N. Kerssemakers, 1992 Proto-Phenomenology, Language Acquisition, Orality and Literacy Lawrence J. Hatab, 2019-10-25 Through his innovative study of language noted Heidegger scholar Lawrence Hatab offers a proto phenomenological account of the lived world the first world of factual life where pre reflective immediate disclosiveness precedes and makes possible representational models of language Common distinctions between mind and world fact and value cognition and affect miss the meaning laden dimension of embodied practical existence where language and life are a matter of dwelling in speech In this second volume Hatab supplements and fortifies his initial analysis by offering a detailed treatment of child development and language acquisition which exhibit a proto phenomenological world in the making He then takes up an in depth study of the differences between oral and written language particularly in the ancient Greek world and how the history of alphabetic literacy shows why Western philosophy came to emphasize objective representational models of cognition and language which conceal and pass over the presentational domain of dwelling in speech Such a study offers significant new angles on the nature of philosophy and language Bluegrass and Religion Pete Ward,2025-09-04

Tracking music that first arose from a close relationship to the religion of the American South this book explores the ways in which they have taken on new meanings in a post religious environment Divided into two parts Pete Ward first gives a historical account of the relationship between old time and bluegrass music and religion These chapters explore how bluegrass music has been shaped and influenced by Christian experience and practice Drawing on archival research the book connects findings around the music to research on and the development of evangelicalism into the 20th Century and reactions against belief that were common in the folk revival The second part of the book is based on ethnographic field work from both the US and the UK including textual analysis of songs and participant observation of concerts and interviews with performers The differences of context between the US and the UK are considered as they relate to issues of post Christian sensibilities and non religion A particular focus is how what were specifically Christian songs become relocated in a post Christian environment Pete Ward explores how bluegrass raises a number of troubling political issues and what it means for the changing nature of the sacred and notions of non religion A key issue discussed is the continued significance of this music and why roots or nostalgia play a role and indeed how and why this might be the case in the UK as well as in the US
