Disgust Susan Miller, 2013-05-13 Susan Miller author of two foundational works on shame The Shame Experience TAP 1985 1993pbk Shame in Context TAP 1996 now turns to disgust an intriguing emotion that has received little attention in the professional literature For Miller the psychological study of disgust revolves around boundary issues We tend to feel disgusted about things from bodily processes to decaying organic matter to ethnic attributes of foreign people that lie on the border between our sense of self and nonself or between our sense of good self and bad self Miller s clinical and everyday examples of disgust lead her to explore the developmental grounding of the capacity to disgust and this topic opens to consideration of the relation of the various sensory modalities to disgust reactions Why Miller asks do we see disgusting images and smell disgusting smells but not hear disgusting sounds And further what makes sensory impressions or objects disgusting to certain people but not to others Why do the images and smells of disease so frequently elicit disgust And what is the relation of disgust to sex procreation and human intimacy Laced with developmental insights and vivid illustrations of disgust related syndromes Disgust The Gatekeeper Emotion incorporates cultural analysis that links disgust to images of illness and health to family life to group identity and to artistic and scientific creativity For Miller the central disgust dialectic the self s need to safeguard itself against noxious intrusions from without and simultaneously to nourish itself through contact with otherness obtains whether the discourse concerns nature nations or noses With her typically graceful and gracious prose Miller puts disgust on the psychological map and thereby adds a chapter to our understanding of the role of emotion in therapy and in everyday life      What's the Buzz?
