Soundings in French Caribbean Writing Since 1950 Mary Gallagher, 2002-11-07 Over the second half of the twentieth century a substantial flow of writing emerged from the French held Caribbean Much of this work is both theoretically knowing and poetically potent and has attracted international attention to the literary resonances of the uniquely complex geo historical situation of the Caribbean and indeed of the Americas in general Much of its passion pertinence and appeal inheres in its approach to time and to space an approach still reverberating with the shock of displacement and its various after tremors an exploded sense of diversity radical relativization the profound expropriations of enslavement colonial erosion Through readings of high profile as well as lesser known writing this book tracks some of the more striking tensions and tropisms at work in the French Caribbean imagination of space and time and their intersection It studies generic interplay textual palimpseste narrative structure and other dynamics of writing that realize and manipulate the intersections of time and space history and memory writing and rewriting voice and text referential space and inter textual space as well as cultural theory and literary practice identity and difference place and displacement In this way it probes both the strains and the stresses and also the insights and gravitations that make for the particular French Caribbean timbre of this volume of writing This specific vibration while illuminating Caribbean New World and post colonial thinking in general also encourages wider reflection on global resonances of displacement and dislocation and on more general issues such as the role of writing and of narrative in particular in the confrontation of absence and presence loss and desire distance and diversity This book locates the problematic of time space in relation to historiographical geo cultural and phenomenological thinking and it also takes account of the detonation of critical interest in what is broadly termed post colonial writing Its fundamental concern however is to show how a particular corpus of writing has in the space of half a century and from a bracing position of hyper relationality responded imaginatively and poetically to the challenge of envisioning place and of relating space to time The Caribbean City Rivke Jaffe, 2008 Caribbean cities are a unique yet underexposed phenomenon Their distinctiveness results from a combination of interrelated factors including a history of slavery development under the hemispheric hegemony of the United States and spatial limitations imposed by the settings of most Caribbean urban areas This innovative volume presents a detailed introduction to the spatial socio cultural and economic characteristics of the Caribbean city followed by case studies of selected cities in the Dutch Hispanophone Francophone and Anglophone Caribbean It discusses a broad range of disciplinary approaches in examining the urban Caribbean incorporating perspectives from anthropology sociology history political science geography and literary and cultural criticism BOOK JACKET Translation in French and Francophone Literature and Film James T. Day, 2009 This volume collects papers presented at the annual French Literature Conference sponsored by the Department of Languages Literatures and Cultures of the University of South Carolina Antillanité, créolité, littérature-monde Isabelle Constant, Kahiudi C. Mabana, 2013-02-14 This collection of essays explores concepts present in literatures in French that since the 2007 manifesto more and more critics suspicious of the term Francophonie now prefer to designate as littérature monde world literature The book shows how the three movements of antillanité créolité and littérature monde each in their own way break with the past and distance themselves from the hexagonal centre The critics in this collection show how writers seek to represent an authentic view of their history culture identities reality and diversities According to many of the contributors creolization and littérature monde offer new perspectives and possibly a new genre of literature Ces essais explorent les concepts présents dans la littérature en français que depuis le manifeste de 2007 de plus en plus de critiques suspicieux du terme francophonie préfèrent signer sous le terme de littérature monde Ce livre montre comment les trois mouvements antillanité créolité et littérature monde bien qu'ils cherchent chacun à présenter une rupture offrent aussi un but similaire de distanciation avec le centre hexagonal Les critiques de ce recueil montrent comment les écrivains cherchent à présenter une vision authentique de leur histoire leur culture leurs identités leur réalité et leur diversité Selon de nombreux contributeurs ce recueil la créolisation ou la littérature monde offrent de nouvelles perspectives et la possibilité d'un nouveau genre de littérature L'écrivain Caribéen, Guerrier de L'imaginaire Kathleen Gyssels, Bénédicte Ledent, 2008 This bilingual collection illustrates the concept of the Warrior of the Imaginary as defined by Patrick Chamoiseau in a multifaceted corpus of texts Francophone contributions explore the role of the Caribbean writer in works by Chamoiseau Édouard Glissant Daniel Maximin and Joseph Zobel Essays in English focus not only on familiar writers Dionne Brand Edwidge Danticat Wilson Harris Jamaica Kincaid Caryl Phillips Derek Walcott but also on less widely studied voices Robert Antoni Albert Helman Other contributions deal with such fighting areas as Afro-Brazilian music film and Mutabaruka's militant poetry The whole testifies to a surprisingly coherent imaginary one that goes beyond the balkanization of the Caribbean archipelago Dans ce collectif bilingue le concept de Guerrier de l'imaginaire tel qu'il est défini par Patrick Chamoiseau est illustré

French Caribbean Nicole Simek, 2016-11-14 Through a series of case studies spanning the bounds of literature photography essay and manifesto this book examines the ways in which literary texts do theoretical ethical and political work Nicole Simek approaches the relationship between literature theory and public life through a specific site the French Antillean islands of Guadeloupe and Martinique and focuses on two mutually elucidating terms hunger and irony Reading these concepts together helps elucidate irony's creative potential and limits If hunger gives irony purchase by anchoring it in particular historical and material conditions irony also gives a literature and politics of hunger a means for moving beyond a given situation for pushing through the inertias of history and culture

Vulnerable States Guillermina De Ferrari, 2012-06-29 According to Martinican theorist douard Glissant the twentieth century has been dominated in the Caribbean by a passion for the remembrance of colonial history But while Glissant identifies this passion for memory in the thematizing of nature in Caribbean modernist life scholar Guillermina De Ferrari claims it is the vulnerability of the human body that has become the trope to which Caribbean postmodernist authors largely appeal in their efforts to revise the discourse that has shaped postcolonial societies In Vulnerable States Bodies of Memory in Contemporary Caribbean Fiction De Ferrari offers a comparative study of novels from across the Caribbean arguing that vulnerability symbolic and therefore political should be seen as the true foundation of Caribbeanness While most theories of the region have traditionally emphasized corporeality as a constitutive aspect of Caribbean societies they assume its uniqueness is founded on race itself understood either as a fact of the body or as the ethnic fusion of distinctive cultures of origin In reconceptualizing corporeality as vulnerability De Ferrari proposes an alternative view of Caribbeanness based on affect that is on an emotional disposition that results from the alienating role historical medical and anthropological notions of the body have traditionally played in determining how the region understands itself While vulnerability thus addresses the role historically played by race in determining systems of social and political powerlessness it also prefigures other ways in which Caribbeanness is currently negotiated at local and international levels ranging from the stigmatization of the ill to the global fetishization of the region's physical beauty material degradation and political stagnation Positioned at the intersection of literary and anthropological study Vulnerable States will appeal to Caribbeanists of the three major language areas of the region as well as to postcolonial scholars interested in issues of race gender and nation formation
