Between Philosophy and Theology Dr Christophe Brabant, Prof Dr Lieven Boeve, 2013-06-28 Long past the time when philosophers from different perspectives had joined the funeral procession that declared the death of God a renewed interest has arisen in regard to the questions of God and religion in philosophy The turn to secularization has produced its own opposing force Although they declared themselves from the start as not being religious thinkers such as Derrida Vattimo Zizek and Badiou have nonetheless maintained an interest in religion This book brings some of these philosophical views together to present an overview of the philosophical scene in its dealings with religion but also to move beyond the outsider s perspective Reflecting on these philosophical interpretations from a fundamental theological perspective the authors discover in what way these interpretations can challenge an understanding of today s faith Bringing together thinkers with an established reputation Kearney Caputo Ward Desmond Hart Armour along with young scholars this book challenges a range of perspectives by putting them in a new context

The Great Philosophers James Garvey, Jeremy Stangroom, 2005-09-26 The Great Philosophers traces the biggest and most influential thoughts in philosophy's long stride through history beginning with the Ancient Greeks and Early Romans the first philosophical thinkers in the West to whom much is owed How their concerns became the concerns of those who followed is clearly laid out as is the way their answers shaped what we now recognize as philosophy The medieval philosophers are also represented combining their religious concerns with ancient thought and carrying it into the Renaissance The modern era the explosion of philosophy sparked by Descartes is well represented here too Founders and representatives of both rationalist and empiricist schools make an appearance as do philosophy's sceptics with their often darker conclusions Philosophy's long walk continues and you will find here the thoughts which make its contemporary form what it is and perhaps what it is on the way to becoming Philosophy is very much still under way and The Great Philosophers pays regard to both the discipline as it is practised now and to the history which made contemporary philosophy possible

Crime, Desire and Law's Unconscious David Gurnham, 2014-06-27 Sexual desire and the possible dangers associated with its more extreme manifestations provokes strong albeit often contradictory reactions Such reactions are a well known stimulant of creative juridical and scholarly activity and the texts of law literature and academic criticism respond to it in ways that suggest both of revulsion and fascination But how are we to understand such responses and what can they tell us about the relationship between law and its others Exploring these questions in the context of HIV transmission on street sexual exploitation and erotic asphyxiation this book draws on psychoanalytic theory in order to understand the motivations behind legal literary and cultural constructions of sexual offences their perpetrators and victims Its analysis of these constructions in a diverse range of sources including appeal judgments in England Wales and North America criminal trials and their reporting visual and linguistic cultures and both modern and classical literature will be of great interest to legal theorists and socio legal scholars as well as those with relevant concerns in the fields of literature and cultural studies

Subject to Reading Eugene Henry de Klerk, 2009-10-02 The book explores what it means for a human organism to be a subject and responds to what it sees as the contemporary ablation of subjectivity in favour of an impoverished biopolitics a concept borrowed from Foucault It is preoccupied with questions of ethics and education arguing that Lacanian psychoanalysis like Freirean literacy constitutes first and foremost an education in responsible subjecthood It identifies such an education as a very necessary intervention in what appears to be a global double bind between fanatical certainty and capitalist abstraction The book asserts that contrary to most trends concerning the appropriation of psychoanalysis or Freirean techniques for teaching Freirean pedagogy and Lacanian psychoanalysis are not purely toolboxes but profound epistemological and philosophical arguments These arguments also combine to suggest a new socio political conception of theology In addition the book draws on examples from literature and popular culture to explicate certain ideas In this regard the book primarily undertakes a reading of selected works by J M Coetzee
