precisely in this way that is as an open heterogeneous interpretive multiple and worldly belief system within the Abrahamic tradition of ethical monotheism and as one that is contested within as well as outside its own culture
