"Fashion, Interior Design and the Contours of Modern Identity" Alla Myzelev, 2017-07-05

Challenging the notion that fashion and furniture were or are separate enterprises and distinct material aesthetic traditions, this collection focuses on three material and conceptual links central to understanding the relationship between interior design and fashion: the body, fabric, and space. The volume considers the changing visual material and spatial character, methodological challenges posed by, and formal, political, and historiographical significance of a wide range of British, European, and North American case studies since the eighteenth century. The volume's eleven case studies allow the reader to understand connecting notions behind the formation of interiors and fashionable clothing. The essays combine a wide range of significant and challenging new examples alongside powerful revisionary analyses of the various periods, artists, designers, and their best and significant objects.

Fashion, Interior Design and the Contours of Modern Identity is concerned not only with fabric but also with the body and the implications of embodiment in the practices of both design domains, which are equally invested in the comfort, aesthetic pleasure, extension, and support of the body in different and yet seemingly identical ways.
