Software Engineering - Esec '95 Wilhelm Schafer, Pere Botella, 2014-09-12 Software Engineering - ESEC '95
Wilhelm Schäfer, Pere Botella, 1995-09-13 This book constitutes the proceedings of the 5th European Software Engineering Conference ESEC 95 held in Sitges near Barcelona Spain in September 1995 The ESEC conferences are the premier European platform for the discussion of academic research and industrial use of software engineering technology The 29 revised full papers were carefully selected from more than 150 submissions and address all current aspects of relevance Among the topics covered are business process re engineering real time software metrics concurrency version and configuration management formal methods design process program analysis software quality and object oriented software development Software engineering, ESEC '95 Wilhelm Schäfer, Botella, Pere, 1995 Software Engineering - ESEC '95
Wilhelm Schäfer, Botella, Pere, 1995 ESEC '87 Howard K. Nichols, Dan Simpson, 1987-12-09 This volume contains the proceedings of the First European Software Engineering Conference held at Strasbourg on September 9 11 1987 The purpose of ESEC 87 was to provide a European forum for the interchange of ideas and presentations of the current state of research and development in software engineering The conference had over 400 participants and papers were presented from all over Europe Japan and North America The book brings together the latest information on software engineering Not only are working systems described but the latest research topics are also covered The book will be of interest to all computer professionals as a rapid means of obtaining the state of the art in the subject The content will be of interest to practitioners and researchers alike The papers are grouped into topics for easy reference and the whole of software engineering is covered In particular the book contains much information on the important new topics of support environments The reader will not only gain a knowledge of the subject but will also find which organisations and institutes are working in particular areas The reader will gain both industrial and academic perspectives on the subject ESEC '87, 1987 Software Engineering - ESEC/FSE '99 Oskar Nierstrasz, Michel Lemoine, 2003-05-21 For the second time the European Software Engineering Conference is being held jointly with the ACM SIGSOFT Symposium on the Foundations of Software Engineering FSE Although the two conferences have different origins and traditions there is a significant overlap in intent and subject matter Holding the conferences jointly when they are held in Europe helps to make these thematic links more explicit and encourages researchers and practitioners to attend and submit papers to both events The ESEC proceedings have traditionally been published by Springer Verlag as they are again this year but by special arrangement the proceedings will be distributed to members of ACM SIGSOFT as is usually the case for FSE ESEC FSE is being held as a single event rather than as a pair of colocated events Submitted papers were therefore evaluated by a single program committee ESEC FSE represents a broad range of software engineering topics in mainly two continents and consequently the program committee members were selected to represent a spectrum of both traditional and emerging software engineering topics. A total of 141 papers were submitted from around the globe. Of these, nearly half were classified as research papers, a quarter as experience papers, and the rest as both research and experience papers. Twenty-nine papers from five continents were selected for presentation and inclusion in the proceedings. Due to the large number of industrial experience reports submitted, we have also introduced this year two sessions on short case study presentations.

Software Engineering--ESEC '93 Ian Sommerville, Manfred Paul, 1993. This volume contains the proceedings of the fourth European Software Engineering Conference. It contains 6 invited papers and 27 contributed papers selected from more than 135 submissions. The volume has a mixture of themes. Some such as software engineering and computer supported collaborative work are forward looking and anticipate future developments; others such as systems engineering are more concerned with reports of practical industrial applications. Some topics such as software reuse reflect the fact that some of the concerns first raised in 1969 when software engineering was born remain unsolved problems. The contributed papers are organized under the following headings: requirements, specification, environments, systems engineering, distributed software engineering, real time systems, software engineering and computer supported collaborative work, software reuse, software process, and formal aspects of software engineering.

PUBLISHER'S WEBSITE Software Engineering Mehdi Jazayeri, Helmut Schauer, 1997. ESEC '91 Alfonso Fuggetta, 1991-10-09. The third European Software Engineering Conference follows ESEC 87 and ESEC 89. This series of conferences was set up by the European societies with the aim of providing an international forum for researchers, developers, and users of software engineering technology. The need for a meeting point to discuss new results and useful experiences was clear from the large amount of high quality European software engineering research in recent years stimulated for example through major European research programmes. The 22 papers in these proceedings were selected from 133 papers submitted from 26 different countries. They cover a fairly broad range of themes such as formal methods and practical experiences with them, special techniques for real time systems, software evolution and re-engineering, software engineering environments, and software metrics. Invited papers by well known experts address further important areas: perspectives on configuration management, software factories, user interface design, computer security, and technology transfer.

For the second time the European Software Engineering Conference is being held jointly with the ACM SIGSOFT Symposium on the Foundations of Software Engineering FSE.

Although the two conferences have different origins and traditions there is a significant overlap in intent and subject matter. Holding the conferences jointly when they are held in Europe helps to make these thematic links more explicit and encourages researchers and practitioners to attend and submit papers to both events. The ESEC proceedings have traditionally been published by Springer Verlag as they are again this year but by special arrangement the proceedings will be distributed to members of ACM SIGSOFT as is usually the case for FSE. ESEC/FSE is being held as a single event rather than as a pair of colocated events. Submitted papers were therefore evaluated by a single program committee. ESEC/FSE represents a broad range of software engineering topics in mainly two continents and consequently the program committee members were selected to represent a spectrum of both traditional and emerging software engineering topics.
