Sojourners And Settlers The Macedonian Community In Toronto In 1940:

Sojourners and Settlers Lillian Petroff, Multicultural History Society of Ontario, 1995-01-01 Macedonians started immigrating to Canada in the late 1800s yet the community has never had its history recorded until now Lillian Petroff in her book Sojourners and Settlers has remedied that omission in an informative and enjoyable manner She charts the settlement patterns living and working conditions religious life and political activity of Macedonians in Toronto from the early twentieth century to the Second World War The first Macedonians who came to Toronto lived an almost isolated existence in a distinct set of neighbourhoods that were centred around their church stores and boarding houses They moved with little awareness of the city at large since the needs of their families in the old country and political events in their homeland were much more important to them than developments in Toronto and Canada A greater interest in Canada began to take root only after Macedonians began to think less like sojourners and more like settlers This transition was often accompanied by a move from bachelorhood to marriage and from industrial labour to individual entrepreneurial activities Employing a wealth of primary written and oral source material Petroff tells the remarkable story of the men and women who laid the foundation for what would become a significant community in the Toronto area which today represents the largest community of Macedonians outside the Balkans

Contested Ethnic Identity Chris Kostov, 2010 During the twentieth century Macedonia had a very turbulent history Essentially the region became the apple of discord among the Balkan states Ethnic identity formation among immigrants from Macedonia to Canada followed the political developments in the Balkans This book illustrates the late emergence of an ethnic Macedonian community in Toronto and the roots of the clash between the Macedonian Greek and Bulgarian ethnic communities The author tackles a number of important questions When did the Macedonian ethnic identity start in Canada What was the ethnic affiliation of the first Macedonian immigrants cultural organizations and churches in Toronto Why did they use the Bulgarian language Why do their first churches continue to be called Macedono Bulgarian churches Did all immigrants have one monolithic ethnic identity The author relies upon three different types of literature national identity development and theories Balkan history and ethnic studies of the Bulgarian Macedonian and Greek settlements of Toronto Oral interviews conducted in Toronto by the author and other researchers enhance this volume The book sheds light on a much contested subject which continues to fuel debate from Skopje Athens and Sofia to Toronto and Melbourne Publisher's description

Lakes and Empires in Macedonian History James Pettifer, Miranda Vickers, 2021-08-26 Lakes and Empires in Macedonian History Contesting the Waters tells the story of Psarades a lakeside village in Macedonian Greece on the shores of the Prespa lake This village which is in many ways a completely typical Greek settlement and yet remains unconventional in its way of life embodies the many contradictions of modern history and in exploring its roots James Pettifer and Miranda Vickers skilfully uncover the wider social cultural and political history of this lake region Drawing from oral testimonies and attentive to the construction of national histories this book considers how the development of international borders movement of people and role of national identities within imperial borderlands shaped Macedonia today What is more by centering the lakes and making use of an innovative environmental historical methodology Pettifer and Vickers offer the first environmental history of this multi ethnic borderland region shared by Greece North Macedonia and Albania The result is a nuanced and sophisticated transnational account of Macedonia from prehistory to the 21st century which will be essential reading for all Balkan scholars The Macedonian Conflict Loring M.

Danforth,2020-11-10 Greeks and Macedonians are presently engaged in an often heated dispute involving competing claims to a single identity Each group asserts that they and they alone have the right to identify themselves as Macedonians The Greek government denies the existence of a Macedonian nation and insists that all Macedonians are Greeks while Macedonians vehemently assert their existence as a unique people Here Loring Danforth examines the Macedonian conflict in light of contemporary theoretical work on ethnic nationalism the construction of national identities and cultures the invention of tradition and the role of the state in the process of building a nation The conflict is set in the broader context of Balkan history and in the more narrow context of the recent disintegration of Yugoslavia Danforth focuses on the transnational dimension of the global cultural war taking place between Greeks and Macedonians both in the Balkans and in the diaspora He analyzes two issues in particular the struggle for human rights of the Macedonian minority in northern Greece and the campaign for international recognition of the newly independent Republic of Macedonia The book concludes with a detailed analysis of the construction of identity at an individual level among immigrants from northern Greece who have settled in Australia where multiculturalism is an official policy People from the same villages members of the same families living in the northern suburbs of Melbourne have adopted different national identities Baptists and Public Life in Canada Gordon L. Heath,Paul R. Wilson,2012-02-02

Public discussion about the relationship between religion and public life in Canada can be heated at times and scholars have recently focused on the historical study of the many expressions of this relationship The experience of Canada s smaller Protestant Christian groups however has remained largely unexplored This is particularly true of Canada s Baptists This volume the first produced by the Canadian Baptist Historical Society explores the connections between Baptist faith and Baptist activity in the public domain and expands the focus of the existing scholarship to include a wide range of Canadian Baptist beliefs attitudes perspectives and actions related to the relationship between Baptist faith and practice and public life The New Macedonian Question J. Pettifer,1999-05-19 The Macedonian question has been at the heart of the Balkan crisis for most of the twentieth century This important book is the first to bring together international experts to analyse the recent history of Macedonia since the break up of Yugoslavia and includes seminal analyses of key issues in ethnic relations politics and recent history It is edited by James Pettifer a British authority on the southern Balkans and is likely to prove a landmark in its field The Many Rooms of this House Roberto

Perin,2017-05-08 Places of worship are the true building blocks of communities where people of various genders age and class interact with each other on a regular basis These places are also rallying points for immigrants helping them make the transition to a new and often hostile environment The Many Rooms of this House is a story about the rise and decline of religion in Toronto over the past 160 years Unlike other studies that concentrate on specific denominations or ecclesiastical politics Roberto Perin's ecumenical approach focuses on the physical places of worship and the local clergy and congregants that gather there Perin's timely and nuanced analysis reveals how the growing wealth of the city stimulated congregations to compete with one another over the size style materials and decoration of their places of worship However the rise of individualism has negatively affected these same congregations leading to multiple church closings communal breakdown and redevelopments Perin's fascinating work is a lens to understanding how this once overwhelmingly Protestant city became a symbol of diversity

Canadian Books in Print. Author and Title Index ,1975 Collective Memory, National Identity, and Ethnic Conflict Victor Roudometof,2002-12-30 Roudometof provides an in depth analysis of inter ethnic relations in the southern Balkans He examines the evolution of the Macedonian Question and the production of rival national narratives by Greeks Bulgarians and Macedonians He introduces the concept of a national narrative in order to account for the production and proliferation of different forms of collective memory among the rival nation states Roudometof deconstructs the national narratives of the competing sides and shows the limits of these narratives and their biases He also develops an alternative interpretation of Macedonian national formation The contentious issue of Macedonian national minorities in the southern Balkans is examined as well as the issue of the Albanian movements toward self determination and succession in Kosovo and western Macedonia Roudometof argues that the Macedonian minority groups are not as numerous in the neighboring states as it is conventionally assumed With regard to the Albanian national question he provides a review of the post 1945 relations between Albania and Greece the Albanians of Kosovo and the Serbs and the Albanians and Macedonians He argues that the Albanian nationalist movements have grown out of the interaction between Albanians and their neighboring nations and ethnic groups An important resource for scholars students and other researchers involved with the Balkans and ethnic conflict resolution in general

Staying Italian Jordan Stanger-Ross,2010-01-15 Despite their twin positions as two of North America's most iconic Italian neighborhoods South Philly and Toronto's Little Italy have functioned in dramatically different ways since World War II Inviting readers into the churches homes and businesses at the heart of these communities Staying Italian reveals that daily experience in each enclave created two distinct yet still Italian ethnicities As Philadelphia struggled with deindustrialization Jordan Stanger Ross shows Italian ethnicity in South Philly remained closely linked with preserving turf and marking boundaries Toronto's thriving Little Italy on the other hand drew Italians together from across the wider region These distinctive ethnic enclaves Stanger Ross argues were shaped by each city's response to suburbanization segregation and economic restructuring By situating malleable ethnic bonds in the context of political economy and racial dynamics he offers a fresh perspective on the potential of local environments to shape

Danforth,Riki Van Boeschoten,2024-05-31 At the height of the Greek Civil War in 1948 thirty eight thousand children were evacuated from their homes in the mountains of northern Greece The Greek Communist Party relocated half of them to orphanages in Eastern Europe while their adversaries in the national government placed the rest in children's homes elsewhere in Greece. A point of contention during the Cold War, this controversial episode continues to fuel tensions between Greeks and Macedonians and within Greek society itself. Loring M. Danforth and Riki Van Boeschoten present here for the first time a comprehensive study of the two evacuation programs and the lives of the children they forever transformed. Marshalling archival records, oral histories, and ethnographic fieldwork, the authors analyze the evacuation process, the political conflict surrounding it, the children's upbringing and their fates as adults cut off from their parents and their homeland. They also give voice to seven refugee children who poignantly recount their childhood experiences and heroic efforts to construct new lives in diaspora communities throughout the world. A much needed corrective to previous historical accounts, Children of the Greek Civil War is also a searching examination of the enduring effects of displacement on the lives of refugee children.

Respectable Citizens Lara A. Campbell, 2009-10-21

High unemployment rates, humiliating relief policy, and the spectre of eviction characterized the experiences of many Ontario families in the Great Depression. Respectable Citizens is an examination of the material difficulties and survival strategies of families facing poverty and unemployment and an analysis of how collective action and protest redefined the meanings of welfare and citizenship in the 1930s. Lara Campbell draws on diverse sources, including newspapers, family and juvenile court records, premiers' papers, memoirs, and oral histories, to uncover the ways in which the material workings of the family and the discursive category of respectable citizenship were invested with gendered obligations and Anglo-British identity. Respectable Citizens demonstrates how women and men represented themselves as entitled to make specific claims on the state, shedding new light on the cooperative and conflicting relationships between men and women, parents and children, and citizen and state in 1930s Canada.

According to Baba Stacey Zembrzycki, 2014-04-08 Dreams of steady employment in the mining sector led thousands of Ukrainian immigrants to northern Ontario in the early 1900s. As a child, Stacey Zembrzycki listened to her baba's stories about Sudbury's small but polarized Ukrainian community and what it was like growing up ethnic during the Depression. According to Baba grew out of those stories out of a fledgling historian's desire to capture the experiences of her grandparents' generation. On paper, eighty-two interviews conducted by Stacey and her grandmother laid the groundwork for this insightful and personal social history of Sudbury's Ukrainian community. The interviews also brought to light the challenges of doing oral history, particularly as Stacey lost authority to her Baba, wrestled it back, and eventually came to share it. By disclosing the hard work that goes into making communities partners in research, Zembrzycki offers a new paradigm for writing oral history and for studying the politics of memory.

Immigrants in Prairie Cities Royden Loewen, Gerald Friesen, 2009-11-30 Over the course of the twentieth century, sequential waves of immigrants from Europe, Asia, Latin America, and Africa settled in the cities of the Canadian Prairies. In Immigrants in Prairie Cities, Royden Loewen and Gerald Friesen analyze the processes of cultural interaction and adaptation that unfolded in these urban centres and describe how this model of diversity has changed over time. The authors argue that intimate Prairie cities fostered a form of social diversity characterized by vibrant ethnic networks continuously evolving ethnic identities and boundary zones that facilitated intercultural contact and hybridity Impressive in scope Immigrants in Prairie Cities spans the entire twentieth century and encompasses personal testimonies government perspectives and even fictional narratives This engaging work will appeal to both historians of the Canadian Prairies and those with a general interest in migration cross cultural exchange and urban history

Macedonia Jane K. Cowan,2000-12-20 Macedonia has been contested by its three neighbours Serbia Bulgaria and Greece during and since the demise of the Ottoman Empire But the Macedonian Question extends far beyond the contested borders of Macedonia to immigrant communities in Europe Australia and North America The contributors to this collection explore the contemporary repercussions of the Macedonian Question which has long been at the heart of Balkan politics The volume recognises Macedonia as a global issue and focuses on the politics of identity and difference in both homeland and diaspora The contributors argue that Macedonia as place and as concept is forged within a transnational network of diasporas local communities states and international institutions They examine the increasingly important role of transnational bodies including the European Union and human rights NGOs in regulating relationships between states and minority groups as well as in promoting multiculturalism and civic participation They consider the role of scholarship and the media in defining Macedonia and its inhabitants They also draw attention to the struggles of individuals in constructing negotiating and even transforming their identities in the face of competing nationalisms and memories In the process they re evaluate ethnicity as a conceptual tool for understanding difference in the region and raise questions about the implications of recognising and not recognising difference at the political level
